This is the confidence that we have in Him, that, if we ask anything according to His will, He heareth us.—1 John 5:14.

Interest

We have been head to roar a lot about interest, and we will admit that interest is a hard thing to pay year after year. But did you ever stop to think that an undertaking is not very sound and should not be considered if it will not make more than interest.

The great trouble is not with interest, but it is because too many are willing to enter into propositions that will not produce a marginal profit of interest and better.

The business man who cannot pay 8 per cent interest for capital borrowed for his business, should get out of that business. Of course the load of interest, generally speaking, is heavy, but is it not a fact that many men go into things which prove unproductive that they should have stayed clear of.

Renting money is not a light thing to consider. It is a great convenience and when things are right for the venture it should be done without hesitation. Yet there should be a careful analysis before judgment decides what is the right thing.

Interest on purchase price of real estate—especially non-income real estate, is a thing that is almost sure to eat one up. But interest on the ordinary business which is a going concern is not the burden that many would make believe.

The way to avoid interest is not to borrow money. The way to pay interest is to put the borrowed money to work in a channel that will justify the interest. If that cannot be done it is the height of folly to borrow money.

Always Help Somewhere

It is hard to find any habit or custom which becomes general among the people, no matter how much it is criticised, that does not help someone. For instance, Bill Standberg, in his "Open Window," which is the official organ of the electrical people and published in Portland, insists that the bobbed hair is not without merit. "For look," says Bill, "at the increased sale of electric curling irons throughout the country."

FALL HELD TO BE ABLE TO TESTIFY

promises to be an historic and extremely bitter fight over the Robinson resolution requesting the president to call immediately for the resignation of Secretary Denby.

As the verbal battle got under way, it was conceded that a sufficient number of Republican insurgent votes might be joined with those of the Democrats to insure adoption of the resolution. Such a coalition repulsed all efforts of administration senators to modify the language of the Walsh measure, which, as finally adopted, declares the leases, signed by Mr. Denby, to have been made without authority and contrary to law.

Denby Stands Pat.

Meantime, Mr. Denby continued to stand pat on his declaration that he would not resign.

"No one has advised me to resign," he declared in response to suggestions that he had been urged to give up his cabinet post to avoid embarrassment to the administration.

It came to light Thursday that after the Robinson resolution was introduced, Mr. Denby called on Chairman Lenroot of the senate committee, and Chairman Hale of the senate naval committee, and other administration leaders in the senate and that they had left it to him to decide whether he should resign.

McAdoo's Name Mentioned.

WASHINGTON, (AP) — Both William G. McAdoo, Democratic presidential candidate and Thomas W. Gregory, Democrat chosen by Coolidge to prosecute the government's oil lease cases, have been employed by oil interests, E. L. Doheny, Californian operator, testified today before the Senate oil committee.

He said McAdoo received $250,000 for representing his company in Washington on the Mexican affair after he left the cabinet. In view of Doheny's testimony Gregory may not represent the government in the oil cases.

Doheny said "Our company and a half dozen others employed Gregory to represent them before the president in regard to getting permits to drill oil wells in Mexico."

In the course of the examination he said he felt he was under "obligations" to Fall for "services rendered" by him in regard to the Mexican affairs when Fall was chairman of the Senate foreign relations sub-committee.

"Did you make any loan connection with any oil leases?" asked Senator Bursum.

"I did not have in mind any leases then," Doheny replied.

Would Give Fall Job.

Pressed to state how strong his friendship for Fall is Doheny said if Fall was out of a job tomorrow and in good health "I would employ him."

"Would you loan him $100,000 again?" asked Bursum.

"Under the present circumstances I don't think I would," was the answer.

"I say, Amos Tech, but you and your wife were awfully soft when you were first married. I remember you used to call each other 'birdies,' didn't you?"

"Yes."

"Do you still do it?"

"Well, I call her a parrot and a magpie and she usually refers to me as 'jay.'"

A stenographer recently made a new shorthand record of 224 words a minute. Soon she should be fast enough to report the conversation of two ladies at a matinee.

The Collection.

In the gathering twilight she came to him, arms outstretched, lips half-parted and hungry for kisses. He stopped and gazed at her, his eyes taking in every curve of her body as he swayed with intoxication as he drank in her ravishing beauty. The baby blue eyes, the rosebud mouth, the soft glistening tint of her skin and her delicately moulded ankles shimmering in silk. He missed nothing and his heart leaped so high that he was afraid to open his mouth. He took a step forward and heard her deep sighing, and he was helpless. A sweet smile slowly grew upon her uplifted face and once more he took a step forward.

"I came," he started.

"I know," she broke in.

"I am the new landlord and I came after the rent," he replied.

Not A Clean One.

The new cook was reproved for using a stocking to hold the coffee grounds in making coffee. "I don't see what the old girl got so mad about," she said, "it wasn't a clean one."

Memorial Day and the only representative in congress of the territory of the District of Columbia, Justice Chipman had a varied career from the time he enlisted in Company H, Second Iowa Infantry in April, 1861, two years after he had been admitted to the bar, until 1876 when he went to Red Bluff, Calif., to reside.

Justice Chipman was born at Milford, Ohio, March 7, 1836. His parents were natives of Vermont. In his early life he resided variously at Keesauqua, Mount Pleasant and Washington, Iowa.
