A Good Place to Trade

WEEK FINDS PARK ACTIVE

Godsey was called to La Grande on business recently.

Frank Wigglesworth hauled a four horse load of furniture from Raymo Flat to his new home at the Park.

Clarence Vanorder met his son-in-law, Frank Wigglesworth, half way between the Park and Union, taking the load of furniture across the summit. The loads are quite heavy and much snow interfering on the long grade over the mountain.

Joseph Lay went to Baker with a load of live hogs for the market. The roads are in fair condition but way considering the early season.

Miss Clara Lay went back to Union to resume her studies at the high school after a visit with her parents since Saturday.

Henry Miller of Cove, with his niece, Mrs. Lydia Vandervanter, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Vanorder one day last week.

Mrs. Irene Grange, Portland, writes that she was informed that her patent for her homestead on the South Fork had arrived from Washington and is at the land office in La Grande.

Albert Brinker, a homesteader on the South Fork was in Portland from La Grande on business.

It was reported that Lewis Greenough went to Perry, where he is working in a logging camp.

Miss Franka E. Hunter called up her parents on the phone from La Grande. She states that she will stay in La Grande during the spring.

George Weight is moving his furniture and stock to the Wm. Wigglesworth ranch at Raymo Flat, which he has leased.

It was learned that Lon Welch, who sold out his big farm at the Creek and had located somewhere near The Dalles, has bought another farm in Big Creek and will return to his former community.

Friends are elated over the news, on Lon and his family were greatly appreciated by the Big Creek people in a good and neighborly family.

There will be a hard time dance at George Lowley's place at the Creek. Several people from the Park are preparing to attend the ball.

Mr. John Wigglesworth, Raymo Flat, will visit with her husband's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wigglesworth, in Union, a few days before she will go to occupy their new home at the Park.

It is understood that W. Wigglesworth will run his ranch in partnership with George Wright, while the family will remain in Union their present home.

Ed Gilchrist was in town Tuesday.

Roy Jones was a Union visitor Saturday.

At Hopedahl was in La Grande on business Thursday.

A. J. Vandervanter was at the Medical Spring store on business last Tuesday.

Strolling.

TRACK STAR HOLDS RECORD
EUGENE, Ore.—Oregon track athletes are holders, or joint holders, of five Pacific coast records, according to Trainer Bill Hayward. Dan Kelly, great Oregon jumper and sprinter, set the coast record in the 100-yard dash with Paddock and Deane at 2-3-3 seconds. He also set the mark, now jointly held by Paddock, in the 220, at 21.1-5 seconds. Kelly also made the broad jump record of 24 feet 2 1-2 inches.

Paint
Paint or repair—which?
THE house that is neglected, that is painted with inferior paint, quickly succumbs to the attacks of the elements. The unprotected surface is eaten into by the rot and decay that follow rain and moisture.

SUN-PROOF PAINT
will protect your home. The sun's rays cannot blister its hardy coat. Sun-Proof is elastic. It contracts and expands with heat and cold. No moisture can seep through. Sun-Proof is non-perishable.

URGE CONTROL FOR ATHLETICS

Experts Recommend That Faculty "Heavy Hand" Be Placed on College Sports.

NEW-YORK (AP)—Placing the control of athletic policies and practices entirely in the hands of the president and faculty of a college, together with conscientious effort on the part of each institution to eliminate abuses within its own walls, would dissipate many of the evils charged against intercollegiate athletics. In the opinion of a committee of the Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools of the Southern states...

HARRY M. JEWETT FAMOUS ATHLETE IN YOUNGER DAYS

65 years of teachers now in attendance at the school.

Harry M. Jewett, president of the Toledo-Detroit Motor Car company, was a nationally known athlete in his younger days. While a catcher on the Notre Dame University team, he caught the hot ones pitched by Bert (Lefty) Laha, who later became a famous major league baseball pitcher.

In 1896, Goshen, Ind., was one of the chief contenders for athletic fame that met Notre Dame team.

Those were the days when catchers didn't use a heavy mitt. A glove similar to the fashionable kid gloves of the present day was in vogue then.

It's that ball that had Jewett's arm nearly paralyzed. He couldn't throw to first base fast enough to put the runner out on the third strike as was necessary in those days. His ability as a sprinter showed how as he would run after the batter had caught him every time. This so enraged the Goshenites that they "tanned" the catcher on their return game. He was asked to race with a "local Goshen messenger boy." It turned out that the "messenger boy" was a runner of national fame.

Anticipating Jewett's being beat on the Goshenites had placed their last nickel on the result. In the meantime, the students at Notre Dame had not been idle. The visitors had come to South Bend from Goshen in packs they had hired for the occasion. The students laid off the hack drivers informing them they would not be needed for the return trip. The hack drivers went home. Jewett won.

"You know I never did hear just how long it took those fellows to walk home," said Mr. Jewett while reminiscing lately.

O. A. C. BASEBALL PRACTICE STARTS IN EARNEST TODAY

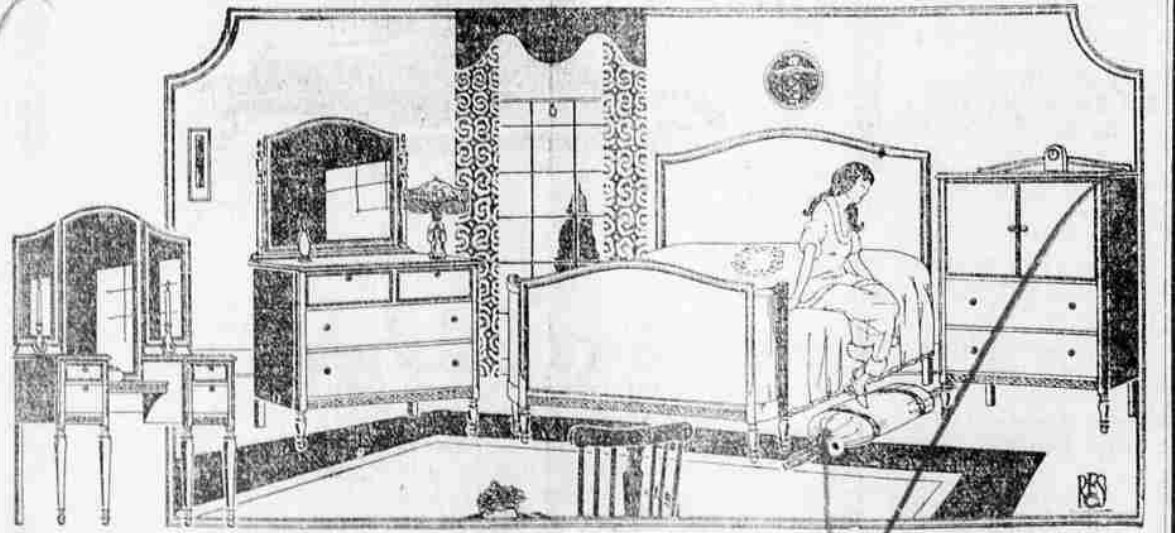

Regular varsity baseball practice is scheduled to start in earnest today at O. A. C.

With the first hint of spring men started coming out but this far practice has been confined to throwing the ball.

Batteries have been out getting their arms into condition. It is estimated that only 1.3 per cent of the girls who win beauty contests can make good tennis players.
