PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH—We gather with the congregation of the First Methodist Episcopal Church tomorrow morning for the final service together. They have been most cordial in their hospitality and we appreciate their kindness as we separate for our contribution to the religious life of the community. In the absence of Dr. Keith, the minister of this church will conduct the morning worship assisted by special music. As we have mourned this past week for our late president, let us emulate his example which followed his words: "I tell you, my countrymen, the world needs more of the Christ," as we go into the house of God with prayer and thanksgiving. Our Sunday School meets at 9:45 in the Y. M. C. A. and manse. Our C. E. at 6:30 at Vera Beatty's home. The basement of the new church has been poured, so that the foundation has taken "Concrete form." Come and see our new home under construction now. "ASK THE ENVELOPE" AND KNOW THE TRUTH ABOUT

When a salesman says his car is thoroughly overhauled and in the pink of condition—is it true—or does he merely guess? Our USED CARS are sold under the NATIONAL USED CAR BUYER'S SERVICE—a plan that proves every claim made by the salesman. The evidence and facts are contained in the ENVELOPE which is attached to the car. When we tell you a car is overhauled, "Ask the Envelope" and see if it is true. Read the shop record sheet and see exactly what has been done. We homize every operation. The workman attaches his number as he performs the job. The shop foreman checks his work and if satisfactory it is passed along to the USED CAR manager. Here another test is made. Before the car is offered for sale it must measure up to certain fixed standards. So strict are these regulations that there is no chance of turning out a car that will not perform satisfactorily or consistently. Our salesmen are not compelled to use their imagination or guess the condition of a car. If you want the truth and you certainly do "Ask the Envelope."

Dodge Brothers Announce Important Improvements

Dodge Brothers have not simply brought out a complete new line of motor cars. They have done something infinitely wiser and better than that.

They have brought new beauty, new riding ease and new mechanical perfection to the product on which their reputation as builders has been founded.

They have built a better and a more desirable line of motor cars—yet basically and fundamentally the identity of their product remains the same.

The same sturdy engine is under the hood the same dependable chassis, improved in numberless details, underlies the body.

But the rear springs—now under—have been materially lengthened. The wheelbase, too, is longer, and the combined result is a notable improvement in riding qualities.

Bodies of all types have been designed to give improved appearance, and greater comfort. Lower, longer, with deeper seats and more leg room, the lines of these new cars are low-swung and graceful—the interiors are comfortable and roomy.

New head lamps and fenders, especially designed by Dodge Brothers to conform with the general lines of the car—a long straight hood and cowl effect—longer and wider running boards—unusually wide doors—combination stop signal and tail lamp—and instruments attractively grouped on raised panel—are a few of the numerous body innovations common to all types.

Combining these features with important mechanical improvements too numerous and technical to enumerate here, it is not extravagant to predict a reception for these cars unprecedented in automotive annals.
