C. E. COMMENDS NATION'S CHIEF

(By Associated Press) DES MOINES, Ia., July 5.—Resolutions were introduced at Thursday night's session of the 29th International Christian Endeavor convention commending President Harding for his support of the 18th Amendment and the Volstead Act and pledging support to candidates for public office and to the party that make unequivocal commitments to their enforcement.

The resolution was introduced at the instance of the executive committee of the United Society of Christian Endeavor under whose auspices the convention is being held.

The text of the statement follows: "Prohibition has vindicated itself. In spite of great handicaps, its benign effects are now apparent in the steadily declining death rate as revealed in the bulletins of life-insurance companies, in the 74 per cent decrease in drink cases, with their attendant problems coming to charity organizations, and in the growing moral tone of our community life."

"The great cities on our far-reaching coast lines and wide extending international boundaries, present serious difficulties in law enforcement and cannot now be expected to reflect the prohibition sentiment of the nation. For some time to come they will continue to deceive themselves and our visitors from other lands, who would rejoice in the repudiation of national prohibition."

"Even these vast and cosmopolitan communities record unmistakable benefits accruing from the closing of saloons and bars,—benefits that will increase steadily with the strengthening of the spirit and agencies of law enforcement."

"For the bootlegger, we have only slightly less condemnation than for his patron. The latter, from the standpoint of individual morality, is essentially the worse, while in citizenship he is a greater menace. Striking at one law, he slashes all. He gives heart to every evil doer, and by the measure of his influence weakens the protecting wall that surrounds his life, his liberty and his temporal goods."

"In law enforcement the supreme issue of the hour joins. The forces of purification are active and determined. They have united powerful interests at home and abroad to embarrass public officials to break the morale of conscientious enforcing agents and to discourage public sentiment. They have found a spokesman in the governor of a great state."

"We declare here that state righteousness is greater than state rights, and that no state has rights which prohibition does not strengthen. We stand for liberty under law. We pledge ourselves anew to the Constitution of the United States. We commend the president for his repeated statements in support of the Eighteenth amendment and the Volstead Act."

"Speaking for four million enrolled young people, citizens and citizens-to-be, we further declare that no candidate for public office and that no political party, failing to make such unequivocal commitment, has the right to expect or will receive our support and votes."

"We believe that total abstinence is the only consistent attitude for a Christian and that the agitation for a modification of the Volstead Act to legalize light wines and beers is a subterfuge and blind; those who advocate it now were but a short time since the stalwart defense of the open saloon and liquor traffic. It is a dishonest issue."

"As the ultimate solution of the liquor problem for this nation was national prohibition, for which Christian Endeavor declared in 1911 with its militant slogan, 'A Saloonless Nation by 1920,' so the ultimate solution of the problem for all nations is world-wide prohibition. We here reaffirm our declaration of 1919, for 'A Saloonless World,' and pledge the full strength of our movement to the achievement of this high goal."

California Man Talks on Effective Citizenship

EUGENE, July 6.—"Are you giving your students any training for effective citizenship?" asked superintendent W. J. Cooper of Fresno, California, in his address before the educational conference at the University of Oregon recently, on the subject "Education for Effective Citizenship."

Going on to develop the idea of giving high school students a sound basis of civic knowledge, Mr. Cooper said, "There are three essential things in the development of civic knowledge. First, knowledge that will enable me to select the right men for public offices; knowledge that will help me to vote for the right persons to represent me in government. I don't recall anything that I was taught in school to help me in my selection. We should work out some sort of a criterion for the future voter to use in selecting people to represent him."

The second point in the development of civic knowledge is learning to act directly as a law maker, according to Mr. Cooper. "This is the sort of training, he said that high school civic classes should offer and do not."

Thirdly, said the speaker, "there is what I shall call the inspectorial side of civic knowledge. Civic classes belong in the street discussing paving, the advantages and disadvantages of different materials. They belong in the city hall, in the court house and in the state legislature if they can get there."

Mr. Cooper traced the development of civic education from the time of the Civil War when it got its first start down to the present when the vast scope of its subject matter is just beginning to be realized fully.
