BEATEN CREW BRINGS ACTION FOR DAMAGES

Story of Savagery Almost Incredible Is Told by World War Veteran.

By Chester H. Bunn, International News Service Staff Correspondent.

GLENS FALLS, N. Y., July 29.—(Baring) A tale of cruelty on the high seas almost unbelievable in this day's Robert J. Thaler, of this city, twenty-year-old veteran of the World War, has filed suit for $5,000 damages against the owners of the British steamship Massasoit.

Suits have been filed by twelve other members of the crew, who also charge cruelty by officers of the British vessel, which they quit without being paid off.

For three weeks, young Thaler, son of Simon Thaler, local merchant, was under treatment at St. Vincent's Hospital, Norfolk, Va., for injuries he claims were inflicted by the chief engineer and the first mate of the Massasoit. His back still shows marks and scars.

"My injuries were due to cruel treatment, and I hope that neither I nor anyone else will ever have to go through by experience again," he said.

"I shipped at New York May 7 as an able seaman, having had several other trips to sea. We were on our way to Mexico when the chief engineer, Allan Smith, ordered me to go into the bunkers and shovel coal, one of the regular firemen having been taken sick. On May 10, while I was down there, a large piece of coal fell on one of my hands, smashing it and spraining my wrist.

"My hand was so swollen that I could not work, and it was necessary to have it bandaged. Shortly afterward the chief engineer asked for me and was told that my arm was broken. He said that he would break my arm, and he hit me in both eyes several times with his fist and kicked me around on the deck. All the time we were in Mexico, my eyes hurt me so I could not see, and all the satisfaction that the chief engineer would give me was to say I had dirt in my eyes.

"On my way back I was so blind I stumbled over something on the deck, and the first mate, Arthur Stevenson, saw me. I told him of my trouble and said I needed medical attention. Then he came on and kicked me and picked up a broom handle and hit me repeatedly on the body with it. Every time I complained of anything on the ship I was treated cruelly, and for that reason I was afraid to say anything about the beatings I got.

"When we arrived at Norfolk, Virginia, most of the crew had quit and didn't get their wages, myself included. They took us in at the Union mission, and I felt so badly that they sent me to the hospital."

Edward Mudge, of Brooklyn, who was an eye witness to Thaler's troubles, was also confined to St. Vincent's Hospital and has an intervening libel and petition against the Massasoit for alleged damages both civil and maritime. He charges that medical aid was refused him by officers of the Massasoit when he injured his hand and that he was forced to continue work, causing blood poisoning to develop.

Thaler served approximately two years in the Forty-first Infantry, Seventh Division, Regular Army, during the war. He enlisted at New York in May 1918, and was discharged in July, 1920.

Only 4,000,000 Are Above Normal in United States

(By Associated Press) LOS ANGELES, Calif., July 30.—Ninety-six per cent of the people of the United States are below the accepted standard of intelligence, and only 4,000,000 are above the standard, Dr. R. B. Von KleinSmid, president of the University of Southern California, declared here in an address to the student body at the summer session.

The ninety-six per cent below standard, or approximately 85,000,000, is likely to increase to 85,000,000, and the 4,000,000 above to 2,000,000, Dr. Von KleinSmid declared.

The primary work of the college or university is to deal with the 4,000,000 and to train the people of superior intelligence that they may become leaders in the future.

"Frankly, I do not know who shall come to college," Dr. Von KleinSmid said. "I am at loss to
