Sherry's To-Day And To-Morrow Big Forest Fire in "Hearts Aflame."

"Hearts Aflame," announced as one of the biggest spectacular photoplays of recent times, is to be presented at the Sherry Theatre. It is the most dramatic production, released by Metro, and it adds commensurate to the fame of this director of big pictures.

One thing in particular has attracted widespread attention in connection with this picture, and that is a vivid and exciting forest fire, which is said to surpass anything of the kind ever before presented in motion pictures in order to reproduce it for screen purposes, a tract of timber was ignited and twenty cameras photographed it from many angles. It is through the burning blaze that Anna Q. Nilsson runs a locomotive and in starting the realistic episode the celebrated screen actress was painfully burned. Her injuries kept her confined in a hospital for several weeks.

The forest fire is one of several big scenes in the picture. There is, in addition, the blowing up of a dam, done to release thousands of logs, which lay stranded and imprisoned. Another big scene is the dynamiting of a hillside, necessary to prevent the spread of the forest fire.

In addition to these thrills, there is a story of unusual interest. It concerns a young man who leaves his millionaire father's home and goes to the Michigan woods in order to "make good." There he meets an aggressive miss, who singlehanded, has defeated the aims of the neighboring lumbermen, intent on depriving her of her valuable timber tract. A romance begins between them; and circumstances soon bring them together through the flaming forest in the end of an old locomotive.

In the cast are Frank Keenan, who returns to the screen after a period of retirement; Ann Q. Nilsson, the brave Miss of the Michigan woods; Craig Ward, as the son of a wealthy father who leaves his home to redeem himself; Others are Richard Hoadrich, Russell Simpson, Richard Tucker, Stanton Heck, Martha Mattox, Ralph Cloninger, Lee Shumway and Irene Hunt.

"Hearts Aflame" was produced for Louis B. Mayer. It was adapted by J. G. Hawks and L. G. Hilchey from Harold Titus, novel "Timber." The photoplay is the work of Percy Hilborn. Walter Mayo was assistant director.

HERO, BUT HE LIVES IN FEAR OF PRISON CELL. Remarkable and Dramatic Story Contained in New Universal Jewel.

STAR SATURDAY AND SUNDAY. Bat Shugrue had a world of friends, but he was a friend to no one. When he walked out of the jug-out and up to the plate to bat, his name was cheered by thousands of fans. He was the home-run king of the Pacific Coast League and the favorite on every field in the league.

It is true that much of this applause was voiced by admirers only, who cheered him for his ability to thrill them with a long drive over the outfield fence. But in the stands and bleachers were also staunch friends of Bat Shugrue, who swore by his good name.

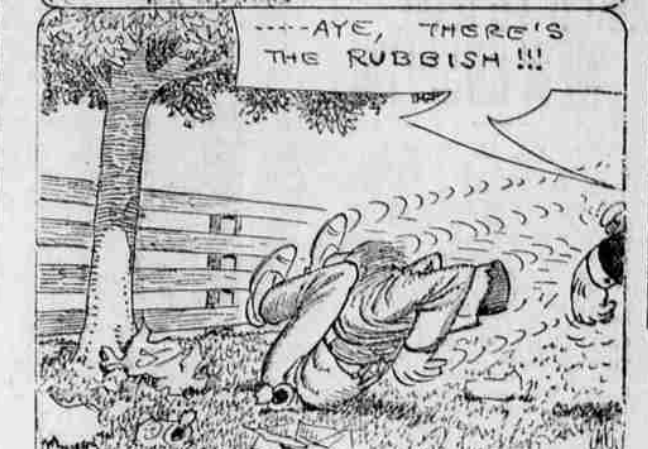

As Bat Shugrue in "Trifling With Honor," the Universal-Jewel production coming to the Star Theatre, Rockcliffe Fellows has one of the most versatile roles in his long dramatic career. His role is that of an escaped convict who turned to professional baseball to mask the identity known in the underworld as "The Gas Pipe Kid."

How the friendship that his battling average and dependability to always "deliver" on the baseball field created in the crowds was reflected in the changing of his entire nature until he was a friend to all who were friends to him, offers a theme that is dramatically interesting and intensely human.

It is a picture with an appeal to every class of motion picture fans, adapted from one of the most popular short stories of the year. The story was written by William Slavens McNutt for Collier's Weekly and adapted to the screen by Raymond Schrock and Frank Berensford. It was produced at Universal City under the direction of Harry Pollard. Realistic portrayals are offered by Fuddy Messenger as Jimmy Hunt, a "hard-boiled" messenger boy; Hayden Stevenson, as the newspaper reporter, Frital Ridgway as the girl, and Fredrick Stanton as the gambler. The baseball sequences in the picture bear the finish that indicates the same master direction displayed by Pollard in his direction of the famous "Leather Pushers" series.

Cause of Appendicitis. When the bowels are constipated, the lower bowels or large intestines become packed with refuse matter, that is made up largely of germs. These germs enter the vermiform appendix and set up inflammation, which is commonly known as appendicitis. Take Chamberlain's Tablets when needed and keep your bowels regular and you have little to fear from appendicitis.-adv.
