LEOPARDS IN STUDIO THRILL FILM PLAYERS

Three of the tinnest and most powerful leopards in captivity were secured from the Ringling Bros. Circus in winter quarters at Bridgeport, Conn., for service in the filming of Alice Brady's latest Paramount picture, "The Leopardess." One of these creatures created general excitement at the Paramount Eastern studios recently during the photography of one of the scenes of this absorbing picture. When everyone was oriented on the set for the "shooting" of a scene, the trouble began. One of the animals was so playful that the assistant director was unable to coax him from his cage where he was engaged in a tussle with an immense rubber ball. A second was on his good behavior and did as bidden, but the third was slightly peeved over something or other, and it was necessary to delay the scene for over an hour until the animal was calmed sufficiently to warrant his release. In the cage he did everything but break the bars in two. Sawdust was scattered in all directions as he tore to and fro, while at the opposite cage, actors were petting the other animals as though they were ordinary house cats.

A leopardess plays an important part in the development of the story in which an American millionaire adventurer marries a half-caste girl in the South Pacific (Alice Brady) and takes her from the islands into civilization along with a jungle cat. He attempts to tame Taire, the girl. But eventually the leopardess turns upon him with thrilling results. Edward Langford is the leading man in the production, and Montagu Love also plays an important role. This is an intensely dramatic picture that is sure to hold one's interest to the finish.

CONFESSES TO CRIME BEFORE IT IS DISCOVERED.

Old policemen will tell you that a great many crimes are revealed by reason of the criminal's belief that he has been found out. He sees accusation written in every face, in every searching eye, in every gesture.

Sam Bass even thought he could read it in the tones of a voice over the telephone, and confessed, to the amazement of his love-sick people.

The powerful character of Sam Bass was created by George Patullo, noted star writer for The Saturday Evening Post, in his gripping story, "The First Degree."

Universal filmed the story from an adaptation by George Randolph brings Frank Mayo as the star to the Arcadia theatre tonight only.

RED PEPPER FOR RHEUMATIC PAIN

Red Pepper Rub takes the "ouch" from sore, stiff, aching joints. It cannot hurt you, and it certainly stops that old rheumatism torture at once.

When you are suffering so you can hardly get around, just try Red Pepper Rub and you will have the quickest relief known. Nothing has such concentrated, penetrating heat as red peppers. Just as soon as you apply Red Pepper Rub you will feel the tingling heat. In three minutes it warms the sore spot through and through. Pain and soreness are gone.

Ask any good druggist for a jar of Rowles Red Pepper Rub. Be sure to get the genuine, with the name Rowles on each package.

Never Ask a Kiddie What He Wants for Lunch!—Serve

Kindergarten Sandwiches

They make every lunch a "surprise." With some fancy-shaped cutters in the kitchen and this recipe your boy will eat his way to rosy cheeks and stalwart health, and find delight in every bite:

Cut white bread and dark graham bread in thin slices. Shape with cutters having two pieces each of white and of graham bread of the same shape. Lightly spread half of the bread, with well-evaporated butter. With small or fancy shaped cutter, remove centers from unbuttered graham and white pieces.

Place graham bread centers in white bread rims and white bread centers in graham bread rims. Place decorated pieces with white rim on the corresponding piece of graham bread and the decorated pieces with graham rim on corresponding pieces of white bread.

For a variety use cutters that are square, oblong, triangular, elliptical, fluted or outlet shape. For the centers use tiny round, or animal, flower, or other fancy shaped cutters. A circle of dark and one of white bread may be cut diagonally three times and one-half the sections of each color to put together alternately on a plain circle of bread.

Add a juicy orange or rosy apple, and you have a hearty, well-balanced lunch.

Of course, to get perfect sandwiches, you must start with perfect bread—the wholesome rich flavored loaf that assures vigor as well as enjoyment. That's
