Two More Fined—
 J. A. Rossen was fined $10 and costs by the justice of the peace yesterday for cutting the license on his car and William A. Buchanan was fined $10.00 and costs for failing to dim headlights.

Traffic Problem Big One—
 "One of the main problems to be solved on the top of the Blue mountains when President Harding is at Meacham, July 2, will be parking," explained Chief Staffery of the state traffic police. "There will be thousands of cars at Meacham and they must be in intelligent programs for handling them. The cars can be parked in the fields near by, but some system will be required to prevent blockades and congestion. On the Old Oregon trail between La Grande and Pendleton eight state traffic officers will patrol the road. It will have to be one-way traffic—two ways by that there be no car allowed to get out of line and pass ahead. All cars will have to stay on their side of the road and keep moving at a good clip. Any old machines which lag behind and hold up the movement of other cars will have to be parked on the side of the road until the rush is over. Half of the state traffic force will be used between Portland and Astoria and on the Pacific Highway south of Portland on July 4. Multnomah county will have the highways within the county by its own force."—Portland Oregonian.

Three Years in Pendleton—
 Rev. George L. Clark, pastor of the Presbyterian church, rounded out three years of ministerial service in Pendleton yesterday at noon. He came here from Corvallis where he had served through the college year of student pastor. His record shows that 185 couples have been married by him; he has conducted 82 funerals; preached 140 sermons; delivered 93 addresses before clubs, orders, high school classes, etc.; baptized 45 adults and children and received into his church 122 members. Reports on the church have been made which amount to $2500. He has served the American Red Cross for two and a half years as chairman of the county chapter, and has served a year as promotion officer of the county. His work has taken him into almost every town in the county; he has helped to further every community activity, the Hay and Grain

Show, parks, playgrounds, boys' work etc. His travels have been over more than 25,000 miles in the county. In his medicine chest are his auto, his shot gun, fishin' pole, camp outfit, his dog and his boy; in his first-aid kit are his love for the hills and the great outdoors; his love of living and joy of serving; and his motto, "Smile, parson, smile."—Pendleton East Oregonian.

Lad Has Narrow Escape.
 Little Ellsworth Halsey, a lad of about nine years, had a narrow escape from death last Saturday on a ranch near Union. He was caught under a truck and the lowest part of the machine mashed his head into the dirt and rolled him over several times. The boy's face and head were badly bruised. He was brought to the Halsey home here in Union and medical aid summoned. Besides the cuts and bruises there was a slight fracture of the skull, but the little fellow is improving rapidly and the doctor believes that he will be all right again in a few days.

Lorena Trickey, the lady trick rider who created such a sensation at the Stock Show by her daring and skillful riding, was injured early Sunday morning while exercising one of her horses on the race track. She was thrown from the horse and landed on her head and shoulder. The fall stunned her and she did not regain consciousness till after she had been taken to Hot Lake. Aside from bruises and a general shaking up the accident apparently was not very serious.

Lightning Plays Prank.
 Lightning played a queer prank last Sunday night on the W. W. Stevens place in South Union. It struck a barbed wire fence and split out a piece of post carrying the staples and wire with it, and left an open gateway through which a neighbor's stock got into the field and did some damage before it was discovered.

The restaurant in the Hanson building, recently purchased and being run by Scarborough and Webb, has again changed hands, Wayne Vandevanter having taken it over the first part of this week.

TO CURB RADIO EAVESDROPPING

(By Associated Press)
 LOS ANGELES, Calif., June 14.—Eavesdropping on the air between here and Avalon, Santa Catalina Island, has developed into such a popular pastime among radio enthusiasts that the telephone company which connects its Los Angeles subscribers to Avalon by wireless plans to install a device for the protection of their aerial conversations.

As the matter now stands, a Los Angeles-Avalon telephone call is private until it reaches the radio relay station where it is projected into the air for reception by the station at Santa Catalina. Converted into radio impulses, the conversation is picked up by any amateur who cares to listen in. Frequently, too, the radio enthusiast who has no desire to eavesdrop, but is merely trying to tune in his home set for the usual evening concert, hears his amplifier to an intimate conversation and shocks the family circle.

The new radio equipment which the telephone company plans to install will "scramble" the conversation as it hits the air-lines and "unscramble" it at the receiving end. Specially constructed sending and receiving instruments, tuned to each other but "out of reach" of the amateur set, will relay the conversation back and forth between the island and the mainland with the same degree of privacy that might be expected on any other long distance call.
