During the coming week, the superintendent will distribute $30,576.00 from the elements of the county fund among the several schools of the county. This will be apportioned at the rate of approximately $220 for each teacher employed in the grade schools, excepting where schools with less than 20 pupils have more than one teacher.

Five-Year-Old Boy Killed Sister While at Play

MASON CITY, Ia. (AP)—Ella Dine, 5-year-old, was shot and killed by her 5-year-old brother, Harold Friday while playing "cowboy." The parents said they did not know the discarded pistol with which the children were playing was loaded.

AUTO BLASTS YALE FOOTBALL REVELS

NEW HAVEN, Conn., (INS)—The crowd that once flowed through the New Haven streets on the evening before and the evening after the "big game" here are now conspicuous by their absence though Yale football games draw their 75,000 persons where they used to draw from 18,000 to 20,000. Merchants of the old school relate how in the old days with 10,000 at a football game their stores were packed where today with 75,000 on deck the same stores have only a normal amount of customers.

The automobile that has replaced the railroad in getting people to the annual Autumn games here is taking the people away without once touching the district where the big game are. Severe police restrictions keep visiting machines within a few hundred yards of the bowl during the game and about the cars by devious routes outside the business heart of town before and afterward.

Lively hotels, crowded with men and women wearing team colors on the night before the game, also are but a memory, along with dinner parties to celebrate a victory or to console in defeat. Game visitors now find New Haven generally to dine in a town 50 miles remote from the bowl and then continue the journey home. This New London, Willimantic, Hartford, Danbury and Stamford are getting their "game nights" while New Haven quickly settles into the normal Saturday night pace and the game is forgotten.

COMEBACK STAGED BY "MAD" MUSICIAN

ROME (INS)—Don Lorenzo Perosi, celebrated maestro of sacred music, who, according to eminent specialists and music critics, has been of unstable mind for several years, has returned to public life and in so doing has had a glorious revenge on the critics and doctors.

His reappearance was at the cathedral at Palermo, when he conducted a performance of his well-known work, "The Passion of Christ." This he followed with a new work, "The Psalm of David" which was received with frantic delight by the critics and acclaimed by them in glowing terms.

Perosi now announces that he composed his new work when he was deemed to have gone completely insane.

The critics and doctors are now busy looking for excuses. Their favorite one seems to be that Perosi must have a dual personality.

Asap College Head

CHICAGO (AP)—Vassar girls do not smoke, and knees are only bare when they play hockey, according to Dr. Henry Noble McCracken, president of the college, here attending the annual convention of Vassar alumnae. "All talk about Vassar girls defying the anti-smoker rule is nonsense," Doctor McCracken said. "It's their own rule—they made it. And they made it in such a way as to avoid shocking the most easily shocked."

Doctor McCracken refused to be excited about bare knees of hockey players; on the whole, he thought college girls are getting better and better.

MAISON CITY, Ia. (AP)—Ella Dine, 5-year-old, was shot and killed by her 5-year-old brother, Harold Friday while playing "cowboy." The parents said they did not know the discarded pistol with which the children were playing was loaded.

A Want Ad will do it.

BANK EXAMINER WAXES ROMANTIC

PHOENIX, (INS)—The trial of Mrs. Viola C. Kingsbury, charged with willful falsification of figures of the defunct Farmers and Merchants' Bank of Tempe, was given a comic opera twist by the reading of an alleged love missive from State Bank Examiner J. H. Dodson, to the defendant.

The letter reads as follows: "Whether in the gray of early dawn or in the splendor of a sunlit day, or in the fast-fading twilight, or out in the gloomy depths of darkest night, where some lonely planet wheels its onward flight, I know not, nor care not what is in my heart. I love thee wherever thou art."

Efficiency "Hot Dog Dodson," Dodson, as state bank examiner, was a witness for the state, and the letter was read in cross examination with the question if he was the author. Blushing the witness admitted that he was, explaining, however, that the letter was written in sportive mood while attending one of the bank's "wit's" parties.

Correct this sentence: "I meant to say Sunday school had Sunday," said he, that the church was packed and I couldn't get a seat."

Another reason for divorce, we surmise, is a dish of cereal and a vase of flowers on the modern breakfast table.
