OIL PRODUCTS SALE IS LARGE

C. W. Ralph, Director of Sales and Transportation, Union Oil Company of California, announces that the sale of the company's products, including Union Non-Detonating Gasoline and Ariato Motor Oil, has been extended to the Hawaiian Islands.

Owners of motor cars on the island are much elated over this expansion of the big California company which will make the much-discussed Non-Detonating gasoline and Ariato motor oil available to the motoring public.

"The insistent need of gasoline which would give the maximum power and mileage in a country full of hills and rough country has caused us to enter the Hawaiian Islands with a complete marketing organization," said Mr. Ralph in discussing the territorial extension.

"Union Non-Detonating Gasoline gives a substantial explosion. It does not explode all at once and thus send the piston crashing down the cylinder. It explodes more evenly, so that there is not an uneven push on the cylinder when it hits the bottom as there was when it started down. This explosion that follows through—the only kind that can deliver the maximum of smooth, steady power—is particularly valuable in the hilly country. "Ariato Motor Oil, too, is particularly suited to fit the wants of Hawaiian Island motorists. Its well-earned reputation on the entire Pacific coast of leaving only a small residue of soft fluffy carbon—softer than the metal and impossible to cause wear—has traveled to the Islands. Owners of cars in the steep country across the Pacific must pay more for their machines; their fuel and lubricants cost more; parts are more expensive. Their cars must therefore, last longer and require less frequent repair. The matter of oil, with its direct relation to the life of the motor, is all important. With Ariato Motor Oil, experience shows that cars run thousands of miles further without valve grinding, spark plug practically never fail, the most perfect lubrication, with protection of wearing parts, is attained."

Nurses Punished For Wearing Bobbed Locks

WORCESTER, Mass., Aug. 15.—Nurses in the city hospital here must not bob their hair.

Thirteen nurses did and they are now paying the penalty. Their punishment is they must not wear their caps while on duty, permissions which have been granted them from time to time to be away from the hospital all night have been revoked; they cannot go home after dark; they cannot sleep or even eat with the other nurses, and they must eat with the hospital aids.
