The Claude Scranton party which was to have arrived last evening was detained in Hood River on account of motor trouble, according to word brought by Mrs. Charles Bingner who was with them but returned by train this morning. Marcus Roesch of La Grande, towed the car from a joint just beyond Hood River into the city where the motorists were detained. In the party are Claude Scranton, Phyllis and Gertrude Scranton, Lois Nelson and Bernard Hummell.

Country Club Being Improved—

About 12 men are busy on the Country club golf course putting it in order for summer playing. The whole course is being raked by hand and all rocks and other obstacles are being removed to enable a mower to be run on the grass later on. A Holt caterpillar tractor has come in handy in moving large rocks and has been in regular use for a number of days. This work is in line with the program set by the committee for improving the course. Other improvements to be added later as the opportunity is provided are tile in the ditches, irrigation of the course, new tees to be set at shorter distances to the greens to be used by women beginners, grass on the fairways, sand bunkers and other facilities for making the course better.

Golden Geerisen, formerly of Union, has accepted a position with the Standard Oil company in La Grande.

Recovering Nicely—

L. Couch, of Wallowa, is receiving the congratulations of his friends who are glad to see him recovering nicely from an injury to his leg that occurred about four months ago. He is now able to walk with the aid of crutches and his condition is continuing to improve.

will be used to defray expenses of the coming track season. In spite of an unusually successful track season the student body is at present in debt on account of the greater number of activities which have been engaged in this year.

The high school is seething with activity these days. After schools, of evenings and in fact almost any time of the day from somewhere in the basement perhaps, or from one of the other portions of the building sounds of music, dialogue, or some other sound which can be identified as belonging to the show can be heard. Much new talent has been discovered in the tryouts for this season's show and it is really surprising what a variety of entertainment has been planned for the event. Like an old fashioned pudding the program is full of spice and variety and an unusually enjoyable evening can be anticipated with no fear of disappointment.

This will give you an idea of the size of our Spring Suit Stock—
Last Thursday our Mr. Dobbins was waiting on a young man for a Michaels-Stern Spring Suit.
He wore a size 38 and tried on several.
During the investigation of models our customer, absent mindedly, took from the pocket of his own vest a certain important memorandum and quite unconsciously placed it in the coat pocket of one of our Spring Suits.
Which one? That was the question!
We looked and looked—through pockets of suits size 38 and it was fully 20 minutes before we found it.

M. E. CHURCH TO CELEBRATE

"Family Dinner" to Be Held Tonight Marking Close of Educational Campaign.

The members and friends of the First Methodist Episcopal church will hold a "family" dinner tonight at 6 o'clock in the dining room of the church. This dinner will mark the close of a stewardship educational campaign extending over five weeks during which time more than 10,000 pages of literature has been distributed to the families of the church. The entire membership and constituency was divided into two groups, and a contest for the most pages read has been on in earnest. The final number of pages read, and the winning side is to be announced at the dinner tonight.

The pastor announced that already very large and gratifying results have obtained from the intensive study and investigation of the subject of Christian stewardship. A musical and literary program will be given after the dinner tonight.

German Actors Idle in U. S.

BERLIN, (AP) — The Actors' Association has issued a warning to theatrical performers against going to the United States unless they have sufficient funds to tide them over several months. The warning followed the receipt of many hard luck letters from German actors now in the United States and unable to get work.

TRACK WORK STARTS TODAY

About Three Score and Ten Men to Try Out for L. H. S. Squad.

High school track aspirants will have their first workout this evening after school following an Assembly held yesterday by Coach MacTavish for the purpose of creating interest and enthusiasm in the coming track season.

About 75 men, or practically all of the eligible men in school signed up to try out. It is MacTavish's intention this year to create a track team which will have several men good for each event instead of having two or four who do all the work as is often the case in schools the size of La Grande. Another reason for getting all the men out is to work up material for future years.

The first practices will be in the form of light workouts to loosen up stiff muscles gradually and give the men a start on "wind". Very little actual training work will be accomplished before Friday or the first of the week, by which time MacTavish expects to have all men in spikes, ready to start.

Grading on the track has been started and the new 440 yard oval should be ready for use soon.

Improper Diet Brings End To Berlin's War Elephant

BERLIN (AP)—Mary, perhaps the only elephant in the world who "did her bit" in the great war, died recently at the Berlin zoo where she had been a resident the best part of 25 years. Death was due to a complication of diseases brought on, it was thought by experts, by an improper diet. Children this winter have been feeding horse chestnuts.

Mary first saw the light of civilization when she was captured some 45 years ago by Carl Hagenbeck and was used in Africap jungles to lure other elephants to captivity. During the war, when every available horse was at the front, Mary was used to drag wagons about the Berlin streets, and sometimes she hauled great strings of them.

HUNT'S LETTER

followed by 1911 of Washington. Portfolios packs as committeemen arrange their papers and the hands of the clock approach 10 a. m.—the hour set for the hearing.

10 o'clock. Senator Walsh announces that inasmuch as the members wish to read over some telegrams that not previously studied, the committee will go into executive session. The room must therefore be cleared.

10 to 10:10. Indignant but privately voiced protests among the early arrivals at having to give up their choice seats. Wonder if they will be able to get back in.

10:10 to 10:15. Crowd blocking corridors outside wonders why it wouldn't have been simpler for the three members of the committee to have withdrawn to private office rather than drive 200 spectators from committee room.

10:20. Senator Smoot enters committee room.

10:25. Senator Smoot leaves committee room.

11 o'clock. Corridor standees still standing in corridor. Air thick with smoke and adjectives.

11:20. Doors opened again. Frantic rush inside. Late comers get good seats, early arrivals crowded to rear or find standing room only. Senator Walsh puts on nose glasses. Senator Ladd raps for order. John Major, "confidential" man for Ned McLean, called to stand.

11:25. Senators Moses, Kendrick, Bursum and Adams arrive. Walsh begins examination. Necks are craned. Ears are strained.

Major tells about telegrams he sent McLean and telegrams McLean sent him. He identifies code messages. Says he never used Department of Justice code. Had one of his own which he worked up, supplying McLean with duplicate.

"How many codes did McLean use?" Walsh asks.

"That makes me laugh," answers Major. "The 'menagerie' code hasn't come out here. That identified individuals as 'The Lion,' 'The Bear,' 'The Walrus,' etc."

"And there was the one about 'Apples,' 'Peaches,' 'Cherries' and 'Prunes,' suggested Walsh.

More questioning. More testimony. The clock shows 12:45.

"That's all," Walsh announces, tomorrow," says Senator Ladd, dismissing the witness.

Major stands up, wipes his round face and bald head with a blue-bordered handkerchief, then grins broadly.

"I'm glad," he declares. "Makes a fellow nervous up here."

"Senate adjourned till 10 o'clock dismissing the witness.

"I'm glad," he declares. "Makes a fellow nervous up here."

"Senate adjourned till 10 o'clock tomorrow," says Senator Ladd, speaking for the first time.

Put senators, witnesses, newspaper folk and spectators.

Of course we can't recognize the fools. They shoot the rich instead of taxing them to death.
