JACKIE COOGAN DELIGHTS MANY

Several La Grande people who witnessed the showing of "Long Live the King" at Sherry's theatre last evening, featuring Jackie Coogan, were delighted with the play and believed that the picture was one of the greatest that Jackie Coogan ever appeared in in La Grande. Jackie plays the part of the little Crown Prince of Lavinia, minus his usual rags, and in his "dressed up" part, he won many new friends. "Long Live the King" is showing at Sherry's for the last time tonight.

Senator Curtis of Kansas, a Republican member of the senate finance committee, announced he would attempt to provide means for a soldier's bonus under the new bill, by a revised admissions tax, and Senator Edge, Republican, New Jersey, introduced a bill to repeal the excise tax on automobiles, trucks, tractors and other automotive equipment.

Members of both parties on the ways and means committee made it plain to those seeking reduction of the apical tax rates that no cuts would be made along that line which would endanger proposals of Secretary Mellon or of the Democrats to reduce the income and surtax rates.

Consideration of a fight on the tariff law was discussed also by Democratic leaders in the senate in view of prospects for amendment of home rules to enable a minority of the house to bring a bill from the committee.

In his proposal to provide for the bonus from the tax on theatre admissions, repeal of which was proposed by Secretary Mellon, Mr. Curtis presented a revised schedule for such taxes which he estimated would net $77,000,000 annually. He would remove all tax of from admissions of 25 cents or less and fix the tax at 5 cents on those from 25 cents to $1 and at 25 cents for each dollar or fraction above. Box seats and roof garden cover charges would be subject to a surtax.

tax bill fight, gained Monday by repeal of the rule restricting amendments on revenue measures, with a view to obtaining revision of the bill along the lines of the proposal of Representative Garner, Democrat, Texas, and also possibly effecting some amendments to the tariff law. The latter plan, it was indicated, would not be pressed until the tax bill is disposed of.

Formulation of a definite plan of battle to use the rules revision advantage on the floor when the bill comes up in an effort to put through the Garner proposals occupied minority leaders during the day. Among other revisions on the Mellon bill, Mr. Garner's proposal would provide a maximum income surtax of 44 per cent applying on $92,000.

Meanwhile the house ways and means committee continued public hearings on the tax measure receiving requests from various business interests for repeal of special and excise taxes. Assaults on the bill under consideration also were made in the senate along similar lines.

To Finance Bonus.

Senator Curtis of Kansas, a Republican member of the senate finance committee, announced he would attempt to provide means for a soldier's bonus under the new bill, by a revised admissions tax, and Senator Edge, Republican, New Jersey, introduced a bill to repeal the excise tax on automobiles, trucks, tractors and other automotive equipment.

Why Doctors Warn Against Coffee or Tea for Children

THE reason is simple. Coffee and tea contain drugs which tend to irritate the delicate nervous system of children, and so upset health.

The Federal Bureau of Education includes in its rules to promote health among growing school children, the warning that "children should not drink tea or coffee at all."

Why confine the warning to children?

You are careful to protect the health of your children; why, then, take chances with your own health, when a change from coffee or tea is made so easy by Postum.

Postum is a delicious, pure cereal beverage—ideal for children and satisfying to adults.

Postum for Health

"There's a Reason"

Your grocer sells Postum in two forms: Instant Postum (in tins) prepared instantly in the cup by the addition of boiling water; Postum Cereal (in packages) for those who prefer the flavor brought out by boiling fully 20 minutes. The cost of either form is about one-half cent a cup.
