

OFFICE CAT

BY JUNIUS

Today is Columbus day—the anniversary of the day when the United States were discovered.

Have you ever noticed that on a cold day all the color in a girl's face goes to her nose?

HOT STUFF!

Two negro girls were discussing the merits of a certain beauty specialist.

"Am she the goods?" asked one. "Can she make yo' beautifol?"

Just Blue

She gently rocked the baby in it's cradle, in and fro. She sang an old-time lullaby.

Talking about rocking the baby—little Jimmy has told me confidentially several times that that's the job he's fond of—if the rocks are big enough!

A Helpful Sermon

"It beats the world," said a La Grande man, "how some people take to religion. Listen to this," and he proceeded to unwind a story.

"Not long ago while I was attending church, the minister said, in closing, 'and, brothers, don't run around with other men's wives' (Editor's note—that's good advice) and just then a man in the congregation jumped up and snapped his fingers.

"THE WORST BEST OF ALL IS HE WHO PRETENDS TO BE DRUNK AFTER SMELLING A COKE!"

"If my's to advertise," said a La Grande blapper as she fixed her garter before a crowd of men who were standing on the corner of Adams and Depot streets yesterday.

WOOER, 61, UPSETS "SHIEK" CONCEPTS

CEDAR RAPIDS, Ia. (INS)—James T. Sims, 61, made a fool of the popular notion that a shiek is a young fellow with shiny hair when he eloped with Miss Emily Hoyt, 18, and married her.

The girl had been receiving attention from her grandfatherly admirer for months, but her family suspected no love between them. Just before their elopement Mrs. Sims told her parents she was going this Autumn to a girls' school in Virginia, so they suspected no plans for marriage.

WIFE WHO FILED TO DUCK GETS BLACK EYE

CINCINNATI, O. (INS.)—"If I don't duck I get hit," Mrs. Dorothy Siekbert explained in Judge Woeste's court the other day. Her husband was on trial charged with striking her.

Mrs. Siekbert had failed to make a "good duck" and was wearing a black eye as the result.

"Are you guilty of giving your wife a black eye?" the prosecutor asked Siekbert.

"Yes, she failed to duck," Siekbert replied.

"Sometimes I can't duck. This was one of those times," Mrs. Siekbert interjected.

Judge Woeste gave the husband 30 days in the workhouse in order that Mrs. Siekbert might have time to practice "ducking."

Whiskers Taboo on Turkish Cops

CONSTANTINOPLE. (AP)—Constantinople policemen must shave at least twice a week and are not to wear their caps tilted at the fashionable angle, says a new regulation issued by the Chief of Police.

The order concludes: "Police men while in the streets must preserve a serious demeanor inspiring respect. The qualities of the policeman are dignity, proper pride and tact."

So far the most satisfactory substitute for soft leather is the telephone.

THEATRES

"Penrod and Sam" Is Perfect Entertainment; Now Running at The Star

In writing about "Penrod and Sam," a First National picture which opened a three day engagement at the Star Theatre yesterday, one is tempted to call it one hundred per cent perfect. This reviewer forgot that he was there in an official capacity, so potent was the feature's appeal to him.

Of one thing we are certain—the next time we see advertised a picture written by Booth Tarkington and directed by William Beaudine we will mortgage the house or sell the automobile, if it is necessary to do so, to gain admission.

The story is one about boys—the kind of boys you meet every day, the mischievous urchins who get on your nerves at times, but who captivate your heart with their activities, games and lives form an fascinating drama as any concerning adults.

Here is a picture that you will want to see more than once. Here is a picture that will make you laugh with a heartiness of which you did not suspect you were capable—and then bring a tear to your eye—no matter who you may be.

Benny Alexander is cast as Penrod and Joe Butterworth plays the part of Sam. They make you forget that they are acting before the camera, so natural are they in their roles.

Not only do we recommend that you see "Penrod and Sam," but we urge you to do so.

The Fox News is mighty interesting also.

Last Showing of "Disraeli" At Sherry's Today; Drama Scenery Excellent

When the George Arliss screen version of "Disraeli" is shown at the Sherry Theatre last day today, photography lovers will have an opportunity of seeing some of the most charming "exteriors" ever used in the making of a motion picture.

One sequence of scenes, the grounds surrounding Glastonbury Towers, was photographed on the beautiful estate of George D. Pratt, at Glen Cove, N. Y., one of the show places on Long Island.

The particular feature of the Pratt estate that proved most appealing from the photographic point of view was the sunken garden, designed and finished in natural effects, with very little, if anything, of an artificial nature.

Also showing Larry Simon in "The Gown Shop." For laughter only.

Saghalien Rich in Oil. TOKIO. (AP)—Professor Ito, of Toyo University, has just returned from a year's sojourn in North Saghalien, among the fish-eating natives.

It isn't the efficacy of a cold bath we doubt so much as the voracity.

A free people is one that feels resentment when it observes a sign reading, "Keep out."
