Dancing Party At Honan Hall

La Grande younger set, seventy-five strong, enjoyed a dancing party at Honan Hall last night from 8 until 12 o'clock, given by Jack Dennis in honor of Charles and Geraldine McAllister, formerly of La Grande but who now live in Seattle. The street work in the University of Washington which she is attending prevented Miss Geraldine from being present, hence the greetings of old-time friendships for the brother and sister fell upon Charles.

Laney's four piece orchestra furnished the music and the program throughout the evening was a lively one. The party, as declared by the chaperons, was one of the most pleasant and delightful yet experienced by the boys and girls who are just beginning to take their places in La Grande as the men and women of the future.

Miss Fay Martin, who lately came to La Grande from Los Angeles, won tremendous applause in her Turkish dance. She is a little child of exceptional ability and she gave the dance in Elks purple which she delighted the large gathering of Elks in a recent celebration of that order in Portland.

The New York Tribune has the following to say of Miss Winifred Byrd, Oregon's real plant, following her concert in that city:

The size of her audience which overflowed onto the stage, was an indication of the general interest in the playing of Winifred Byrd, who gave a piano recital at Acolian Hall last evening. Miss Byrd is that rare Avic among the American pianists of her generation—a personality. The alertness of her step as she comes on the stage, the enthusiasm with which she approaches every composition and the intensity that pervades her interpretations afford welcome relief from the commonplace, the placid and the conventional. Her highly trained fingers are guided by unusual intelligence. She has a feeling for line as well as for detail. Her interpretations are invariably interesting, original, authoritative.

Her program last evening included music by Schumann, Chopin, MacDowell, and Liszt. Occasionally, as in the "Fasching-schwank," Miss Byrd's fiery spirit led her to excessive speed and exaggeration, but, generally speaking, her playing was of superlative quality and deserves ever wider recognition.

Miss Byrd is to appear at the Arcade Theatre in concert on the evening of December 13th, and already much interest has been manifested over that treat.

The Wetauchmen Chapter Girls held a business meeting last week at the home of Mrs. McMillan who is the new guardian, taking the place of Mrs. Lee Wernick who has retired on account of her health. They planned a hike in the near future when they will travel to big trees. Half of the Campfire squad will start thirty minutes before the other; the second squad will not know where the first went but will try to pick up their trail. They will be chaperoned by Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Campbell. The girls are also trying to get Miss Morris, field executive, here from Portland for a few days for instruction in Campfire work.

With the rooms of the Country club beautifully decorated in fall flowers and vines; the Kuffee Klatch spent a delightful time last evening with Mr. and Mrs. Colon R. Eberhard and Mr. and Mrs. George Cochran acting as hosts and hostesses at nine tables of bridge. The lady's club prize went to

High School Drama Is Pleasing to Unionites

UNION (Special)—The high school play "Little Miss Jack" was played Tuesday evening to about five hundred people, the largest audience which has attended any of these entertainments for several years. The play was well given. Bethina Miller, a sophomore took the leading part, but all the parts were presented in an clever manner. Mr. Conklin may put on a second night of this attraction in a short time.

Mr. Bouek, of Portland, arrived the first of the week to take up the work started by Mr. Home-wood in the science department of the high school. Mr. Home-wood was called back into the army and left a few weeks ago. Mrs. Bouek is waiting in Portland till suitable housekeeping rooms can be found and then she will join her husband.

George DeLap, who runs a stage line to La Grande, took his family to Idaho to celebrate Thanksgiving with relatives.

When the average man says he wishes to increase his earnings, he means only that he wishes to increase his gettings.

Miss Fr-dericke Schilke, assisted by Mrs. George Brink, will give a recital in Honan hall, Friday evening, December 25, under the auspices of the Episcopal choir. Miss Schilke is a pupil in the School of Music, as well as a member of the Woman's Glee club at the University of Oregon. Details of the program, etc., will be announced later.

The Young Women's Educational Auxiliary will meet next Tuesday, December 4th, at the home of Mrs. C. C. Dunning, 1610 Second street, at seven-thirty. Members are requested, if possible, to bring one cushion apiece. A very interesting program, under the leadership of Mrs. Fay Williams, has been prepared.

A meeting of the W. W. G.'s was called last evening at the home of Mrs. W. P. MeAdory. After a business meeting, in which very important matters were discussed and voted upon, a social hour was spent, during which delicious refreshments were served by the charming hostess.

Paris. (L.N.S.)—Stop, look and listen! The train is coming. In fact it is here again after a season or two of duty.

Little bling wavy trains are fringing all the smartest evening gowns. Most of them are very short and neatly arranged hanging at the side of the dress. In fact this kind of a train is becoming very popular for afternoon frocks also. A large bow ties upon the side with one long end left flowing. Sometimes it is made of the same material and often of lace or lovely ribbon.

Derail uses short trains on most of his models, trimming them with beads and embroidery. One of his most striking gowns is a draped train with a row of white velvet, with a butterfly of delicate black lace on the left hip. The train ends in a varying bounce of the black lace topped off by a brilliant allonge of large red flowers. Another comes in huge black crepe de chine with the train studded with stars of brilliant diamonds.

Amos makes an unusual dress of beige with rich embroidery studded with beads. The ruffle on the bottom turns into one of the wavy trains which swishes about millady's feet.

Worth is showing a silver lace model beautifully draped in the back from one shoulder. In Greek fashion it is caught on the hip with a fan of silver and a row of brilliant and jet and amethyst in fall in a long train on the right side. This is the way with trains this season. They have a habit of falling to the side and not directly in the back as during former days.

Another designer is showing a cur-lion train on an evening gown in silver cloth lined with peach-colored velvet. It is cut in one piece with the skirt and hangs from the hips in a loop which can be worn as a scarf over the shoulders or draped over the arm. This same designer is making fur trains lined with gold or silver which gives a veritable regal look to the gown. The young Mrs. Abner McCormick wore a gold-lace train on her wedding gown.

CUT COST OF MEN'S CLOTHING

Men's Clothing Will Be Lowered, Expectations of Retail Merchants.

INDIANAPOLIS. (AP)—Reduction in the cost of men's clothing and furnishings by reducing the cost of production is the announced purpose of an organized effort which has been started by the National Association of Retail Clothiers. This is planned to be accomplished by the formation of a clothing industry commission consisting of a representative from each of the allied industries in the clothing trade.

The lowering process in cost is expected to be done without cutting into legitimate profits, according to Sol Schloss, of Indianapolis, the new president of the association.

"We are going to begin at the fountain head, that is, the original cost, and everyone in the clothing business is going to be given an opportunity to aid in the movement," he said.

We have sent out from our Chicago headquarters a request that all the various organizations in the clothing industry appoint committees to study out the best methods of eliminating unnecessary expenses. This appeal has been sent to the clothing manufacturers, woolen and worsted manufacturers, spinners, manufacturers of hats, knitted goods and work clothing. When these committees have made a complete survey of their various lines and decided where the slack can be taken up, the chairman of each committee will go to Chicago and the clothing industry commission will be formed. When this commission gets together all the results of each allied industry will be amalgamated and in this way we should be able to reduce to a considerable extent the actual cost of distribution, which will enable the retailer to give better values.

Wholesale Prices Show Move Downward, Survey Indicates

GENEVA. (AP)—An investigation based on the query, "What does it cost the world to live?" shows a general trend downward movement in wholesale prices, according to the International Labor Bureau.

This easiness of prices was shown in South Africa, Australia, Canada, Egypt, the United States, India, Japan, the Netherlands, Great Britain, Sweden, Switzerland and Czechoslovakia. Prices have risen slightly in Australia, Belgium and New Zealand, and have increased violently in Germany and Poland.

In August wholesale prices increased ten-fifths in Germany and the general cost of living 16 fold.

German Schools Lack Supplies. BERLIN. (AP)—The primary and secondary school systems of Germany face collapse if the present financial situation is not relieved. The pay of teachers is inadequate; the schools lack supplies, and the children have not the money to buy copy books and paper. Many schools today are doing their writing and drawing lessons on bits of wrapping paper and the white sides of wall paper.
