"The Silent Command" At Star For Three-Day Run.

For the most part, people believe that a soldier or a sailor straightens up to attention at a crisp order from an officer, obey it and then has performed his duty. True enough, as far as it goes, but there are silent commands, equally as important and frequently more so than the gruff bark of a superior. In the intelligence bureau of the U. S. Navy, for instance, men suggest and speak in conversational tones, but they give silent commands.

It was upon this fact that Rufus King based his great story, "The Silent Command," which will open the Star Theatre for an engagement of three days today.

"The Cheat" Well Received by Arcade Patrons.

The George Fitzmaurice production of "The Cheat" for Paramount, with Pola Negri in the stellar role, was received in a manner befitting its excellence at its opening showing at the Arcade Theatre last night.

The story deals with a wealthy girl of Latin-American parentage who elopes with an American in Paris where Carmelita, played by Miss Negri, has excited the interest of Ito Singh, a crook posing as an Indian prince and who follows her to New York.

Meeting with financial reverses, Carmelita is forced to go to him for aid. When the time comes for the girl to meet the terms of her bargain she recoils and the "Prince" brands her as a Cheat, for which Carmelita shoots him.

OUTBURSTS OF EVERETT TRUE

Her husband, portrayed by Jack Holt, to protect her assumes the blame and so the story goes.

"The Cheat" and a late Fox News reel will be shown at the Arcade Theatre today and Saturday.

Johnny Hines Is Fun Comet in Play Now at Sherrys.

Johnny Hines, whose name stands for pep, effervescent punch and sparkling comedy, stars in "Little Johnny Jones," the personation of the George M. Cohan popular stage success, which opened with great acclaim at the Sherry Theatre yesterday.

If it seldom that a picture-play of such fine caliber comes to town, one with three such scoring points to commend it: first Johnny Hines himself, the peer of cinema comedians; then George M. Cohan's play; and last but not least, the photography itself, a Warner-Brothers classic of the screen.

We recommend it to all picture fans. There is more intrigue, plot and thrills in "Little Johnny Jones" than can be found in a half-dozen similar plays.

In addition to the fine acting of Johnny Hines, with his fresh bag of tricks, his supporting cast deserves high praise: Winifred Stanning, Margaret Seldon, Robert Prior, Molly Malone, George Webb, Merwyn Leroy, "Fai" Carr, Pauline French, and Brownie, the Wonder Dog, on whom devolves an important role.

Comedy showing "Only A Husband."

J. E. Norton of Coquille who told of the organization and success of the company which built the hotel with local money.

"The Cheal" and a late Fox News reel will be shown at the Arcade Theatre today and Saturday.
