Commission Meets Tonight—
The regular meeting of the city commission, held each Wednesday evening, will take place at 7:30 o'clock in the city hall building.

Get New Teacher—
Miss Ruth Straw of Portland, has accepted a position as teacher in the high school at Imbler.

Returns Home—
Douglas Messenger and Harry Martin of Astoria, Oregon, returned to their homes in Astoria, after spending the past week in La Grande visiting with relatives. They are motoring through.

Recovering Nicely—
John H. Rhyner of Portland, who was seriously injured Sunday in an automobile accident, is recovering nicely, according to reports from the Grande Ronde hospital today.

Called Before Grand Jury—
Clint Haynes, chief of police, will leave this evening on No. 19 for Portland, where he has been called to testify before the federal grand jury.

Visits School—
Mrs. Ivanhoe, county school superintendent, spent Monday and Tuesday of this week visiting schools at Union and Cove.

On Hunting Trip—
H. E. Coolidge of La Grande, W. C. Cadwell and son of Union, Francis Dobbin of La Grande, and W. M. Dobbin of Union, left this morning for the Imnaha, where they will spend several days hunting deer. Mr. Coolidge will also visit Enterprise on a business mission while in Wallowa county.

Bring Gold Ore Samples—
Joe Perry and Joe Stewart have returned to La Grande from Wallowa county, where they recently discovered what they believe to be an exceedingly rich vein of gold ore. They brought several samples of the ore to La Grande and the ore is now on display in Siegrist's jewelry store. Samples have been sent to Salt Lake City for further assaying. The Samples sent to them several weeks ago, as rich gold ore.

New Mill Will Help—
"It will be a great help to La Grande, the new sawmill which is to be established there," states J. H. Deare, who was in the city over Sunday and registered at the Hotel Portland. "The proposed mill, I understand will cost somewhere between $2,000,000 and $3,000,000 and will give employment to a large number of men. This means naturally, a substantial increase in the population and the bringing of a large new payroll to the community. The sawmill will be no small affair by any means. The talk is that the projectors will start work on it it next spring.—Oregonian.

Sells Lumber Interests—
Although Frank Gardiner recently disposed of his lumber interests, he has no intention of going into retirement. Few lumbermen do, for it gets in the blood. Mr. Gardiner is a resident of Baker, Oregon. He was one of the originators of the White Pine Lumber company and was active as the president and general manager until a few days ago, when he sold out. Mr. Gardiner, who is registered at the Hotel Portland, says that he contemplates resuming the manufacture of pine lumber, but as yet has not completed his plans for the future.—Oregonian.

LA GRANDE TO GET ATHLETIC FIELD SOON

the end in view of erecting a grandstand at an earlier date so that it would be ready for use before the baseball season commences. Another idea that has been mentioned by citizens of La Grande is that the manual training class, under the supervision of Cecil Snow, instructor, provide the manual labor using material that is obtainable for the work. Union high school and Wallowa high school have gymnasiums that were built by the manual training classes at little actual cost.

Such a step would mean no change in the present plans but it would mean that the city of La Grande would have a real athletic field, one that would answer every purpose that it would be called upon to, before the summer season begins instead of having to wait another year before this vision emerges into reality.

SUPER BOARD PASSING ON TAX MATTERS

quiet and marked with little discussion. The hearing of the school budget was completed before eleven o'clock. A. T. Hill, chairman of the school board, L. W. Weeks, a member of the board, A. C. Thampton, superintendent of schools, and Harry Williams, clerk of the school board, were present during the school district budget hearing. The city budget was taken up immediately. F. B. Hayes, city manager, J. R. Stearns, city recorder, Sherwood Williams, president of the city commission, and Earl C. Reynolds, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, were present during the latter hearing.

Scientific and satisfactory. We carry a large assortment of sizes in children and adult's trusses. You can obtain lasting relief and develop a natural process for betterment and comfort by wearing a perfectly fitting truss, often an operation may be avoided by wearing a real fitting truss. UTAH MAN TO PAY PENALTY FOR MURDER the hands of one of the men and rendered unconscious.

He told the police he had a faint recollection of coming to in the bathroom, with his hands bound behind him, and of staggering to the door leading to the hall.

A police investigation brought out sufficient contradictory facts to warrant Woods being held. Later a coroner's jury returned a verdict of murder, contending at the same time that evidence of guilt pointed toward the husband.

At the trial in July, 1922, it was brought out that:

Woods had made inquiry at offices of life and accident insurance companies regarding policies for his wife.

Pointed Evidence.

One policy for $10,000 was taken out on her life, and on December 21, 1921, he took out a second policy, this time for $3,000, but carrying double indemnity in case of death by burning. No premium was paid on the smaller policy until January 6, 1922, three days before his wife's tragic death.

Although Woods told the police the two alleged robbers had taken $75 from him, nearly $100 in cash was found in his pockets. No jewelry or other articles of value in the rooms had been disturbed.

Nobody in the apartment, notwithstanding the fact that it was shortly after the noon hour, had seen two strange men enter or leave the rooms occupied by the Woods.

Evidence was introduced showing that Woods had purchased a quart of benaline at a nearby drug store a few days before the murder.

There was no evidence that Mrs. Woods had made the slightest attempt to free herself from her bonds, or roll from the burning bed. Physicians declared that she had been killed, either by a blow on the head or strangulation, before being placed on the bed and the match applied. She was a frail woman and said to have been suffering from tuberculosis. Two of her front teeth had been knocked out.

While this point was not brought out at the final trial, the police believe Woods struck his wife with a milk bottle while they were eating lunch. This bottle was found on the table, and there was evidence of a struggle having taken place in the room.

Remains Calm.

Woods displayed no emotion at the time of his arrest nor during any of the proceedings leading up to his conviction by a jury on July 4, 1922. The same may be said of a daughter, Tee Lee Woods, so far as the tragic death of her mother is concerned. She was absent from home attending the University of Utah at the time of the crime. She has remained firmly convinced of the innocence of her father, but was unmoved by the verdict of guilt.

Following the conviction and sentence of death in the lower court Wood's attorney appealed his case to the Supreme Court, alleging errors on the part of the Trial Court. The illness of a justice delayed the death verdict of the higher tribunal. The Supreme Court not only found nothing prejudical to the defendant, but added that the evidence pointed very clearly to his guilt.

Under the Court's order a date will again be set for Wood's execution, and at sunrise on that day a firing squad will do its duty, if this particular murderer, as do most of the others, elects to face the rifles.

DESIRE DIOCESE HEADQUARTERS

carried conferring upon the social welfare committee the authority to consider the matter and derive further information from the Episcopal vestry.

If it develops that such a sum will be raised, the funds would be used for the first unit or finances required for the construction of a home in which Bishop Remington and his wife would make their home, the building to be the property of the Episcopal church and not Bishop Remington's personal property.

Will Make Decision Soon.

Decision as to whether the diocese headquarters will be located in Pendleton, Baker or La Grande will undoubtedly be made soon. Bishop Remington came to the newly created Eastern Oregon diocese from North Dakota about one year ago and since has made Baker his temporary home with the idea of letting lapse a sufficient time to consider equally the advantages to be offered by the three leading towns of Eastern Oregon in locating his permanent headquarters.

Local authorities believe that La Grande is an ideal location for the Bishop's home and the cathedral due to its central location and its proximity to Wallowa Lake, which will possibly be utilized by Episcopalians in the summer to a certain extent.

In addition to the central location aspect, the Grande Ronde Valley is the correct "setting for such a cathedral" in the words of T. H. Crawford one of yesterday's speakers.

That La Grande would reap concrete good from such a step as is contemplated was stressed by the speakers. Educationally, the city would be bettered; morally the city would be bettered, spiritually, the city would be bettered, and from a business standpoint, from the fact that a cathedral would be erected, La Grande made eligible for the holding of district, state, northwest and other conventions, and the erection of the Bishop's home, the city would be bettered, was the general theme of yesterday's discussion.

ZEV TO MEET MY OWN IF HE WINS FROM PAPYRUS

JAMICA, N. Y. (AP)—Zev is ready to meet My Own in a special $50,000 race at Laurel October 25 if he beats Papyrus in the $100,000 international contest at Belmont park next Saturday, while the English deny winner victorious or defeated, will sail back to England next Tuesday, unless ordered otherwise by the owner, Ben Irish.

GALDER SAYS BAKER OKEH

That Baker is doing very well in a business way is asserted by W. C. Calder, while in Portland, Oregon, to an Oregonian reporter.

Mr. Calder claimed that, all things, considered, Baker, Oregon, isn't complaining of business conditions. There is decided activity in most lines, particularly in the manufacture of lumber and in mining, but when it comes to cattle, business is "rotten." Mining has long been one of the resources of the community, and the output of precious metals from the mines of Baker county has been a distinct addition to the world's supply. There are thousands of head of cattle in the county, however, and the owners are not satisfied with the way that industry is going, nor have they been for the past several years. Mr. Calder is an old-timer in Baker and knows whereof he speaks.

DEMOCRACY IN DANGER, SAYS LLOYD GEORGE

which seems to be sweeping over the world."

Given Splendid Welcome.

The arrival of the distinguished visitor in the city was marked by a great demonstration. Met at the station by a reception committee, headed by Mayor Dexer, Mr. Lloyd George was taken on a drive through the loop section, proceeded by a band from the Great Lakes naval training and an escort of cavalry, and flanked and followed by mounted police and official cars. Crowds packed the sidewalks while others hung from windows and other places of vantage high up on the buildings. Confetti and streamers filled the air, while there was a continuance roar of welcome as the automobile bearing the former through the streets.

Visits Moosheart.

MOOSE HEART, Ill. (By the Associated Press)—Such institutions as the home and school for dependent children of deceased members of the Loyal Order of Moose are "something solid, something substantial, something beneficial," David Lloyd George former premier of Great Britain declared at a Welsh breakfast at the institution Tuesday. He spoke briefly in appreciation of his welcome.

"There are moments," said Mr. Lloyd George, "when public men have their doubts as to whether they have achieved anything. Participation in the work of such movements as are represented by Mooseheart could but bring to men as Secretary David of the department of labor, who is the director general of the organization, the deepest satisfaction.

"We all owe a great debt of gratitude to Mr. Davis."

Secretary Davis is in California.

Presiding at the breakfast was John W. Ford of Philadelphia, chairman of the executive committee of the Moose. Mr. Lloyd George was introduced by F. J. Fanning, assistant secretary of labor. Plans for an open air meeting to be addressed by Lloyd George were abandoned because of pressure of time and because of the hoarseness which has troubled Mr. George.

The Loyal Order of Moose presented Mr. Lloyd George with a pocket watch and Dame Margaret and Miss Megan Lloyd George with wrist watches.

Machine Kills Worker.

NORTH BEND, Or.—R. H. Wygant, an employe of the Stout mill A of this city, died instantly when his clothing was caught in the main drive which runs the mill.

The death was so sudden that nobody had an opportunity to help him and the body was crushed when the machinery was stopped.

be greater when the receding waters make possible a thorough search of the flooded areas.

The dead, thus far known are Mrs. H. H. Loose and her daughter, Clara, 8 years old, who were drowned when a boat in which they attempted to gain land, after carrying in an effort to save their personal effects, was caught in the millrace at Wheeler park, a municipal resort, and capsized. Loose and another daughter, Lessie, 10, were rescued from the top of a large tree into which they had climbed when the boat went over.

They had been there 12 hours when a skiff driven by two oarsmen finally nosed its way among the trees in the park and brought them to safety. Loose was taken to a hospital, where his condition was pronounced serious.

STORM HURTS POWER SYSTEM

hasn dispatching required and the difficulties of communication. With the exception of the Bourne section where the Fremont plant is isolated, the trouble was all cleared early yesterday evening.

First effects of the storm were felt by the company at 1:27 yesterday afternoon, when the transmission line from Bourne to Rock Creek "went out" believed to have been caused by falling trees. At 1:31 the wind wrecked the high line carrying power from Brock Creek to Baker, toppling over stoutest poles and leaving wires a tangled mass. A crew immediately went to work and in less than four hours had rebuilt the line. Baker during this time being carried by the South Baker steam plant. At 2:05 the transmission line from Rock Creek to La Grande was damaged by the wind, and in four hours another crew had this repaired. La Grande was supplied with power during this time by the Morgan Lake and Cove plants. When this last time "went out" the Rock Creek plant was completely cut off on all sides from supplying power. The Baker line was repaired at 5:23 and the Grande Ronde line at 6:12.

Every available man, under the direction of General Superintendent J. H. Kink, was in action to speedily repair the damage, and early this morning a crew left for the mountains to find the trouble on the line between Rock Creek and the Fremont Plant.

It is expected that the wrecking will all be cleared up today.

Steam Schooner Safe.

PORTLAND (AP)—The steam schooner Claremont, disabled off Columbia river late yesterday with unbroken steering gear, sent a radio this morning that she was proceeding southward with a jury rudder. She is in no danger and needs no assistance.

Obituary

Infant Son Succumbs.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Burns are receiving the sorrowing sympathy of their many friends, due to the demise of their infant son, who passed on Saturday at a hospital in Baker, Oregon, at the age of two years.

Funeral services will be held in Union from the Methodist church Thursday afternoon. Interment will take place in the Union cemetery.

The remains are at Cook Brothers chapel at Union.

NORTH POWDER MAN HURT IN RUNAWAY

NORTH POWDER: (Special) — While out on the Davis ranch in the field raking hay, the team which was driven by Clifford Gilkinson was scared by a dog that ran at the team, scaring them, and before Mr. Gilkinson could stop them they were in full flight. In some way Mr. Gilkinson was thrown over backward and dragged by the rake. He sustained a badly bruised hand and his shoulder is said by the attending physician to be out of place. From the way Mr. Gilkinson was thrown it is a wonder that he was not killed.
