Fashion Notes

Carnations Newest.
Paris.—Carnations are the newest wear in millinery. The pale yellow are more popular than the red, and the cut carnation, resembling almost like a cloudy yellow diamond, is the height of chic.

Latest Waterproof Coat.
Paris.—You'd think a raincoat would get awfully discouraged nowadays. The latest rain coat is of the waterproof cloth resembling wool in appearance, in shades of yellow, crossed with plaid in shades of purple.

Thistle Blue Hats as Fash.
London.—Thistle blue hats, appropriately of the tan-ochester shape, are interpreted today in velvet and a multiplicity of shirring. Their sole ornament is a big brooch fastening on one side.

For Bondoils.
London.—The fashionable bondoil is being fitted out in hints of antique pattern despite the fact that summer has gone. The winter note is supplied by velvet cushions of sober tint, and by very highly polished brasses in the fireplace.

Interesting Shoe Ornament.
New York.—In spite of a return to pumps lacking in cutout decorations, one new shoe shown here today has a top band of that interesting ornamentation. The leather is cut into strips so thin that it resembles a band of lace.

New Fur Collar Idea.
New York.—One of the new top coats which appeared with the first cold wind has its fur collar in heavy mitered in a circular pattern. A wide belt of embroidery in the same shade of green as the coat binds the hips closely.

Novel Pink Fan.
New York.—A small and dainty fan of the Victorian sort exhibited here today is, when closed, in the form of a pink rose. When opened the petals glisten with rhinestone dew.

Designs Vary in Beaded Bags.
New York.—Beaded bag designs vary with each seasonal scene on the latest beaded handbags. The beading seems to grow finer, and more highly colored, as the season progresses.

THEATERS

Elinor Glyn's "Six Days" Makes Smashing Picture; Now Running at Arcade Theater.

In "Six Days," the new Goldwyn photoplay which was shown for the first time in the Arcade theatre yesterday, Elinor Glyn, author of the sensational novel, "Three Weeks," tells one of her most original and colorful stories. It has bold drama, swift action, with characters all drawn in bold relief. There are thrilling episodes and spectacular events in this screen story, which was directed for Goldwyn by Charles Brabin, the man responsible for "Drivins," and one of the ablest directors in filmdom. He has made the Elinor Glyn story a picture that breathes the interest from start to finish, that is entirely credible in atmosphere and in action, and realistic in characterization. This production further his standing as one of the leaders in his profession and also gives a new article on the literary genius of Elinor Glyn.

The story is too complicated to be told here in detail and such a telling would lessen the picturegoer's pleasure in seeing it unfolded. It deals with a mother's attempt to marry her daughter to a wealthy Englishman for social and financial reasons. The rich media and falls in love with the man's son. They are married in circumstances that lead them to expect certain death. Rescued separately, the girl is forced to marry the father and is then claimed by his son. Suspense is admirably maintained; the photography is clear with many extraordinarily beautiful shots and the story is one sure to appeal to every taste.

Cornelia Griffith, one of the popular screen stars of the day, is seen at her best as Lillian Kingston, an American girl engaged to Sir Charles Chetwyn, but who falls in love with the latter's son of whom the father is in ignorance. Frank Mayo, who has been starred in many big productions, is featured, along with Miss Griffith, in the role of the lover. Both give extremely good and appealing performances.

Rich Bachelor Wants Wife
"Many people have blamed me for not getting married. Since childhood I have suffered from stomach and liver trouble, never being able to get any medicine or doctor to help me. Now that Mayr's Wonderful Remedy has entirely cured me, I am anxious to get a wife." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince. Or money refunded. At all druggists.—Adv.

manes. The cast contains many other notable names, such as Myrtle Stedman, Claude King, Maude George, Spottswoods Aiken, Charles Clark, Evelyn Walsh Hall and others.

Sherrys Showing "Pioneer Trails" Last Time This Afternoon and Tonight.

Historically correct are the settings used in "Pioneer Trails," a Vitaphone special production. For many weeks before production was begun the Research Department of Vitaphone was busy checking scenes in the film and obtaining information and descriptions of buildings and towns of the gold rush period of '49 for use in "Pioneer Trails."

The Burnt Boat Saloon in the picture is an exact replica of the famous "El Dorado," a saloon and gambling den of the days of the early fifties. The bar and dance hall are exact copies of this famous place.

The street scenes were made in a town built to duplicate in every detail the manner of construction of those days. The money road with its pinboard dwellings caused many filmmakers to marvel at the exactness of reproduction.

David Smith, who directed "Pioneer Trails," insisted that every detail be correct before he began filming the picture. He required the town and sets to reflect the spirit and life of the West thoroughly so that there would be no need for subtitles to carry over the impression of the early days which should be shown in actuality.

He spared no expense in the building of the city and furnishing of the interiors of the structures with furniture and knick-knacks in vogue during the period portrayed. Considerable difficulty was met with in obtaining these relics of the past and many items used had to be purchased at almost prohibitive prices because of their rarity.

Actors and actresses used in the scenes were chosen because of their resemblance to types commonly found in that period. The casting director put in several days studying photographs of persons figuring in early Western days to enable correct selection of types needed. Historical museums furnished much of the information necessary in this work.

Tom Mix Narrowly Escapes Serious Injury In "Mile-a-Minute Romeo" Showing at Star.

Tom Mix is recovering from a pair of badly scraped shins which he suffered while making a scene in his newest William Fox production, "Mile-a-Minute Romeo," which comes to the Star theatre Saturday for a two day engagement. The horse Mr. Mix was riding—not the successful Tony—got its foot caught in a tree root as both horse and rider were scaling a precipice. The horse fell heavily, pinning the actor beneath. But Mix escaped unhurt.

German Legacy Seems Staggering, But Isn't

DENVER.—It looks like the wealth of Croesus when reckoned in German marks—but the rate of exchange is responsible for German heirs, being notified that they are to inherit 20,000,000,000 marks.

When Adolph Schinner, of Denver, died recently he left an estate of $42,000 to relatives in Germany. When expressed in German money the estate represents 21 trillion marks.

The estate is at present in the hands of the alien property custodian.

STUDENTS TOLD TO READ NEWSPAPERS

COLUMBUS, O. (E.N.S.)—Asserting that "the newspaper of today is one of the important extra-curricular educational agencies," Prof. Vernot Hieges, State Director of Education, has requested school superintendents throughout Ohio to use newspapers in teaching and has recommended that students read newspapers for general information and education.

"There is found in most current publications material that will contribute to the physical, moral, intellectual and spiritual welfare of its readers," said Director Hieges.

"The fact that newspapers of necessity report some of the untoward aspects of human affairs does not bar them from public schools' usefulness, for here is afforded the opportunity to emphasize the triviality of the temporarily sensational as compared with the really significant events recorded in the same columns.

"Again the occasional lurid items there are remarkably full accounts of the public utterances of men and women of achievement, whether in government affairs or in private station; there are detailed reports of world happenings; there are fine editorial summaries and interpretations of current trends.

"In fact, when the United States allowed a daily paper for preparation of its material is considered there is a surprising merit in the composition of most of the 'stories.' Citizenship training will not be thoroughly handicapped if the newspaper is left out of account."

The Apple to Plant for Profit

In our sincere judgment this is the finest dessert apple thus far developed. It has all the mild qualities of the Delicious, which commends it to the taste of those who cannot eat the more acid apples, and, in addition, it has a decidedly spicy flavor, will keep firm in ordinary storage for weeks without becoming mealy, and in cold storage the RAINIER keeps perfectly for a year.
