EVERETT TRUE Ry Condo

The story is concerned with the adventures of the young Boston lawyer, Quincy, when he comes to Mason's Corner to clear up a legal matter. He wins the affection of the town's women-folk, but he incurs the enmity of the local czar, Obadiah Strout. It is the conflict between Quincy and Strout which forms the main motive of the story, but there are many unusual and comic situations as well. In the cast are a dozen screen celebrities. Rarely has such fine judgment been shown in assigning roles in a motion picture. All of the important characters are portrayed by players who have themselves been featured and starred, and as a result, splendid acting is the rule. Among the players are: Blanche Sweet, Lon Chaney, Barbara La Marr, John Bowers, Elmo Lincoln, June Ewidge, Louis Fazenda, Zazu Pitts, Hank Mann, Edward Connelly, Kate Lester, and many others. "Quincy Adams Sawyer" was directed by Clarence G. Badger. It is based on the story by Charles Felton Plagin. The screen version in the work of Bernard McConville. The film is a Metro-St. attraction. Also showing a Felix Cartoon.

Mystery Is Keynote Of Big Film Hit

"Bayu" Coming To Star Theatre Saturday and Sunday Is Gripping And Intense Drama.

Mystery is the keynote of the deep-dyed variety that is the "Bayu" film. The all star "Universal-Jewel" production which will be shown at the Star theatre Saturday and Sunday. It is said that this picture outdoes anything in the mystery line that the screen has ever known, completely mystifying audiences.

The cast of such a picture might be ordinary and the offering would "set over" through sheer strength of the mystery appeal, but "Bayu" actually presents such famous artists as Wallace Berry, Estelle Taylor, Josef Swickard, Forrest Stanley, Sylvia Breamer, Martha Mattos, Nikolai de Buiz, Harry Carter, Jack Rolfe and others. Stuart Eaton directed them with the skill he displayed in "Reputation" and other Universal pictures.

Berry is particularly well known right now through his spectacular success in "Robin Hood", "The Flame of Life", "White Tiger" and other big screen triumphs. Estelle Taylor has been established as one of the screen's reigning "vamps", besides being a recognized success of beauty. Josef Swickard, the French father of "The Four Horsemen" is cast in a role brief but dramatic in "Bayu". Sylvia Breamer has been in many Universal successes.

"Bayu" was Earl Carroll's play which was an overnight sensation on the New York stage as presented by him at his own theatre. Two master story technicians of Universal City, Raymond L. Schrock, scenario editor, and Albert G. Keyton, prepared the screen version.

"Bayu" was written as the result of Earl Carroll's inability to find a suitable play to open the beautiful new Earl Carroll Theatre in New York City.

For weeks and months he searched for some dramatic gem that would be fitting to usher into lights the most magnificent theatre in New York. Finally he gave up in despair and determined to write one of his own. The results exceeded his fondest hopes and he was acclaimed by press and public as an clever playwright as he was a manager.
