Mr. and Mrs. D. C. French and two daughters Ida Frances and Jeanne, left Monday for the Yellowstone Park.

They will join Mrs. French's four sisters and four brothers at the West entrance and all will tour the park together.

This will be the first family reunion since the parents passed on eighteen years ago. The brothers and sisters are from Nebraska, Colorado, Wyoming, Montana, Washington, and Oregon. There will be about thirty in the party.

The Winnemac Campfire Girls left today by auto for the canyon above Cove, where they expect to spend ten days or two weeks. About fourteen of fifteen will make the trip. They will be accompanied by Mrs. C. E. Short and Miss Juliet Whitaker.

Women of Mooseheart Legion will meet at Riverside Park Thursday afternoon for the social meeting. All members are to meet at the Red Cross Drug Store at two o'clock where cars will be furnished. Mrs. D. Brannin, Mrs. Clara Berger, and Mrs. J. G. Stuart will be hostesses for the afternoon.

Two car loads of Baker and La Grande Christian Endeavor officers motored to Halfway Sunday to boost for the coming Christian Endeavor convention which will be held in Baker early in October. Those attending report a successful meeting and are loyal in their praise for Halfway hospitality.

This morning at the Presbyterian Manse occurred the wedding of Isaac W. Anderson of Gresham, near Portland, and Estella Sheperd of Perry, daughter of R. C. Sheperd. Rev. William Crosby Ross officiated.

The young couple were attended by the father and mother of the bride. Mrs. Anderson is well known in La Grande and surrounding country, and her friends join in wishing her the best of happiness.

The Women's Missionary Society of the Presbyterian Church will give a tea tomorrow from two to five at the home of Mrs. H. H. Cleaver. All women, whether members of the organization or not, are cordially invited to attend. A musical program will be given.

Mrs. W. E. Ferguson, Miss Elizabeth Ferguson, Miss Thelma Blum, Miss Ada Brown and Miss Helen Overman spent Sunday at Emigrant Hill. They motored to La Grande in the afternoon and returned here in the evening—Pendleton E. Ore.

Replacing the Buckle.

New York—One of the recent slips on white oxfords—which means an oxford with six elastic instead of lacing—has instead of a buckle a perforated shield-shaped piece of kidskin. This is faced with green velvet.

Invisible Is Fashionable.

New York—Among the interesting summer shades for summer hosiery today are bob o'link, the ever de-mure platinum, field mouse and mist.

Perhaps it is needless to say that the more invisible, the more fashionable.

Fascinating Wristbag.

New York—A fascinating little wristbag shown here today is of pale blue watered silk, sathered into a flat, oval disk which forms the top. The bag is decorated with tiny, brilliantly colored leather tufts arranged in the form of miniature peaches, apples and grapes.

Mantilla For Evening.

NEW YORK—A black lace scarf, faithfully copying the mantilla of Spain, is worn in the evening to the theatre or on the ride from the house to country club today. Often, to heighten the Castilian effect, the scarf is draped over a tall Spanish comb.

Lingerie Embroidery.

NEW YORK—The embroidery set of lingerie seen in a shop here today was copied from that on Chinese tapestries. The lingerie was black georgette, the embroidery—showing tiny landscapes, clouds and ocean waves—ebbing in white and a heavenly blue.

Lad Lost For 13 Hours.

HOOD RIVER, Or., Aug. 15.—After he had been lost for 15 hours in the rough, wooded country on Tony creek, here he had accompanied his family on a fishing trip, Blanoar, 9-years old, son of L. M. Baldwin, local banker, was found at daybreak by David Cooper of Parkdale.

The youngster had wandered 22 miles from camp, but was not alarmed when he discovered he was lost. At nightfall he constructed a bed of fir boughs beneath a fallen tree, and there he was discovered peacefully sleeping by Mr. Cooper. A posse of 40 men spent the night with torches and lanterns searching the forest.

Autos in Head-On Collision.

ASTORIA, Or., Aug. 15.—The usual grist of Sunday accidents on the lower Columbia highway took place yesterday and last night, but no one was killed or injured seriously. The most serious accident took place yesterday afternoon about five miles east of Knappa, when a touring car, occupied by Mr. and Mrs. M. Wilson and Mrs. E. A. Crum of Walla Walla and Mrs. F. A. Crum of Raymond, was struck head-on by a large roadster, said to have been driven by Leon Sabistino of Wheeler.

Mr. Wilson sustained a badly wrenched back, as well as a gash on the head. While Mrs. Wilson suffered a broken rib. The others were bruised but not badly hurt. According to a report made to the police the driver of the roadster and his companion had been drinking and charges of violating the traffic laws are expected to be filed against the driver.

A light sedan, driven by Peter Sabo of Portland, who was accompanied by his wife and two daughters, capsized while making the sharp turn at the east end of the wrecked. The occupants escaped with a few minor bruises.

Another light sedan, occupied by Mr. and Mrs. W. Goldblatt and their two children, all of Portland, plunged off the east end of the Lewis and Clark drawbridge, landing on the tide flats 10 feet below. None of the occupants were hurt.

BIG RECEIPTS SHOWN BY WHITMAN FOREST DURING FISCAL YEAR

BAKER, Aug. 15.—Total receipts of the Whitman National Forest for the fiscal year ending June 30, amounted to $100,097.53, according to the annual report by Supervisor W. F. Ramsdell. One-fourth of this amount is returned to Union, Baker and Grant counties, where the forest is located, for schools and roads, and an other two per cent for other roads and trails. The Whitman receipts were obtained from the following sources:

Timber sales, $125,282.74.
Grazing permits, $33,213.74.
Grazing trespass fines $500.00.
Rentals for cabins, pastures, etc., $236.51.
Water Power permits, $864.00.
Total, $160,097.53.

Reports from all the forests of North Pacific district of Oregon and Washington show total receipts of $1,935,937.42. The Whitman National Forest, says Mr. Ramsdell, shows the largest receipts while the adjoining Wallowa Forest is second with $121,996.97 and the Olympic Forest in Washington is third with almost an even hundred thousand dollars. Of particular interest to this state, according to forest officials is the fact that many of the more isolated forests with very little income in the past, are now being opened up and are beginning to make a good showing in receipts. Senator McNary has recently pointed out that within a comparatively few years the State's share of national forest receipts will be one of the very important sources of income. All the more reason then why the forest resources should be carefully guarded from fire.

Hydroelectric Plant Completed.

HOOD RIVER, Or., Aug. 15.—The Phoenix Utility company, bringing to completion a $1,250,000 hydroelectric plant for the Pacific Power & Light company, was clearing up debris and giving finishing touch to the big electrical system, located on Hood River just south of the city. The company, according to L. P. Mattoon, assistant superintendent, is adding to its crews in order to rush to completion a large stone-filled jetty above a steel bridge that carries a ten-foot pipeline across the river. The jetty, which will require 50,000 feet of the heavy timber, is 165 feet long. A concrete pier is being poured on the west side of the river.

Liquor Purveyor Fined.

BENTON, Or., Aug. 15.—Admitting the possession of more than a hundred bottles of some brew found at his ranch home in a night raid conducted by Sheriff Roberts and federal officers, C. A. Aronson this morning paid a fine of $500 in justice court and received a six-months jail sentence, suspended during good behavior.

Fashion Notes

Misty mornings, hot afternoons and damp evenings transform curly locks into straight, straggling tresses. That is, unless they are carefully protected by a chapeau. But oh, how refreshing it is to have those cooling breezes blow through your coiffure, and how free you feel without one of those flopping hats on your head. And yet, if you wish to hide those damp, stringy locks, the only solution is a hat of some sort.

Every season has its specialty, and this time it is the close-fitting cloche or the saucy little poke that one sees in the display windows. At the moment its smartest appearance is achieved in black, such models are banded simply in a folded band of crepe de chine, which rejoices in the name of pugaree.

A hat of this type can be exceptionally stunning when a cartridge-pleated width of matching ribbon two inches wide is drawn across the crown from side to side. But it takes a youthfully charming face to dare it. Maria Guy, who has a decided penchant for the cloche model, features a streamer to the waistline. Many of the smartest Parisiennes continue to wear the small, close-fitting chapeau with their usual chic. A treatment frequently noticed consists of two parallel bands of ribbon placed their own width apart and ending in a stunning cocarde.

When all is said and done, it is impossible to find a smarter or more distinctive effect than that gained by a cocarde when it is achieved by the fingers of an artist. With the tight little cluster of tiny blossoms, it shares the honors of the millinery world as far as small shapes are concerned.

Tunic on Garden Frock.
Paris—A remarkable tunic on the next garden frock worn here today combines the overdress with the shoulder caps. The tunic starts as a cape, but divides in the middle of the back and is draped about the hips like an overdress.

Trimming for Wide Hats.
Paris—Black and white Arum lilies are a favorite trimming just now for wide hats. Usually not more than two of the flowers are used, one on each side of the crown or both black and white Arums on the edge of the brim toward the back.

Foulard and Organdie.
London—Foulard and organdie join forces today in the coolest of summer gowns. The organdie usually forms the ruffles at neck and shoulders, and a rather wide, stiff band around the panels. Sometimes two folds of crisp organdie finish the hem of the skirt.

Lace Collar in Fashion.
London—The old-fashioned lace collar, the kind with baskets of fruit and festoons of flowers, heavily outlined, is here again today on—of all things—a more costume. The collar is of Bertha proportions.

Boudoir Bags Beaded.
New York—Boudoir bags—the old-fashioned catchalls which hold everything from magazines to hair pins—are beaded today in magnificently colored designs. Such a bag should
