BALLOPTICAN IS INSTALLED

Hot Lake Residents and Visitors Treated to Screen Pictures of a Wide Scope.

HOT LAKE, (Special)—A Balloptican—highly improved edition of a stereopticon machine—has been installed at the Hot Lake Sanatorium and is furnishing guests there a new form of evening amusement. The educational in combined with the entertaining in the use of the machine, for the slides which Dr. W. T. Pay has thus far purchased are of a health and travel nature.

In addition to slides the Balloptican throws on a silver screen enlargements of postcards, maps, engravings, newspaper clippings and plates. The range it thus affords for presenting varied subjects is making it very popular with the guests. The putting of the machine into the ball room, where the pictures are shown, acts as a signal to nearly every visitor at the Sanatorium to drop in to that room.

Author of textbooks on English work for high schools and at present mayor of Boise City, Idaho, is E. B. Sherman, who with his wife registered here the last of the week. The Shermans are on their way to Palo Alto, Cal., to visit a son, a senior in Stanford University. Their trip is a postponed early October event, Mayor Sherman having been delayed in Boise by discussions centering around a new depot there and widening the streets of that city.

Dr. and Mrs. W. C. Cox are Everett, Wash. guests. Dr. Cox is a prominent physician of that city who will remain here for several days' treatment.

A Minneapolis visitor at the Sanatorium over the week end was Robert Hunter, connected with an engraving firm, who was on his way back to Minnesota after a business trip to the coast. He says he didn't come here as a patient but simply to satisfy his curiosity about the Hot Lake Sanatorium and for one final warning up before going back to the state of Illinois.

W. E. Stoddard, Baker lumberman, has been a guest at the Hot Lake Sanatorium during the last week. Stoddard, stopped here after attending to business in La Grande.

Three Spokane residents to arrive here recently are Mr. August Pearson and P. Hanson. Pearson and Hanson are unanimous in declaring that Spokane has at present no scarcity of money but a decided inhibition against investing in business enterprises. They agree with Secretary Mellon as to the cause of this condition. Both of the Spokane residents are in a position to know the business conditions of their city. Pearson is president of the Wall Street bank, while Hanson, as a real estate man, has helped boost the growth of the city for the last twenty-three years.

F. L. Meyers returned to La Grande Wednesday after spending a few days at the Sanatorium.

Other La Grande residents to register here recently include Mrs. Ward Fowler, Mrs. W. S. Safford, A. H. Sifton and P. H. Sifton, Mr. and Mrs. Ezra Allen, Mrs. H. J. Kitchen and Mrs. Frank Gunn.

Lloyd Dodson, who is taking treatment here, is a bobbed hair enthusiast. An in the case of the proverbial postum, "there's a real Dodson." Dodson is a barber in The Dalles. A second enthusiast of his is the barber's union. That organization, feeling that Dodson should have immediate treatment, is sending him here.

Elvin S. Jones, a surgical patient in the hospital, registers from Walla Walla. His home, however, is Kamela where he and his father own and operate a wheat farm.

When he is not taking treatment, Thomas Chapman, of Kent, Wash., is spending the greater part of his time in the Plymouth farm house here. Play's Houtstein-Freeman are the attraction which draws him there, for Chapman himself is a Holstein dairy man. On his large farm in the White River Valley near Seattle, some seventy-five head of cattle graze. Chapman is just now, together with fellow farm owners, looking for a good location for his section of the Puget Sound, country has been largely farmed by Japanese until the present law prohibited the leasing of land to this race. The problem is, says Chapman, finding judiciously which will call the city Americans "back to the farm."

Judge J. H. Mesnick, Baker lawyer, has been visiting at the Hot Lake Sanatorium. Judge Mesnick, has been in the city for the last few days since he taught school in the Cove district thirty-two years ago. He was down here to see William Packwood, a second Baker lawyer. Packwood has been diverting fellow patients in the hospital with tales of eastern Oregon and Alaska. He is well prepared to tell how he has spent eleven years in Nome, Alaska at the time of the gold rush, and being the son of one of the oldest Oregon families, his mother, Johanna O'Brien, was eastern Oregon's first teacher.

As president of the Rainer Taxicab company, in Seattle, Wash., J. A. McLean has seven Cadillac and ten smaller cars at his disposal whenever he wishes to ride. McLean is taking treatment at the Sanatorium.

Mrs. Bruce Moorehead, a Baker patient in the hospital, is accompanied by her husband and her mother, Mrs. M. Phillips, also of Baker. Moorehead, connected with the Baker White Pine Lumber company, has charge of the organization's two camps. Both are in the Sanitarium valley, one being thirty, the second, sixty miles from Baker.

Norris Guernsey, manager of this company, joined Moorehead at Hot Lake Friday and accompanied him to La Grande on business.

Another Baker resident who is a patient here this week is J. T. Taylor. Taylor was proprietor of a paint store in that city until recently he engaged in the interior decorating business.

Mr. and Mrs. Egbert Coffinberry and daughter, Mrs. Edna Motely, are Halfway residents who are guests at the Sanatorium. They have come down to take treatment and to visit Walter Coffinberry, a hospital patient from Portland.

Mrs. O. F. Thomson, registered at the Sanatorium from her large ranch near Echo, tells of the first time she ever saw Hot Lake. It was back in the dry summer days of '62 when she and her parents were following the hot, dusty trail covered wagons had marked along foothills. No roads were ever more welcome to a Sahara traveler than was the first glimpse of Hot Lake to those early settlers, says Mrs. Thomson. Mrs. Thomson has been coming here ever since that time—at first simply to camp, later to visit the Sanatorium. She has watched Unadilla county as well as Hot Lake develop, having lived there since '63. Her husband was sheriff there for several years.
