

SPRING COLORS

Spring is the season of freshness, of gaiety, of brightness. Now fashions are most appealing and sooty of the colors that emphasize the beauty and smartness of the mode are listed below:

Black—alone, or with touches of white constitutes a fashion favorite. Lustrous black silks add to fashion's smartness, touched up by a few pearls, a gardenia or a bit of trimming.

Navy Blue—is important for frocks of tweed for the smart three-quarter length coat, or the costume suit. The severe tulle or in very practical and smart of navy blue.

Brickdust—One of the new red tones which is blowing its way down the fashion highway. Popular for sports frocks, particularly. It's almost the shade of brick, a bit lighter.

Porcelain—A soft blue, somewhat like the old Dresden blues, with a bit of a greenish cast. Lovely enough and bright enough to replace a smart woman by many women this Spring.

Artichoke—A new shade of green which is receiving rapid recognition. It is darker than the almond green which is a carry-over from last season, lighter than most greens. Sports dresses and frocks for informal wear in this shade are very popular.

Oriental Red—Reds are among fashion's favorites this Spring, and Oriental Red, a lovely dull Chinese red—a cross between lacquer and brilliant Chinese red—top the list.

Oxford—Dark oxford grays, in covert cloth or men's suitings are going very strong for the manly tailor. Becoming to many women.

SPRING FABRICS

Spring has her fabrics as well as her colors and silhouettes, and when you are choosing your spring frock, suit, blouse or vest, here is a guide to go by.

Jacquard Twill—The twill family still asserts its style importance. A real chic among the new twills for sport is Jacquard twill, a twill with an elaborate design woven on the Jacquard loom.

Covert Charmeen—Covert weaves are very important for suits and dresses. Covert Charmeen is particularly new and good, a medium weight fabric, a cross between twill and a covert.

Bouquette—Knitted fabrics have leaped into style eminence the past few seasons. And straight of all knitted fabrics for Spring is Bouquette, a knitted fabric which gives a loop effect—very much like Turkish traveling easy much finer.

Kasha—This fabric still retains its fashion prestige for informal frocks and suits and for capes. It is a fabric something like rough, coarse cottons.

Charmeuse—The satin family has already proved its popularity. Charmeuse, a member of this brilliant family, is a light weight, rich looking soft satin with a dull back.

Alpaca—may belong to many families. Some of it is rough and wooly. Some sleek and smooth. But most of it does it resemble mohair. Important for sports and street dresses and for suits.

Bengaline—Ribbed and corded silks are surging to the fore. And Bengaline fashions many a smart garment this season. It is a corded silk, similar to tulle, poplin, but a little heavier.

Practically every boy in school turned out for the initial track training after school last evening and Coach MacTavish now has his hands full organizing and locating the men in their respective events.

By far the greater majority have never had any previous track training and so are absolutely at sea as to what they are capable of doing or which events to train for. MacTavish expects to straighten out this condition by the end of the week and have the men placed for real work next week.

La Grande's first meet is with Union on April fifth so not much time remains for training. But with the practice program lined up right things should be well started by that time.
