The afternoon was spent at six tables of bridge, the club prize going to Mrs. Lee Bouvy and the guest prize to Mrs. Harry Bouvy, and Mrs. Harvey Bay winning the consolation prize.

Mrs. Stoddard's home was decorated in beautiful flowers and at the close of the afternoon a delicious luncheon was served.

Coolidge Re-Assures Jews.

Wise for transmission to the American Jewish congress, meeting in New York, declared his administration would "refuse sanction or tolerance to any anti-Jewish discrimination in the matter of immigration or any other matter."

For that matter stomachs could be benefited by clearing the port of entry when the monthly quota has been exhausted.

Famous French Recipes

Ham and Cheese Souffle.
Paris, (L.N.S.)—Ham and cheese souffle makes a delicious entree for luncheon and a substitute for fish at the evening meal.

Moist a large amount of butter and add the same amount of flour. Moisten with a little milk, salt and pepper and let boil. This sauce should be very thick. Take off the fire and add the yolks of three eggs with a quarter of a pound of lean ham cut into dice. Mix about the same quantity of grated cheese and the whites of three eggs beaten into a stiff snow.

Pour the mixture into a shallow baking pan that is well buttered and powdered with grated cheese. Bake about fifteen or eighteen minutes in a moderate oven and serve at once.

SLEEPING SICKNESS RESPONDS TO SCIENTIFIC TREATMENT

HAMBURG, (AP)—Cures which strike the Congo natives as being more miraculous than those of biblical days are being performed on victims of sleeping sickness in Central Africa, according to Dr. Martin Mayer, of the Hamburg Tropical Institute, who was the first scientist to test a German remedy on sleeping sickness.

A German commission under the leadership of Dr. Klein is now in the tropical section of Africa applying the remedy. There are records of 170 Congo natives who have been treated. Only a few of these died, owing to brain and nerve complications. The others regained their strength and declared they were as well as they ever had been.

Dr. Mayer is of the opinion that science has found a remedy which will make it possible to develop much territory in the tropics which has hitherto been closed because of the danger of sleeping sickness.

TURN HAIR DARK WITH SAGE TEA

If Mixed with Sulphur It Darkens So Naturally Nobody Can Tell

The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray, streaked and faded hair is gradually being replaced by a new and more effective recipe, and folks are again using it to keep their hair a good, even color, which is quite sensible, as we are living in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage.

Nowadays, though, we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and the messy mixing at home. All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product, improved by the addition of other ingredients, called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." It is very popular because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your comb or a soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces that soft lustre and appearance of abundance which is so attractive.

DEER SIGHTED AT THE PARK

THE PARK—(Special)—The bad weather has subsided and the hunters are not few on the creek. The woods are full of pheasants and grouse, but they are rather high in the hills around the springs at the head of those little rivulets.

Bear are not numerous this season. They have been in evidence around Coves more than before. The fruit-ago is more abundant in that locality. The huckleberries were a total failure which caused Mr. Bruin to change his location.

Bertie Swiger, son of Elmer Swiger, is reported doing nicely, which is a great pleasure to their many friends.

Guy McSair is still very busy riding for the Association rounding up cattle.

Joe Lay and Bob Wauker jumped seven deer back of the old Bald Mountain, but didn't get a shot. The deer must have been fleet footed for both men are splendid shots on the run. But that's the sport of it boys!

No one for any anglers to try now—there is too many leaves falling in the creek. Fish foods mostly now on worms and insects from falling leaves.

Mrs. Grace Powers came from Union in her car going to her home at Cottage, Medical Springs. She went around via Tolocest.

Frank and Lola Wigglesworth were Union visitors on Wednesday.

Kenneth Vanorder is helping Bob Wauker of Big Creek the latter part of this week.

Bert Van is still at home, it being here in this neck of the woods, one to wet to be on his threshing outfit down the valley.

Lester Miller is driving a car these days taking the children home from school.

Clarence Vanorder has rounded up all of his cattle.

Joe Lay and his boys are sawing wood this week.

Clara Lay is taking dress-making along with her high school studies in Union.

Stuart's cattle are coming down the mountains heading for their home ranch Lower Powder.

Partners here are talking of turning their pigs in the grain fields and orchards, as the prices do not justify the saving and picking. It is figured that pigs will work cheaper and faster—and meat is pretty good done for the cold weather, and that may perhaps the bigger hogs will come down on their prices—or go picking prunes themselves.

A few farmers were exchanging "knows" the other day, when the recall of Mr. Pierce was mentioned—the sage of the Park reckoned that "This recall of the governor, puts me in mind of the story of a jog under prohibition in it, but a little moonshine—may be monkey shine."

During the wet weather, the farmers are wont to congregate at the store at Medical Springs. The other day a farmer jumped out of a car, came in the store and bought five cents worth of lemon drops. She went out. One of the farmer's wives remarked: "I can't see why all you men folks are watching those flappers so much?" Another woman answered: "Why, it's because they want to see more!" "You're wrong!" interposed the saucer—"It's because they don't see enough—er—er—clothes I mean!"

And that's the way of the world—Bert Van is still at home, it being here in this neck of the woods, one would imagine that we don't know much, but between chewing straws we have our politics and lots of other ticks and we see a flapper occasionally who puts the pep and ginger in our old hides and we pack the wife and kids in the old Lisde and away we go to the city to see the whole dang-busted show.
