

Personal Mention

Wallawa was represented among the guests at the Savoy last evening by Mr. and Mrs. Giles.

Mrs. Cress Henney, of Enterprise, was registered among the guests at the Savoy last evening.

Alice was represented among the guests at the Savoy last evening by Carl Erickson.

Mrs. Jack Hunt and daughter, Barbara, left this morning for Baker on a short pleasure trip.

Pendleton was represented among the guests at the Savoy last evening by V. William Allen.

Miss Dorothy Kirby, of this city, is visiting friends at Elgin for a few days.

Mrs. Charles Kuhn was in the city today from Union shopping and visiting.

Baker was represented among the guests at the Savoy last evening by J. D. Kyle.

E. C. Gettings came in from Elgin last evening on a short business trip and is registered at the Foley.

Mrs. T. White is in La Grande on a short business and pleasure trip. She is registered at the Foley.

Walla Walla was represented among the guests at the Foley last evening by Rags Maloney.

Mr. and Mrs. Milo Smith and son, Justin, left today, by car, for California where they will make their home for some time.

Mrs. May Haight returned to her home at Union this morning after a short business trip spent in this city.

Mr. and Mrs. Morris Roper, of Seattle, are in this city for some time visiting as guests of Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Richards.

Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Vanhook and son were among the guests from Nampa, Idaho, who were registered at the Sommer.

Misses Winifred Noble and Ella Lemons, of Baker, are in this city for a short time visiting friends and are stopping at the Sommer.

Mrs. J. R. Standard left this morning for her home at Portland after visiting Mrs. J. R. Travey of this city for several days.

Henry Miller, of Baker, drove through La Grande this morning en route for Portland to attend the O. K. K. convention.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Pearson, of North Powder, are among the business visitors registered at the Savoy today.

Mrs. Fred Cross and son, of Milton, left this morning on the branch line train for Elgin where they will visit for a few days.

J. H. King, of the Eastern Oregon Light and Power Company of Baker, is in this city on a short business trip and is stopping at the Sommer.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Conley left this morning on the branch line train for Enterprise where they will make their home in the future.

S. S. Sayer, of the People's Warehouse of Pendleton, is in the city today attending to business. He is stopping among the guests at the Foley.

Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Kilpatrick, of Chico, California, are visiting Rev. and Mrs. A. R. Sisson, of this city. Mrs. Kilpatrick is the sister of Rev. Sisson.

Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Weeks and daughter, Mildred and Son, Rowell, returned Tuesday evening from Portland where they spent a week on pleasure. They made the trip by car.

Miss Eunice Herr returned to her home at Elgin this morning after visiting in Pendleton for a few days. She was accompanied by Miss Veda Nelson, of this city, who will visit friends in Elgin for a short time.

A man can do much better work after he comes back from his vacation and gets through talking about it.

Dr. Fowdick thinks the majority usually is wrong. He'd be a pleasant man to sit with on a jury.

Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Weeks and daughter, Mildred and Son, Rowell, returned Tuesday evening from Portland where they spent a week on pleasure. They made the trip by car.

Miss Eunice Herr returned to her home at Elgin this morning after visiting in Pendleton for a few days. She was accompanied by Miss Veda Nelson, of this city, who will visit friends in Elgin for a short time.

A man can do much better work after he comes back from his vacation and gets through talking about it.

Dr. Fowdick thinks the majority usually is wrong. He'd be a pleasant man to sit with on a jury.

Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Weeks and daughter, Mildred and Son, Rowell, returned Tuesday evening from Portland where they spent a week on pleasure. They made the trip by car.

Miss Eunice Herr returned to her home at Elgin this morning after visiting in Pendleton for a few days. She was accompanied by Miss Veda Nelson, of this city, who will visit friends in Elgin for a short time.

A man can do much better work after he comes back from his vacation and gets through talking about it.

Dr. Fowdick thinks the majority usually is wrong. He'd be a pleasant man to sit with on a jury.

Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Weeks and daughter, Mildred and Son, Rowell, returned Tuesday evening from Portland where they spent a week on pleasure. They made the trip by car.

Miss Eunice Herr returned to her home at Elgin this morning after visiting in Pendleton for a few days. She was accompanied by Miss Veda Nelson, of this city, who will visit friends in Elgin for a short time.

A man can do much better work after he comes back from his vacation and gets through talking about it.

Dr. Fowdick thinks the majority usually is wrong. He'd be a pleasant man to sit with on a jury.

Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Weeks and daughter, Mildred and Son, Rowell, returned Tuesday evening from Portland where they spent a week on pleasure. They made the trip by car.

Miss Eunice Herr returned to her home at Elgin this morning after visiting in Pendleton for a few days. She was accompanied by Miss Veda Nelson, of this city, who will visit friends in Elgin for a short time.

A man can do much better work after he comes back from his vacation and gets through talking about it.

BOY MUST HIT BALL THESE DAYS

City L. N. 83

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—To Robert H. Niles, who looked reflectively at the wall with all the gravity of his 14 years, the happiness was not to be found in the lap of luxury. A man must fare forth and struggle with adversity, meet and overcome the exigencies that beset his fellows in the commoner walks of life.

His distracted mother had just found him, after eight weeks' absence, well and happy, with his experience easily enriched, but with his philosophy not one whit shaken. He intended to return to mother, be discharged, but not just yet—not until he had found a job and demonstrated his own conviction that he was able to take care of himself.

Back again in the luxurious home of his mother, Mrs. Alice B. Niles, on fashionable Riverside Drive, Bob told how it all happened.

As a matter of fact, the boy had not been outside the police precinct in which his home is situated.

This modern Huckleberry Finn had been living most of the time in a boys' "hand" but, built from driftwood, at One Hundred and Eighty-ninth street and Fifth Avenue, and at other times sharing quarters with an adoring teacher driver.

Mrs. Niles calls herself the happiest woman in New York, now that she has her boy back safe and well.

Bob was glad to see his mother, but not particularly glad to give up his nomadic life, which she appeared to regard as the freedom of which he had been given him by his legal guardian, Joseph Boyle, who drives a taxi and hadn't forgotten that he was a boy once.

"Well," remarked Bob, as he crawled out of bed and pulled on his clothes, "that is some fortune teller."

But, he explained, was a scoundrel who frequented the shack on One Hundred and Eighty-ninth street, but had told him that in three days he would be home.

"Honest," said Bob, "I was coming home, only I didn't want to come back in three days; not till I'd found a job, anyhow."

Bob had tired of private school and motor cars and country clubs. He wanted a job. His mother was scornful at the thought, and so he just walked out in search of one.

The first two nights he spent in Riverside Park. He had had $1.50 when he set out, but the third day the money was gone. That night he was wandering wearily into a restaurant, when Joe Boyle's taxi cab drew up and Joe himself started in for a smoke.

"Well," remarked Bob, as he crawled out of bed and pulled on his clothes, "that is some fortune teller."

But, he explained, was a scoundrel who frequented the shack on One Hundred and Eighty-ninth street, but had told him that in three days he would be home.

"Honest," said Bob, "I was coming home, only I didn't want to come back in three days; not till I'd found a job, anyhow."

Bob had tired of private school and motor cars and country clubs. He wanted a job. His mother was scornful at the thought, and so he just walked out in search of one.

The first two nights he spent in Riverside Park. He had had $1.50 when he set out, but the third day the money was gone. That night he was wandering wearily into a restaurant, when Joe Boyle's taxi cab drew up and Joe himself started in for a smoke.

"Well," remarked Bob, as he crawled out of bed and pulled on his clothes, "that is some fortune teller."

But, he explained, was a scoundrel who frequented the shack on One Hundred and Eighty-ninth street, but had told him that in three days he would be home.

"Honest," said Bob, "I was coming home, only I didn't want to come back in three days; not till I'd found a job, anyhow."

Bob had tired of private school and motor cars and country clubs. He wanted a job. His mother was scornful at the thought, and so he just walked out in search of one.

The first two nights he spent in Riverside Park. He had had $1.50 when he set out, but the third day the money was gone. That night he was wandering wearily into a restaurant, when Joe Boyle's taxi cab drew up and Joe himself started in for a smoke.

"Well," remarked Bob, as he crawled out of bed and pulled on his clothes, "that is some fortune teller."

But, he explained, was a scoundrel who frequented the shack on One Hundred and Eighty-ninth street, but had told him that in three days he would be home.

"Honest," said Bob, "I was coming home, only I didn't want to come back in three days; not till I'd found a job, anyhow."

Bob had tired of private school and motor cars and country clubs. He wanted a job. His mother was scornful at the thought, and so he just walked out in search of one.

The first two nights he spent in Riverside Park. He had had $1.50 when he set out, but the third day the money was gone. That night he was wandering wearily into a restaurant, when Joe Boyle's taxi cab drew up and Joe himself started in for a smoke.

"Well," remarked Bob, as he crawled out of bed and pulled on his clothes, "that is some fortune teller."

But, he explained, was a scoundrel who frequented the shack on One Hundred and Eighty-ninth street, but had told him that in three days he would be home.

"Honest," said Bob, "I was coming home, only I didn't want to come back in three days; not till I'd found a job, anyhow."

Bob had tired of private school and motor cars and country clubs. He wanted a job. His mother was scornful at the thought, and so he just walked out in search of one.

The first two nights he spent in Riverside Park. He had had $1.50 when he set out, but the third day the money was gone. That night he was wandering wearily into a restaurant, when Joe Boyle's taxi cab drew up and Joe himself started in for a smoke.

"Well," remarked Bob, as he crawled out of bed and pulled on his clothes, "that is some fortune teller."

But, he explained, was a scoundrel who frequented the shack on One Hundred and Eighty-ninth street, but had told him that in three days he would be home.

"Honest," said Bob, "I was coming home, only I didn't want to come back in three days; not till I'd found a job, anyhow."

Bob had tired of private school and motor cars and country clubs. He wanted a job. His mother was scornful at the thought, and so he just walked out in search of one.

The first two nights he spent in Riverside Park. He had had $1.50 when he set out, but the third day the money was gone. That night he was wandering wearily into a restaurant, when Joe Boyle's taxi cab drew up and Joe himself started in for a smoke.

"Well," remarked Bob, as he crawled out of bed and pulled on his clothes, "that is some fortune teller."

But, he explained, was a scoundrel who frequented the shack on One Hundred and Eighty-ninth street, but had told him that in three days he would be home.

"Honest," said Bob, "I was coming home, only I didn't want to come back in three days; not till I'd found a job, anyhow."

SOCIAL NEWS OF PROMISE

PROMISE AUG. 8.—(Special)—The Promise postoffice was moved Wednesday back to where the old postoffice used to be. Mrs. Emma Garrett is postmaster now.

Rev. M. L. Pettelle preached at Promise Thursday night.

Uta and Truman Poulson made a business trip to camp 5 the first of the week.

V. R. Henderson went to Bishop Creek Thursday with a load of meat.

W. A. Reed started to Wallawa Thursday.

Howard Bennett and Jarrett Kenworthy went to Camp 5 Wednesday to work.

Miss Nellie McDonald and friend from Portland arrived in Promise Tuesday to visit her brother I. S. McDonald and family.

Nora Bennett took supper at Jesse Garrett's Thursday evening.

Mrs. E. M. Barton visited with her daughter Mrs. W. A. Carper Thursday.

Melvin Carper called on Lowell and Robert Featherberg Sunday and Monday.

W. A. Carper went to Camp Wednesday with a load of cherries.

G. A. Fleishman went to Wallawa Tuesday and returned Tuesday.

Miss Emma Carper started to La Grande Friday.

Deane Whitman and family were in Promise Saturday from Bishop Meadows.

Larry and Harry Carper started to Joseph Friday to attend Grange.

Miss Margaret Horner came in from Wallawa Saturday to visit a few days with her relatives.

Miss Doris Poulson was a passenger on the outgoing stage Friday.

W. A. Reed returned from Wallawa Friday.

J. A. Bond drove to Promise Saturday from Wallawa.

Nora Bennett went out on the stage Friday to attend Grange at Joseph.

I. S. McDonald and family called on A. R. Carper and family Sunday.

Thaddeus Carper went to Wallawa Saturday on business.

All of the beauty prizes at the National Merchandise Fair at Long Beach, Long Island, were not won by syphilis-like sires of the beach.

Miss Marguerite Evans won a prize as the perfect "50."

All of the beauty prizes at the National Merchandise Fair at Long Beach, Long Island, were not won by syphilis-like sires of the beach.

Miss Marguerite Evans won a prize as the perfect "50."

All of the beauty prizes at the National Merchandise Fair at Long Beach, Long Island, were not won by syphilis-like sires of the beach.

Miss Marguerite Evans won a prize as the perfect "50."

All of the beauty prizes at the National Merchandise Fair at Long Beach, Long Island, were not won by syphilis-like sires of the beach.

Miss Marguerite Evans won a prize as the perfect "50."

All of the beauty prizes at the National Merchandise Fair at Long Beach, Long Island, were not won by syphilis-like sires of the beach.

Miss Marguerite Evans won a prize as the perfect "50."

All of the beauty prizes at the National Merchandise Fair at Long Beach, Long Island, were not won by syphilis-like sires of the beach.

Miss Marguerite Evans won a prize as the perfect "50."

All of the beauty prizes at the National Merchandise Fair at Long Beach, Long Island, were not won by syphilis-like sires of the beach.

Miss Marguerite Evans won a prize as the perfect "50."

All of the beauty prizes at the National Merchandise Fair at Long Beach, Long Island, were not won by syphilis-like sires of the beach.

Miss Marguerite Evans won a prize as the perfect "50."

All of the beauty prizes at the National Merchandise Fair at Long Beach, Long Island, were not won by syphilis-like sires of the beach.

Miss Marguerite Evans won a prize as the perfect "50."

All of the beauty prizes at the National Merchandise Fair at Long Beach, Long Island, were not won by syphilis-like sires of the beach.

Miss Marguerite Evans won a prize as the perfect "50."

All of the beauty prizes at the National Merchandise Fair at Long Beach, Long Island, were not won by syphilis-like sires of the beach. Miss Marguerite Evans won a prize as the perfect "50."

COMB SAGE TEA INTO GRAY HAIR

Darkens Beautifully and Restores Its Natural Color and Lustre at Once.

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea, with sulphur and alcohol added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get the ready-to-use preparation improved by the addition of other ingredients a large bottle, at little cost, at drug stores, known as "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," thus avoiding a lot of fuss.

While gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly.

You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared. After another application or two your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant and you appear years younger.

If he can tell you gruffly that he doesn't know what in thunder is the matter with you, he is rated as a successful physician.

A man is a person who winks his stiff collar, cussing about how few clothes the women wear.

A man is a person who winks his stiff collar, cussing about how few clothes the women wear.

A man is a person who winks his stiff collar, cussing about how few clothes the women wear.

A man is a person who winks his stiff collar, cussing about how few clothes the women wear.

A man is a person who winks his stiff collar, cussing about how few clothes the women wear.

A man is a person who winks his stiff collar, cussing about how few clothes the women wear.

A man is a person who winks his stiff collar, cussing about how few clothes the women wear.

A man is a person who winks his stiff collar, cussing about how few clothes the women wear.

A man is a person who winks his stiff collar, cussing about how few clothes the women wear.

A man is a person who winks his stiff collar, cussing about how few clothes the women wear.

A man is a person who winks his stiff collar, cussing about how few clothes the women wear.

A man is a person who winks his stiff collar, cussing about how few clothes the women wear.

A man is a person who winks his stiff collar, cussing about how few clothes the women wear.

A man is a person who winks his stiff collar, cussing about how few clothes the women wear.

A man is a person who winks his stiff collar, cussing about how few clothes the women wear.

A man is a person who winks his stiff collar, cussing about how few clothes the women wear.

A man is a person who winks his stiff collar, cussing about how few clothes the women wear.

A man is a person who winks his stiff collar, cussing about how few clothes the women wear.

A man is a person who winks his stiff collar, cussing about how few clothes the women wear.

A man is a person who winks his stiff collar, cussing about how few clothes the women wear.

A man is a person who winks his stiff collar, cussing about how few clothes the women wear.

A man is a person who winks his stiff collar, cussing about how few clothes the women wear.

A man is a person who winks his stiff collar, cussing about how few clothes the women wear.

A man is a person who winks his stiff collar, cussing about how few clothes the women wear.

A man is a person who winks his stiff collar, cussing about how few clothes the women wear.

A man is a person who winks his stiff collar, cussing about how few clothes the women wear.

A man is a person who winks his stiff collar, cussing about how few clothes the women wear.

A man is a person who winks his stiff collar, cussing about how few clothes the women wear.

A man is a person who winks his stiff collar, cussing about how few clothes the women wear.

A man is a person who winks his stiff collar, cussing about how few clothes the women wear.

A man is a person who winks his stiff collar, cussing about how few clothes the women wear.

A man is a person who winks his stiff collar, cussing about how few clothes the women wear.

A man is a person who winks his stiff collar, cussing about how few clothes the women wear.

A man is a person who winks his stiff collar, cussing about how few clothes the women wear.

A man is a person who winks his stiff collar, cussing about how few clothes the women wear.

A man is a person who winks his stiff collar, cussing about how few clothes the women wear.

A man is a person who winks his stiff collar, cussing about how few clothes the women wear.

A man is a person who winks his stiff collar, cussing about how few clothes the women wear.

Cannonball Trail May Be Named Harding Highway
AURORA, Ill., Aug. 8. (A. P.)—A suggestion, made by James Lino, secretary of the Aurora Automobile club, that the name of the Cannonball trail connecting Chicago and Los Angeles, be changed to Harding highway, has met with favor in this section of Illinois. Behind the suggestion was the thought that the late President Harding was nominated for the presidency at a Republican convention in Chicago, the eastern terminus of the trail, and that he died in California, where the highway ends. George A. Paxson of Plano, Ill., president of the Cannonball Trail association, will be asked to have the association take action at its next meeting.

A WANT AD WILL DO IT

Speaking Directly Into The Transmitter

Clearness and distinctness of speech is of course the foundation of a satisfactory telephone conversation.

The transmitter of the telephone is of delicate adjustment and its fullest effectiveness can only be obtained through proper use.

The lips should not be more than an inch from the transmitter, and the voice should be clear, not loud.

Speak directly and distinctly into the mouthpiece. This will mean your satisfaction and that of the person with whom you are talking.

Home Independent Telephone Co.

THE NATION IS IN MOURNING.

Friday, because of the deep feeling of the people in the loss of their President, and because by national and state proclamation the entire day has been set aside as a day of mourning and a day when business should rest, the Eastern Oregon Light & Power Company offices will be closed.

Owing to the fact that this closing day is the last day for the 5 per cent discount on electric light bills, the same discount will be allowed on Saturday, August 11.

Eastern Oregon Light & Power Company

"Always at Your Service"

THE NATION IS IN MOURNING.

Friday, because of the deep feeling of the people in the loss of their President, and because by national and state proclamation the entire day has been set aside as a day of mourning and a day when business should rest, the Eastern Oregon Light & Power Company offices will be closed.

Owing to the fact that this closing day is the last day for the 5 per cent discount on electric light bills, the same discount will be allowed on Saturday, August 11.