

TEXAN GETS GANG AFTER FOUR YEARS

PORT WORTH, TEX., (AP)—Texas' most famous man hunter, Frank Norfleet, is back on his high county ranch, satisfied with his years of criminal trailing. He set forth four years ago with the world as his field to get four men. Not one did he miss. They are either dead or in custody.

They are "birds" shot from him as he hunted, and they were going to be punished. One by one they succumbed to his relentless pursuit. The fourth had just been arrested in Salt Lake City, and that explains why Norfleet has retired to his ranch, equipped and happy at last.

It was while Earl Warren and Dallas—in fact all of west Texas—were in the grip of the oil boom that a clever crowd of stock swindlers appeared in these parts and proceeded to lay traps for the unwary. One of the first to happen along was J. Frank Norfleet, state county rancher and deputy sheriff. He formed a bond lobby acquaintance with one of the swindlers, who was charged to stop him. The swindler made in stock speculation and in speculation in a stock which yielded him several thousand dollars. He was persuaded to risk a little more and then a little more. Each time his wealth grew. So did his confidence in his new found friends. Eventually, he was persuaded to put in $15,000. Then everything blew up in the "stock" market and Norfleet's money and his "friends" disappeared.

The ranchman began his man hunt in 1915—or just as soon as he became convinced that he had been swindled. The net result was the capture of the swindler, who died in prison at Huntsville, Texas, after having been convicted by a Tarrant county court. Norfleet himself arrested the swindler two years after the commission of the crime and after chasing him 4,000 miles.

E. J. Ward killed himself in Washington, D. C. just after having been convicted of the Norfleet swindle and while he was awaiting trial in Washington on a similar charge.

Charlie Gerber is serving a term in the Texas state prison for swindling Norfleet.

W. H. Spencer is now under arrest in Salt Lake City, and wanted in Port Worth for the Norfleet swindle.

Norfleet followed Percy through the United States, Canada, Mexico and into Europe. Finally he overtook him at Jacksonville, Florida, and overcame him only after a struggle and fight.

The pursuit of Spencer continued four years. In one phase of it Norfleet unearthed another case of swindling. In Denver, a number of whom were sent to prison after sensational trials.

Norfleet was assisted in the long chase by his son. When they would lose the trail they would return to the ranch for rest and recuperation. Then they would start out into the world again. Norfleet cannot estimate the amount of money he has spent in the pursuit but feels that he has been well repaid with results.

SKELETONS SHOW RACE ATE HORSES

By Alice Langley, International News Service Staff Correspondent

TEXAS, (AP)—Fifteen thousand years ago (and perhaps more) the horse was the favorite food of the villagers of Solutre, in southern France. The bones of tens of thousands of the animal were found in the ruins of the village.

man killed and eaten by the nomad tribes form an important strata of the surrounding country.

Recent discoveries made by French excavators have brought to light skeletons of the Aurignalian age—a woman and two men, in paleolithic sepulchres, the bodies placed with the feet toward east, the heads toward the west, and the faces toward the rising sun.

The men must have been young ones, from twenty-five to thirty years tall and well built, with large, broad heads, not very long with rectangular orbits and long, narrow noses.

There are traces of a love drama, for one of them has an arrow imbedded in the skull. While conserving a powerful individuality, they show that these men belonged to the quaternary race of Cro-Magnon, the horse-hunters of the Valley of the Saone, and affirm the ethnic relationship with the Cro-Magnon of the Vézère and the Iberian coast.

It is only when laws have their teeth that things get summed up.

lence after a "riff" they had had nearly six years ago. "If he wanted anything he would write on a piece of paper for it. We have sat in the parlor for two and three hours at a stretch, and he has never spoken a word," she declared.

The offending husband tried to cross-examine his wife, but as her answers were confined to "Yes" and "No" the magistrate gave up in despair and ordered the husband to contribute $2 weekly to his wife's maintenance.

Liquor Proves Fatal.

MAIDSBETH, O.—James Moore, 17, employed at the Coos Bay Logging company, camp, with several other loggers, drank moonshine Saturday night, Moore returned to camp and worked three hours on Sunday, when he became ill and on being taken to the Ketter hospital, died that night.

Heart disease, induced by the moonshine was given as the probable cause of his death. An autopsy will be held.

Postmaster Is Sought.

HOOD RIVER, Or.—With the announcement of Floyd D. Smith, who for the last several years has been Hood River county's representative on the Oregon State Republican Central committee, and Thomas F. Johnson, sheriff since 1911, that they will seek the job, indications point to a certain race for the postmastership here. Others, it was said, will apply for the office. The term of T. A. Heavis, democratic incumbent, will expire early next year.

Here are the New Remington Game Loads

THE next time you go out hunting, stop at your dealer's and ask him for a box of Remington Game Loads for the particular kind of game you are after.

The name of the game is right on the box.

You'll note that the weight of the powder is not marked on the box.

It isn't shown because Remington Game Loads are not loaded to specified weight.

The box of shells you get is loaded to give a uniform velocity, pattern and penetration.

Remington tests showed that powder varies batch by batch—even the same kind and weight. A given weight of the same kind of powder doesn't always give the same results. So in Game Loads Remington adjusts the amount of powder to give exactly the right shooting quality for the specific game. Powder varies—Remington Game Loads do not.

Take just one box of Remington Game Loads out and use them. Notice how they shoot in your gun.

And remember this: If you go back to the store next week or next month—or go to any store in a different town—and get another box of the same kind of Remington Game Load, the shells will perform exactly the same.
