STAR
THURSDAY and FRIDAY
"The Girl of the Golden West"
Is Master Drama.

The works of David Belasco can be successfully transferred to the silent screen. This is evidenced by the finding of Edwin Carewe's production of "The Girl of the Golden West," a first National attraction which is to be shown at the Star Theater Thursday and Friday.

Not only has Director Carewe transferred the Belasco story to the screen, but he has improved upon the stage masterpiece to such an extent that the cinema version ranks as a perfect picture.

J. Warren Kerrigan is a typical Hammer, a gay and romantic bandit-villain of California in the all-vigorous period of 49. Sylvia Brown is the little rascal, the greatest part of her film career. It is no wonder that Belasco declared he would pick Miss Brown for "The Girl" if he were to stage a revival of the play. Rosemary Theby is Nina, the Mexican vamp, and she plays her part like only Rosemary. This can play it a triumph for her. An outstanding characterization is that of Sheriff Jack Hance, played by Russell Simpson, veteran character actor.

From the details it is evident that Director Carewe spared neither time nor expense in making "The Girl of the Golden West" a thoroughly great picture. The California of 49 is revived; the rustic Polka Saloon, with its cosmopolitan crowd, the covered wagon, the silver panther, the gold, the medicine man with his high silk hat, all pass before your eyes in this picture of Belasco's story. Added to the glory of this production is the beautiful scenic background, which seems to revive all the romance of bygone days.

The story is that of a bandit upon whose head is a reward of five thousand dollars. He is about to rob the Polka Saloon when he discovers that the owner is a girl whom he met a few days before on the road and carried across the desert. Then begins a race for the love of the girl, between the sheriff and the bandit, and it is only after a series of most thrilling incidents, in which the bandit is exposed, wounded and nearly hanged by the posse, that the story is brought to a climax.

"The Girl of the Golden West" is a picture well worth seeing.

THRILLING STORY OF LOVE
Vividly Told on Screen

An interesting announcement for movie-lovers is the coming of D. W. Griffith's latest production, "Desire Street," which will open at the Sherry's Theater today.

The picture is a dramatic comedy and deals with the interesting and picturesque lives of characters out of two of Thomas Burke's Lincolnshire stories, published under the title of "Gina of Chilton" and "The Sign of the Lamp." While the local is laid in London town, on High or Poplar streets, the little people are everywhere on our tiny picture. They are the poetic dreamers of life who look through misty, hazy windows of walk upon the street of dreams.

Gypsy Pete is a music hall dancer in Lincolnshire; her father is a stout plebeian of Scotland Yard. There are two brothers devoted to each other.

They are "Spike" and "Bills" McFadden. The former is the composer of the music with the fast and brainy who has a golden brassy voice that wins the girls of the picturesque neighborhood. The dual influence of Good and Evil are shown as these poetic people struggle through narrow streets out into the smog of romance and love. There is the ever smart, shining and stealthy Oriental in Sway Van, who is working favor with the spirit of the music hall. The swaying faces of these people are under the spells of a street painter and a street fiddler. The one in the lead, power which sweeps through the souls and minds of our heroine and her associates.

EDUCATION WEEK PROGRAM READY

Washington Bureau Announces Tentative Program; Education Week November 18 to 24.

Washington (A. P.)—American Education Week will be observed this year from November 18 to 24, and suggestions made by the Bureau of Education include the designating of certain days for the discussing of special topics connected with education. The American Legion, the National Education Association and other organizations have sponsored the movement, and cooperation with these agencies should be first step in a community program, Bureau officials declare.

Plays, pageants, stories writing of essays, speeches, poster and moving picture exhibitions should play an important part in school and community programs, according to the bureau.

Sunday, November 18, is styled "For God and Country Day" and ministers in all parishes are invited by the bureau to preach at least one sermon on education.

Monday is "American Constitution Day," not aside for stressing obedience to the law, man's struggles for liberty, the duties of citizenship and education and labor. "The Man Without a Country," is a good topic suggested for plays and essays.

Tuesday, "Patriotism Day" is allotted for discussing the duty of voting honor to the flag of the country, the duty to foreign born, and American ideals.

Wednesday, "School and Teacher Day," is devoted to questions about local schools and teachers, the relation of education to civilization, and better training for rural teachers.

Thursday, "Literary Day," is for devising ways and means for the production of literary and its dangers to the nation and less economically, are suggested in subjects of exhibits and essays.

Friday, "Community Day," is given over to consideration of equal opportunity in education for every boy and girl, the needs of the community as to public libraries and community center.

Saturday "Physical Education Day" is a day for the study of the value of exercise, correct posture and health habits. A "Health Parade" of children is suggested by the bureau.

The value of having all members of the community participate in the activities of the week is emphasized. The bureau believes the community may be made and addressed, with various activities, such as physical education work and playground projects, should be included to attract adults.
