New Daughter
 A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Bergin, of Walla Walla on June 28th. Mrs. Bergin was formerly Miss Maud Leadworth of this city.

Business Meeting Friday Night
 The Island City Epworth League will hold its regular business meeting Friday night at 8:00 o'clock at the Island City church. Everyone is urged to be present as business regarding the institute will be brought up.

Portland Musician Here
 Billy O'Bryant, prominent musician of Portland and formerly of Baker, spent Saturday and Sunday in this city returning to Baker Sunday evening where he is visiting for several days.

Fire Quickly Extinguished
 A fire alarm was turned in from the call box on B street today shortly after one o'clock. A quick run by the fire truck resulted but upon its arrival it was discovered that the fire had only been one of a minor nature and had been put out practically at the same time the call was put in.

To Meacham
 Mr. and Mrs. William Boltons will have as their guests during the two-day celebration at Meacham, Dr. and Mrs. H. M. Douy and Mrs. Douy's father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Chamberlain of Portland. They will go to Meacham in Mr. Boltons' private car 182 tomorrow morning.

Many Pay Penalties
 A perusal of the blotter at the police station today showed that five men paid the penalty for violating the law. E. Dalton and K. Ford were both tried on charge of drunkenness and were each fined $10. C. J. Morgan and Dick Lindsay were fined $5 for cutting corners and C. Denery was fined $2.50 for parking at an intersection.

Kenneth Keeney Joins Burgess
 To enlarge his battery business and be equipped with everything pertaining to efficient service, Fred Burgess, the battery man who is stationed to the Leighton machine shops, has secured the services of Kenneth Keeney. Mr. Keeney is one of the best automobile mechanics in the city and his connection with the Burgess plant will give greater possibilities for growth.

Boys Home in Portland
 S. A. Gardiner has purchased a home in the Irvington district of Portland and will remove to that city within a short time. Mr. and Mrs. Gardiner recently sold their home in La Grande. They have been residents of this city for many years and La Grande people wish them happiness in the Oregon metropolis.

Blanchards in Portland
 Eastern Oregon has taken on its "rigid rage" and will be on hand tomorrow at Meacham when the president and his party arrive to dedicate the Old Oregon Trail. C. and J. L. Blanchard, of La Grande were here yesterday, stopping at the Imperial. They are hurrying back to the Blue mountain country, however, to participate in the celebration in honor of the nation's chief executive.—Portland Oregonian.

Installing New Hoist
 The first load of copper ore from the Copper Butte property near Keating was delivered at the sampling works of the Sumpter Valley Smelter company in Baker Thursday evening. The ore was brought in from the mine near Keating by truck. The truck returned to the property the next morning with a small hoisting plant to be used in development work. Property and will continue getting out ore to be hauled into Baker for shipment to Sumpter by the Sumpter Valley railroad. In a few days it is expected loads of the ore will be arriving at the sampling plant daily.—Baker Herald.

Paradise Young Man Killed
 Roy Sturm, son of A. J. Sturm of Flora, died at the E. O. L. camp Monday night from injuries received with a team skidding logs down to the docks and started down with five logs "dogged" together. Evidently one of the rear logs came loose and rolled over him. No one knows just how the accident occurred as Mr. Sturm was working alone at the time and although conscious to the time of his death he was unable to tell just how it had occurred. The team came running down dragging two logs and men who saw them went to investigate, finding Mr. Sturm badly injured. He was carried down to the Osburn camp and Dr. C. T. Rockett was rushed by auto to camp 4 from there seven miles on the spur to his bedside.—Enterprise-Christiansian.

Head Lettuce Raised
 All over the country the newspapers are recommending the culture of head lettuce as a new and profitable crop, but it is not new to La Grande. Ed. W. Hackman at 407 Main street is raising head lettuce that is of the prize winning variety in this territory for Marshall Wells and gardens at his home as a pastime but he is nevertheless an adept in making things grow. Today he picked a head of Hanson head lettuce from his garden that weighed one pound and three ounces and a head of New York Butter Head lettuce that weighed one pound and ten ounces. The different ones who are experimenting with head lettuce could get a lot of very fine pointers from this traveling salesman who knows how to raise it.

 Among the recent arrivals at the Hot Lake sanatorium are: J. S. Miles, Portland; Geo. Gilchrist, Portland; L. C. Wisdom, Chico, Calif.; Mrs. G. O. Montgomery and son, Pendleton; Mrs. E. M. Johnston, Elgin; Anna Farrow, Vale; Miss L. Corneliussen, Walla Walla, Wa.; M. M. Lanan and wife, Portland; Mrs. R. Hayes, Portland; M. M. Ringold, Nampa, Ida.; F. S. Phillips and wife, Baker; Mrs. J. L. Powell, Caldwell, Ida.; Mrs. Lulu Gardiner, Baker; Jacob Rahn, Walla Walla, Wa.; G. A. Goodman and wife, Nampa, Ida.; J. E. Carlson, Fields, Ore.; Mrs. R. J. Tompkins, Walla Walla, Wa.; W. J. Bender, Weiser, Ida.; J. T. Uplike, Weiser, Ida.

Police Go To Meacham
 Portland's protection to President Harding will extend even as far as Meacham. As a part of Captain John T. Moore's precautionary programme (inspectors Moloney and Leonard will leave tonight for the eastern Oregon town to join several service men in the presidential party, size up the situation and precede the party into Portland. Captain Moore is insistent that every possible precaution may be taken to guard the chief executive and the members of his party. He will have an entire regiment of 150 men and a detail from the sheriff's office at his disposal and promises that the parade lines and Multnomah field will be kept rigidly policed. "I am especially anxious," he said yesterday, "that people do not crowd down around the Union station for I warn you, that they will have less chance to see the president there than along the line of march. The same is true of the Multnomah hotel. Every entrance, and especially the one he will use, is to be kept clear."—Portland Oregonian.

Here's an exclusive picture of Ann G. Campbell, multi-millionaire's wife, and her bride of a few days, photographed at Washington, D. C., as they stopped on their honeymoon. Campbell is 72. His bride, who was Mrs. May Little Ragin, is 35.

eleven Eskimos will be tried on charges of murder. This is the first occasion on which Eskimos have been tried in their own country; all previous trials have been carried on "outside," it is said.

There to be held at Herschel Island pre-arranged tributes from all over the western Arctic. Their capture and subsequent handing over to the police at Herschel by the Royal Canadian Mounted Police was commended.

A number of the Eskimos were brought in by dog team for 1,000 miles or more along the bleak shores of the Arctic. One constable charged with the delivery of a prisoner had no companion but the prisoner himself. Every night one helped the other to build snow igloos and make camp. Despite almost insurmountable obstacles, the "Arctic" was through and delivered his prisoner.

Court Raiments Cost Men $200; Women $300
 (By Associated Press)
 LONDON, July 2.—Americans who were fortunate enough to share in the recent court of King George and Queen Mary found the privilege of meeting the British sovereigns a rather expensive one.

To conform to accepted etiquette on such occasions it was necessary for the men to wear silk velvet suits with knee breeches, knee and shoe buckles, and silk stockings, the whole costing them something like $200. The women's raiment, consisting of court gowns with long train, feathers and veil, fan, gloves, slippers and silk stockings, represented an outlay of $300 or more. These clothes were discarded immediately after the court function because they possess no utilitarian value.

There are certain imperative regulations which must be observed by women in court dress. Skirts must not be less than three inches from the ground, and trains must measure no more than 18 inches from the heels of the wearer when standing. The veil must not be more than 45 inches long. Bouquets and fans are optional, but many women choose the flowers.

HIGHWAY IS LINED WITH CELEBRANTS
 Agent McMurray of the O.-W. R. & N. system. On the shoulders of the latter two men will fall the responsibility of seeing that the presidential special is brought from Spokane to Portland without mishap. John W. Kelly of the Oregonian staff, Harry Hicks of the O.-W. R. & N. passenger service, and Ed Woods, chief special agent of the road, were also in the delegation, which traveled to Spokane on Mr. O'Brien's special car.

Everything in Readiness
 One day before the pioneer pageant begins on the top of the Blue mountains at Meacham to celebrate the 80th anniversary of the coming of the first wagon train to the Pacific Northwest, directors and officers are sitting around in tents on top of the hill awaiting the arrival of daybreak Tuesday, July 3. With a program centering around the arrival of President Harding in the early forenoon and the mounted pageant, the president's speech, the pioneer ball, the horse-shoe pitching contest, a croqueted day of events has been planned to commemorate the anniversary.

Pioneers will be the honor guests after the president. Trains will be met with cars to haul those who might not be able to conveniently walk the quarter mile to the pageant grounds. Tents and rest room facilities have been provided for pioneers. Those who came to the West in 1833 or before will get seats on the speakers' platform. Those who came in 1870 or before will have chairs provided for them immediately adjacent upon the president leaving to speak. If that develops, pioneers will get special preference with folding chairs in the vicinity of the train.

The road between Meacham and Pendleton is as good as the paved road and the highway commission will keep it so. One car drove from Pendleton to La Grande Saturday in a leisurely manner in two hours and 15 minutes. What was bog and a nightmare to tourists three days ago is today as smooth as a paved road on either side. The real problem is entirely obliterated.

People of Eastern Oregon are taking kindly to the decision of the directors relative to the removal of admission fees of 50 cents per head and the substitution of parking space charges of $1 for two-passenger car and $2.50 for touring cars. The parking space concession is expected to meet a portion of $15,000 the Oregon Trail association was obligated to bear in starting the pageant.

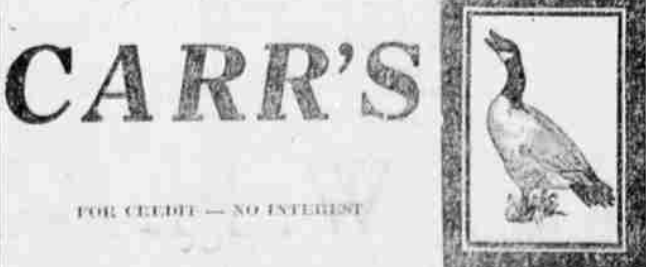

The creed of revolution is no more than the desire to enjoy advantages the other fellow now monopolizes.
