Real Acting Promised In Movie Today At Sherrys.

Treatening ability backed up by a story that never lets down for a minute, combines to make a picture that will go down in amusement history.

"The Spider and the Rose" is different than the average film story and therein lies its excellence. Mission life in California when that state was a province of Mexico, under the reign of Maximilian is pictured as the scene of an active series of events that seem to be a page from the book of life for that period.

Gastan Glass and Alice Lake are the principals and are ably supported by such well known artists as North Berry, Frank Campana, Edwin Stevens, Alec B. Francis, Richard Hendrick, Joseph J. Downing, Andrew Arbuckle, Lolla Pasenda and Harry Northrup.

Comedy showing 'Sunday Clam.'

"Zaza" Opens at Arcade Theater For 3-Day Run.

When "Zaza" the great French play was produced in Paris some twenty-five years ago, and which was the starring vehicle for Madame Iphigene, it was believed by many critics that it would be impossible for any American actress to portray that arduous role as artistically as the actress named, but these critics were in error as the evidence showed.

The production of this charming play by Paramount with beautiful Gloria Swanson in the title role is said by many to be a far more powerful characterization than has ever been seen on the American stage or screen, in this splendid production, which will be shown at the Arcade theatre today, Friday and Saturday, Miss Swanson relies entirely upon the power of pantomime art in which the French always have been adepts, but those who have seen the great screen artist in her wonderful emotional interpretations, in which she has appeared for several years, will be the first to declare that Miss Swanson is the only American screen star who vests the role of "Zaza" with a power never heretofore witnessed in silent drama production.

Income Tax Tips

No. 20.

Misunderstanding of the provisions of the revenue act relating to personal expenditures is indicated in the returns of many taxpayers. Claims are made for deduction of which from gross into and from the taxpayer's place of business, amounts spent in improvement of the taxpayer's dwelling, and similar items. All these are personal or living expenses, deduction of which for tax purposes is expressly disallowed by the statute.

A physician who maintains an office in a rented home may deduct the proportion of such rent properly chargeable to the portion used for professional purposes. It, however, he maintains an office elsewhere and incidentally receives patients at his home he is not entitled to deduct any part of his rent for his residence as a business expense.

If a physician owns the home or building in which his office is located, no deduction for rent is allowed unless the amount of rent claimed is reported by him as income. The reason is that money paid as rent becomes income to some one, and, in this instance, the physician is that person. However, a professional man who maintains an office in a home or building owned by him may deduct as a business expense a proportional part of the amount properly chargeable to the use of such offices for heat, light, insurance, repairs, depreciation, etc., which he may not deduct on that part of the house used as a residence.

Other deductions not infrequently claimed by taxpayers but disallowed by the revenue act as "family or living expenses" are amounts spent for food, clothing and education of children, hire of domestic servants, and similar items for the upkeep of a home.

Carrative Powers Once Ascribed to Hand and Jaw of Deceased Saint

BEIRFAST, (Ireland)—An interesting story is woven around the relics of Saint Patrick, now being exhibited in the crypts of the Peabody-Cathedral of Saint Patrick in this city.

The relics are of a hand and a jaw and are enshrined in the Shrine of Saint Patrick's Hand and the Shrine of Saint Patrick's Jaw. A law is here, and only one double tooth remains.

It appears that many years ago there were five teeth in the jaw, which were believed to be the teeth of the saint living at Downpatrick, near Belfast.

Three members of the family, it is said, each took a tooth when entering the United States, while a fourth was deposited under the altar of the chapel at Downpatrick in 1797.

The jaw was in the custody of the Cullen family for many generations and it appears that many years ago the water in which the bone was immersed was given to persons afflicted with epilepsy and was also used as an antidote for cattle diseases.

For Inactive Kidneys

At times the kidneys become inactive and need a good diuretic stimulant such as FOLEY PHLETS to increase their activity. J. B. Stephens, Sanborn, Ala., states: "I was troubled with my kidneys. I tried FOLEY PHLETS, and am now better off physically than I have been in several years."—Adv.

American Legion

(By a La Grande Legionnaire)

Everybody Out! is the order issued by John R. Quinn, National Commander of the American Legion, to all ex-servicemen during the week February 19th to 17th.

Mass meetings are to be carried on throughout the nation by American Legion posts. Letters are being written to congressmen and senators and it is to be a week of awakening or eye opening.

The order has been issued in order to acquaint the public with the ex-servicemen's view on the adjusted compensation bill which is to be brought before congress in the near future. This measure is being fought largely by the big interests and money powers of the nation and the ex-servicemen feel that until methods are being used to defeat the measure.

To give the Oregon delegation in congress an idea how the ex-servicemen of the La Grande post feel concerning the matter a secret ballot was taken at the last Legion meeting and the following telegram was sent to each member of the Oregon representatives.

La Grande Post Number 42, American Legion, La Grande, Oregon, at regular meeting, February 6th held secret ballot on adjusted compensation. Forty-six present. Secret vote for measure, one opposed. Shows how we stand. Do you favor measure and will you vote to override presidential veto? Wire reply.

Signed: Raymond O. Williams, Commander.

Agreeable to my position heretofore taken I shall support adjusted compensation for ex-servicemen and will vote to override presidential veto.

I favor adjusted compensation bill and will vote to override presidential veto if necessary.—N. J. Hinnott, M. C.

Senator Stanford heartily favored adjusted compensation legislation. Strong opposition may ruin efficacy by amendment, cannot advise what vote over president's veto may be null form of legislation known.—T. J. Adams, Secretary.

Congressman Elton Watkins and W. C. Hawley have not sent their reply to date but the Portland post has received replies from them which take substantially the same

HOOD RIVER, Ore.—Hood River Post, American Legion is planning to popularize winter sports on the northeast base of Mt. Hood. Legionnaires say that it is easy to reach the recreation grounds with the Mount Hood Loop Highway open to a point within a half mile of vast expanses of open snow fields. Present plans call for establishing a lodge near the snowfield and to develop skiing, snowshoeing and tobogganing.

PORTLAND.—Veterans of the World War who constitute the American Legion of several counties will meet in various sections of Oregon next month when district conferences or Legion schools will be held under direction of State officials of the American Legion. Seven district conferences are planned, calling in all of the 115 American Legion Posts of the state to meet. A representative of the Veterans Bureau will attend all conferences, according to Fred E. Kiddle of Island City, Legion State Commander who declared that the conferences are called for the purpose of exchanging ideas between posts, discussion of Legion service, community work and problems affecting the disabled and post administration matters.

SALEM.—The truth about the Adjusted Compensation situation was given at the mass meeting held in the Salem Armory, February 6th under auspices of Capitol Post No. 2, American Legion. Speakers included Governor Walter M. Pierce, Adjutant General George A. White, H. O. White, President, Salem Chamber of Commerce, C. E. Bishop, promulgator and business man and manufacturer and George Griffith local automobile dealer and Vice State Legion Commander.

Suspect King Boris Is Going a-Ride Hunting

SOFIA (Yugoslavia)—King Boris has announced he is going traveling, and there are two explanations for the trip. The semi-official report is that the King needs a rest after four years constantly on the throne. The unofficial and more general impression, however, is that the King is going in search of a queen. Rumor has had King Boris, who is 29 years old, affianced to Romanian, English, Italian and Serbian princesses; but the various alliances have failed to materialize. The Bulgarians are anxious for a queen—hence the romantic version of the purpose of King Boris' trip thru Europe.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (INS)—Four-year-old Doretta Best died here the other day as a result of swallowing a peanut.

The peanut became lodged in her throat, and an operation failed to remove it. She died shortly afterwards.

Tribesmen Balked at Paying

BBK of Chief's Pleasure Trip

LONDON, (Cape)—Solely, part-time chief of Swaziland, the African potentate who visited his British residence in the British capital and paid his respects to King George at Buckingham Palace, returned to his home land only to find his coal-bunk treasurer would not approve their big chief's bills for travel and entertainment.

A nine-months drought occurred in Swaziland and the Swazi thought his coal-bunk treasurer had returned. Now the chief is planning another European trip.

Bond Vote To Be Taken

ROSEBURG, Ore.—A special city election will be held in Roseburg March 18 to vote on the proposed bond issue, and to exceed $15,000 for the purchase or construction of a library building.

The council has two sites for the library, one which has been donated by the Woman's club and the other the A. C. Masters' home site, on which the city holds an option for $5700. The latter combines a library and public rest park within one block of the center of town, and meets the unanimous approval of the council.
