STORM RAGES AS MEN FIGHT TO THE DEATH

Did you ever consider, while viewing a storm in a motion picture, what a tremendous task it must be for man to realistically duplicate the fury of the elements?

On the most terrifying electric storm ever screened in which two men are engaged in a death struggle is to be seen in Alice Brady's latest Paramount picture, "The Leopardess," and is coming to the Sherry Theatre. It is a storm at sea, the realism of which has never been surpassed in any previous production. If one could have stepped into Paramount's Eastern studio during the filming of this picture, they would have observed a most interesting spectacle.

Over the set that was being used were stretched many lengths of pipe reaching from one side of the scene to the other. This pipe was generously perforated with small holes thru which the water, when turned on, came spurting in huge sprays. On either side were two large airplane propellors which swept the downcoming flood mercilessly. Four immense lights next to the wind machines proved most realistic lightning reproducers. With all going on at once, the result was a storm of terrible fury similar to that shown in "The Old Homestead." And as the storm raged two men engaged in deadly battle on a steamer yacht.

Don't fail to see this splendid picturization of a thrilling story by Katharine Newlin Burt, which tells of a South Sea Island girl who is forced to wed a disreputable white man and who, after suffering many hardships, regains her freedom through a vengeful leopardess. Edward Langard and Montagu Love portray the principal roles in support of the star.

MAYO SCORES IN NEW TYPE ROLE AT ARCADE

Frank Mayo essays to conquer new fields in "The First Degree" on view at the Arcade Theatre Wednesday only, his latest Universal starring vehicle which Edward Sedgwick directed.

As the hero of many thrilling melodramas of the north woods, Mayo has established himself as one of the leading outdoor types on the screen. In this new picture he creates a character in which strong emotional expression is required.

Those who have long maintained that Mayo can act as well in human interest stories as in outdoor pictures have the opportunity of seeing how well their belief is justified in this drama.

An innocent man sentenced to prison, his efforts to live down the stigma haunted by society's condemnation, then, on the threshold of a life of happiness and respectability, his suddenly coming before a Grand Jury and confessing as a self-accused murderer—these are some of the tense plot developments in "The First Degree."

Frank Mayo has in this story the strongest role of his career, and as the man, accused in his own heart, is called upon for intense emotional expression.

G. Randolph Chester, noted novelist, scenarized the photodrama from the story, "The Summons," by George Patullo, famous Saturday Evening Post writer.

The Oregon trail will also be shown.

Never Ask a Kiddie What He Wants for Lunch!—Serve

Kindergarten Sandwiches

They make every lunch a "surprise." With some fancy-shaped cutters in the kitchen and this recipe your boy will eat his way to rosy cheeks and stalwart health, and find delight in every bite:

Cut white Bread and dark graham Bread in thin slices. Shape with cutters having two pieces each of white and of graham Bread of the same shape. Lightly spread half of the Bread, with well creamed butter. With smaller fancy shaped cutter, remove centers from unbuttered graham and white pieces.

Place graham Bread centers in white Bread rims and white Bread centers in graham Bread rims. Place decorated pieces with white rim on the corresponding piece of graham Bread and the decorated pieces with graham rim on corresponding pieces of white Bread.

For a variety use cutters that are square, oblong, triangular, elliptical, fluted or cutlet shape. For the centers use tiny rounds, or animal, flower, or other fancy shaped cutters. A circle of dark and one of white Bread may be cut diagonally three times and one-half the sections of each color to put together alternately on a plain circle of bread.

Add a fuley orange or rosy apple, and you have a hearty, well-balanced lunch.

Of course, to get perfect sandwiches, you must start with perfect Bread—the wholesome rich flavored loaf that assures vigor as well as enjoyment. Plan's

Superfine Milk Bread
