THE OLD HOME TOWN

By Stanley

ROAD CONDITIONS IN EASTERN OREGON

Despite a heavy fall of snow on the Blue Mountains along the Old Oregon Trail between Pendleton and La Grande, the road is being open for traffic by the use of snow plows, according to the weekly report issued today by the La Grande department of the state highway commission.
To make the trip without difficulty on mornings following heavy snows, motorists should not leave Pendleton or La Grande until cleared from the division offices in this city.

Poets' Corner

Editor's Note—The two following poems were penned by a La Grande boy, who signed them
"R. C.," who admits to being 12 years of age.
Many a time you have said
Life is nothing but trouble.
So what is the use to try.
Many a time you have wished you were dead.
And you said you were ready to die.
But when you are old and your years are few.
You think of what you used to do.
And then don't know why you had wished to die.
When life seems so dear to you.
I went to a madrigal ball As drunk as drunk could be.
In front of the door I felt So drunk I could not see.
Then from the ground
The fellows around Lifted me to my feet.
They took me in Without a sound
And offered me a seat.
And there I sat till the morning dawned.
'Till the sky grew light in the east.
Then I got up and stretched and and yawned
And I says to myself, say!— In that whiskey I made I had too much yeast.
And I sure had enough in the eye.
JUDGE COUCH
SAYS FARMERS
HIT IN EAST
Couch, "somehow nothing seems to be wrong that time, but for everytime I have ever visited it has been the same growing, bustling place."
From Kansas City Judge and Mrs. Couch went down through Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas on the Frisco line. From Fort Worth they went to El Paso on the Texas Pacific railroad, and while at El Paso crossed over and visited Juarez, Mexico. They then took the Southern Pacific to Southern California stopping at San Diego where they went over to San Juan, Mexico to see the sights.
Returning to Los Angeles they spent several days in the Angel city.

Library Chats

It is said that the true university is found in a collection of books. Your city has a University, and a good one. The Public Library is the poor man's university. Perhaps you have not been able to get a college education, or even a high school course. In your library you will find the books to carry you through the paths of learning you desired.

Obituary

WILLIAM ROSEWELL
UNION, (Special)—William
Rosewell was born in Cornwall, England, September 2, 1862. He was one of a family of nine children, and is survived by only two, the other six having died before he died. He came to America in 1882, locating in New Bedford, Massachusetts, where he was married at the age of 21, but lost his wife and infant child at the end of 18 months. From Massachusetts, etc. he moved to Lexington, Massachusetts, where his parents had located. April 29, 1893 he married Ethel Heavens. Six children were born to this union. After living in Lexington for about 20 years he brought his family to Union, Oregon and lived here till his death Dec. 2, after a few days illness with the "flu." He is survived by his wife, four sons, Able of Kansas City, Clarence, James and Carl of Union, and two daughters, Mrs.
Eula Sturgis and Leona, also of Union. He is survived by one sister, Mrs. Blon Mills of Lexington, and Edward Rosewell of Kansas

QUESTIONS S. DAKOTA PLATFORM

Mr. Coolidge let visitors know that he was particularly pleased with the reception given his message by the newspapers, and he had one group of visitors that made an editorial comment he considered an astounding almost to history.
After being prepared to give speech to almost all of the executive's major recommendations and there, it was indicated, would have all the support Mr. Coolidge can give to them without transgressing any of the prerogatives
and Edward Rosewell of Kansas

MOUNT PLEASANT FAMILY MOVE TO HOMIE AT ELGIN

ELGIN, (Special)—Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Scott of Mount Pleasant, 12 miles northwest of Elgin, have moved into Prof. Weiss' house for the winter. Mrs. Weiss is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Scott, who were among the very early settlers in the Elgin country.
Mr. and Mrs. Morris George have returned to Elgin from The States, where Mr. George has been employed in the lumber mill.
Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hug and sons, Harold and David, and William Hill, were visitors to La Grande Thursday, where they also transacted business.
Mrs. Roy Blanchard is acting as assistant to Mrs. Willis at the library. Mrs. Willis has not been in the best of health this winter and is very much pleased at having help in her work.
The Ladies Aid of the Methodist church will hold their annual dinner Saturday, December 3.

She couldn't sing.
Nor throw a tantrum.
Or anything.
But when you got Her all alone.
She made you feel
So much at home.
When an your lip
Should not and purr.
And ruffle up.
Your blonde hair.
And when she kissed
You on the cheek.
You'd clamp your arms.
You'd hug her and hug!
She wasn't practical at all.
But when you—Well, she didn't Shall!
