

NEWS of SOCIETY

The Wednesday Bridge club was out yesterday afternoon. After a delightfully entertained yesterday short business meeting the team afterwards at the home of Mrs. A. Kishin entertained with a Washington V. Andrews. The time was pleasantly spent with a program, after which the club prize going to Mrs. served, which corresponded with E. L. Holmes and Mrs. E. T. Andrews the program and atmosphere of the drawing winning the guest prize occasion.

Tuesday afternoon a delicious two course luncheon was served by the charming hostess.

The Girls' Friendly Society held a short business meeting at Homan hall last evening, at which time it was decided that they would not hold the Mardi Gras this year, because the basketball tournament is being held on the date they planned to hold their monthly meeting. A very interesting program is being arranged for the 25th of April, and a good time is assured to proceed to go for the same purpose as the Mardi Gras. This will be one of the most elaborate social affairs of the year and a good time is anticipated and a good crowd desired.

The G. P. R. will hold their next meeting on Wednesday, March 5.

Tomorrow is Washington's birthday and there will be no school in the afternoon, so the Parent-Teachers' association of Central school has decided to postpone their regular meeting until next Friday, February 22. A very interesting program is being arranged for this date and a good time is anticipated for all who attend.

LEARN HOW TO MANAGE HOME

Illinois Girls Are Taught Wifehood and Motherhood by Continuation School Classes.

(By Harold Robinson)

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (U.S.A.)—Marriage, starting with the hope of a happy home, and ending with the realization of a happy home, is the aim of the continuation school classes throughout the state. The girls study the furnishing of the home and the preparation of balanced meals at low cost.

Training Needed. The need for training in marriage has been demonstrated conclusively by this first school, according to Wall. The influence of the school has reached out into the community and has resulted in an upbuilding of home life there, he stated. The girls carry their lessons to their mothers, who had no such training, and often school methods are adopted in the home.

time allowed by their employers. Told Real Problems. Dr. Mildred Young, who was formerly a school teacher and who has also practiced medicine a number of years, is instructor of the class. She attempts to give the girls a real understanding of the problems of matrimony, Kolb explained.

Beginning with the hope chest, she teaches the things a girl should do in preparation for matrimony, including the accumulation of a little "nest egg" to help found the home. Lessons in hygiene to build strong, healthy bodies that will bear the burdens of motherhood and the household, are given.

The physiological phases of the marriage relation are made clear to the students, and the instructions cover pre-natal influences and care during pregnancy.

Real babies are used during the training in infant care. The pupils are required to perform every operation in the care of the child—bathing the babies, feeding them, changing them and putting them to sleep.

Problems of household management are also considered, and the girls study the furnishing of the home and the preparation of balanced meals at low cost.

Already one school in Chicago is giving the matrimonial course. Mr. Kolb expects, through the success of his school, the first of its kind in America, to induce hundreds of education in other cities to establish like courses.

for it, Kolb pointed out. The large number of failures may be, in part, attributed to this, he said. Divorced, unhappy homes, children with improper starts and mothers with broken health are some of the things the matrimonial course will help prevent, in the director's belief.

A REPLY TO "SAVE THE OLD CHURCH"

La Grande, Ore., Feb. 20. (To the Editor)—In answer to your editorial appeal last evening for suggestions for a suitable disposal of the Episcopal church in La Grande and in particular as to converting the 50-year old structure into a museum, it might be of public interest to know that a museum of some sort in which to store and display relics of the early days, has frequently been discussed and considered by the Old Oregon Trail committee of the Galien County Chamber of Commerce. Likewise, the creation of small museums of this sort in all the historical towns on the Old Oregon Trail has been subject matter for the Old Oregon Trail association, invariably in the past, and no doubt this point will hold good in the future, owners of relics attach an inestimable value to their treasuries, and refuse to permit storage of their belongings in places not reasonably safe from fire and theft. It has been the purpose of the bodies mentioned above to appeal to the public library or the public schools for adequate room for this purpose.

No doubt these objections could be overcome if such an historic structure as the Episcopal church were made available—it certainly would be a proper thing to do; it would afford ample space, and put the structure itself to a more dignified use than dismantling. With the aid of the Pioneer Association and the auxiliary of that association in Union county, the Chamber of Commerce, and public spirited men and women, the financing would unquestionably be a small matter, but the attention of the public is called to the obstructions the above named committee has met in the past. Certainly this can be overcome in some way and the spirit of your editorial be carried out.

It appears that unless otherwise disposed of, the church will be razed the first Monday in March—hence the necessity of prompt action.

While on the matter of the Episcopal church, we are reminded that Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Stevens of this city carry the distinction of having been the first couple married in that edifice, fifty years ago this year. Should the building be allowed to go the razing route, it strikes us that both the Episcopal congregation and the Pioneer association and others, should join in a suitable ceremony within and around that edifice with Mr. and Mrs. Stevens as the central figures; either in a golden wedding jubilee or a mock marriage in which the touch of the past can be added easily. This latter plan, it is understood, has been under discussion in Episcopalian circles. Undoubtedly an occasion of such unusual circumstances would be of the keenest interest to more than the Episcopalian congregation and a wider scope might be attached to the event. If Mr. and Mrs. Jap H. Stevens could celebrate their marriage and their golden wedding anniversary within the walls of the same building, it would add another chapter to the history of the Grande Ronde valley which is already mentioned of course in century-old history than any other old Oregon Trail section except Fort Hall, Boise City, Walla Walla and The Dalles.

Rapids Findings Given. PENDLETON, Ore.—Gravel on the surface underlaid with basalt was the formation found at Emerald Rapids on the Columbia, where drills have been in operation since the middle of the summer, according to E. R. Crocker, engineer in charge. The research was authorized by congress in the spring of 1923, and an appropriation of $50,000 was set aside for the survey. Twenty-one holes have been drilled according to Engineer Crocker, one being 122 feet in Bridgroom Check Bad. HOOD RIVER, Ore.—A check for $15, presented by Harry Mayers to Dr. M. L. Sanders, a Goldendale, Wash., Methodist minister, for officiating at his marriage to Miss Jessie M. Mercer, was returned by the Citizens bank of Portland with the notation, "no account." Mayers, carrying a Multnomah license, and his bride aroused Dr. Sanders at 2 p. m. Sunday, February 18. Mayers explained that he had made the check larger than the legal fee because of his appreciation of the accommodation of Dr. Sanders. The latter gave the check to Mrs. Byers, register of the county clerk's office here revealed that the marriage certificate was signed by Misses Violet and Velma Mercer, sisters of the bride and witness, before the party left the city.

Mayers gave a check of $5 on the Citizens bank to a service station to pay for gasoline. It, too, was returned. The second check was signed with the name James Rudell.

Lepers Appeal for Guitars To Leston Island Monotony. MANILA, (AP)—Musical instruments are among the things asked for as presents by many of the lepers in the colony of 5,000 on Cullion Island. The monotony of life in the colony and the depressing effect of the surroundings tend to increase the wails of the lepers, and for this reason they want music to help infuse an optimistic spirit into their lives.

SAGE TEA KEEPS YOUR HAIR DARK

When Mixed With Sulphur It Brings Back its Beautiful Lustre At Once

Gray hair, however handsome, denotes advancing age. We all know the advantages of a youthful appearance. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. It fades, turns gray and looks streaked, just a few applications of Sage Tea and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundred-fold.

Don't stay gray! Look young! Either prepare the recipe at home or get from any drug store a bottle of "Weyl's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which is merely the old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients. Thousands of folks recommend this ready-to-use preparation, because it darkens the hair beautifully, besides, no one can possibly tell, as it darkens so naturally and evenly. You moisten a sponge or soft brush with it, drawing this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears. When you have applied or two, its natural color is restored and it becomes thick, glossy and lustrous, and you appear years younger.
