Beauty Hints

The Goddess Girl.

There are certain types of beauty whose asset is their naturalness, and who are spoiled by any suggestion of sophistication or artificiality. Such a type is the fair beauty who inherits her blonde hair, blue eyes, and full, vigorous build from some far Nordic ancestor.

Cove (Special)—A dancing party will be held at the Macabee hall on Monday, March 17. This is a library benefit dance and will be in the natural shade. During the indoor months, if additional color is needed in the cheeks the new daylight rouge manufacturers will be found to blend with the light coloring of the skin and hair. The attractiveness of the Norse beauty, for me repeat, is in her health and vigor, the inheritance from Viking forebears, so that to her it is vital to get plenty of fresh air and vigorous exercise. Wherein her habits differ may like to sit by the fire on stormy, windy days. Mrs. Brunhilda will find it not only to her liking, but also very much to her well being to put on warm sport clothes and take a brisk walk. In summer, she may swim, row, and play tennis to her heart's content. It will not only add to her health but to her beauty. Of course she will acquire sunburn or tan, in this type very easily done; in this case, peaches, an outdoor power with a tan shade may be used to blend with the warmer tone of the skin.

NEW TOWERS INSTALLED BY DAVENPORT STATION DAVENPORT, Ia. (INS)—If you notice that WOC comes in stronger and clearer than usual some evening, you will be sure to assume the new towers as support for the transmitting antenna are in use. The new towers stand on the old buildings, although new base construction was necessary. The tops of the towers are 170 feet from the roof and 210 feet above the street, towering 50 feet above the old WOC towers, once the pride of the Davenport station.

The additional height of the aerial will bring the natural oscillating period of the antenna circuit to a point considerably above WOC's operating wavelength, and it is expected the operating efficiency will be increased.

An old-timer is one who can remember when the woman who used powder on her neck was considered daring.

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea with sulphur added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and lustrous. Just a few applications will prove a revelation if your hair is fading, stayed or gray. Mixing the Sage and Sulphur recipe at her own length, as troublesome. All that is to do is to mix a bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound at any drug store all ready for use. This is the old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients.

While wispy, gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, no one can tell because it does, it is so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared, and, after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and lustrous.

Characterizing the sending of marines to Teapot as an "outrageous use of military force," Senator Walsh charged that armed forces were used because Fall and Sinclair did not want to precipitate court action in which would be raised the question of the validity of the loan made by Fall.

"You learned in school," said Walsh to Roosevelt, "that military power is always subordinated to civil power in the United States."

"Yes," Roosevelt answered. "As you look at it now, isn't it outrageous use of military power?" asked Walsh.

"Well, Senator, I would have to look up the law and check facts. As I looked at it, it was navy property," replied Roosevelt.

CIPHER SHARK WAS BOTANIST

W. F. Friedman's Work in Deciphering the Oil Scandal Telegrams Revives Memories.

WASHINGTON, D.C. (L.N.S.)—Employment of W. F. Friedman, War Department code and cipher expert, to decode the McLean-Burns-Doherty code telegrams, recalls national work done by Friedman for the government during the World War. It recalls, also, the story of how Friedman, a botanical professor at the University of Wisconsin, became the nation's greatest cipher expert through the world-wide controversy of Bacon and Shakespeare.

It was Friedman, then in the employ of Colonel D. F. Fabian, millionaire Chicago haberdasher and millionaire of the German plot to start a revolution in India against England, which resulted in the unmasking of German Consul Franz Bopp, at San Francisco, and numerous German and Hindoo spies throughout the country.

Bored German Note. The translation of the Zimmerman note was considered by the State Department to have been responsible for keeping powerful elements in Mexico from aiding Germany by border raids and other bigger schemes. It was what is known as the "Star Cipher," one of the most difficult in cryptology, and consisted of six mixed alphabets—a device invented centuries ago by the French Admiral Bazaris and apparently lost since then.

The Hindoo conspiracy letters apparently were harmless, but consisted of a code word thrown in here and there. The code words were selected from a book of Chicago booklets, and he dramatically rushed into Federal court with the translation as the trial was closing. Colonel Fabian, educated at his own expense at his estate at Geneva, Illinois, eighty-six intelligence officers of the army early in the war, and the instruction was given by Friedman and his wife, a Vassar graduate, who is also an expert cryptologist. This instruction, the only cipher training given the American army during the war, was invaluable in France, and Friedman, physically unable to enlist in the army, was given a special commission and stationed at Pershing's headquarters, where he supervised the deciphering of the German secret messages.

Worked as Botanist. Fabian hired Friedman, a plant culture expert, from the University of Wisconsin, to take charge of his gardens at Geneva before the war. At the time the eccentric millionaire was engaged in the Shakespeare-Bacon controversy, he lived a professor of English from Harvard to go to England
