Dope! And More Dope!!
"The day of the dopest is here," disgustedly remarked Junius this morning after she had read a communication that arrived in the morning mail.

Speaking of old maids and men - we wish to wish every old maid had one. Maybe they could find something to do then except - (well, we'll leave the rest of the sentence for you to finish).

More Old Maid Bunk

The Eternal Masculine.
She - "I don't think women should wear these short skirts any longer."
He - "You 'n me both! I'd rather see them shorter!"

"I like you in your raccoon coat but you look sweeter in your bearskin," remarked a high school boy to his teacher. And he is still wondering why he got expelled!

TO APPRECIATE LA GRANDE, IT IS NECESSARY FOR YOU TO LIVE IN ANOTHER TOWN FOR A MONTH.

Occasionally a newspaper is compelled to correct items that were right in the first place. Oh, well, what good would a newspaper be if you couldn't correct it - SOME PEOPLE PAY MORE ATTENTION TO PICKING OUT MISTAKES THAN IN READING THE NEWS.

And they wonder why printers drink.

How people ever suffer as villagers do when there is a stranger in town who won't tell his business.
