NEW CHRYSLER CAR IS HERE

New Automobile Will Be Shown in the American Legion Automobile Show This Week.

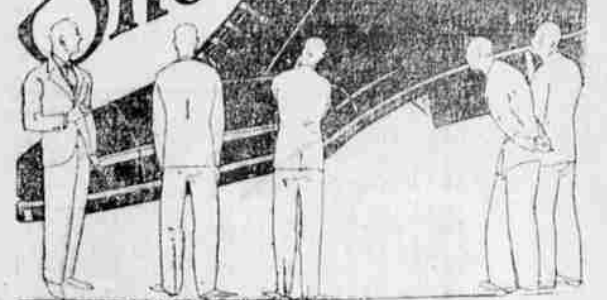

"In all the history of the automobile industry it is probable that no new car or no new model has attracted more attention or discussion than the new Chrysler car which was announced to the motorist world a short time ago," states Chase Bohnenkamp, backed by a publicity campaign that is acknowledged to be a marvel. The new car has taken a firm hold on the public fancy.

The first of the new models to arrive at La Grande has just been received by the W. H. Bohnenkamp Co., local distributors, and will be shown for the first time at the automobile show. This is one of the finest models. The company also expects to have one of the finest models here in time to include in their display.

Outstanding features of the new car are extreme flexibility, very easy riding and driving qualities due to a new form of spring mounting, Chrysler-locked hydraulic four wheel brakes, seven bearing crankshaft, tubular front axle and many other points of superiority seldom found in cars selling at their price, according to Mr. Bohnenkamp.

He calls special attention to the light weight and extremely high power and speed of the new Chrysler. "Ready for the road the open model only weighs 2575 pounds. The car is capable of a speed of better than 75 miles per hour although the motor size is only 200 cubic inch displacement. In appearance the car differs from the conventional type in that it is lower than is usual and has a distinctively foreign appearance. No showing of the new car will be made until the opening of the show on Thursday night," he concluded.

WALLOWA LAKE AGAIN A MECCA

Enterprise People Visit Beautiful Body of Water Over the Week-End.

ENTERPRISE, Ore. (Special to the Observer)—A large number of automobile parties from this city took advantage of today's spring weather to visit Wallowa lake Sunday. On their return they thrilled everyone with the account of the beauty they encountered on the trip and passed out the advice that a trip to Enterprise was incomplete without a visit to this wonderful lake with its gorgeous natural surroundings. Guy Holton, Walter Ingram and Walter Reiter, of La Grande, were weekend visitors at the Goller hotel. H. L. Lidy, a visitor here Sunday used to live in Enterprise but is now located in Baker on account of business interests. He frequently spends the week end here, however, and is always a guest at the Goller. The Nicholas-Urick and Company corporation are plaintiffs against Peter Danton, of the Danton Livestock corporation, et al. This is a foreclosure action with 41 defendants involved and it promises to be a hard fight, legally legal battle. P. C. Massey, E. P. Jackson and

W. Coffin, all of Portland, were Goller guests Monday. They were here on business.

Robert Holland has the undeniable distinction of being the only prisoner in the Enterprise county jail at the present. He is being held on a "fictitious check" accusation subject to investigation by the grand jury.

F. A. McPherson, of Walla Walla, Wash., representing the Lasky-Pamons Players moving picture corporation, was in Enterprise Monday and was registered at the Goller hotel.

APPLE APHIS IS FOUND CORVALLIS—Prevalence of apple aphid in Oregon apple orchards in more than usual numbers is indicated in several surveys, reported A. L. Lovett, entomologist of the experiment station. Early spring days following an open winter have been exceptionally favorable to aphid development.

"The early hatching period, however, is favorable to the orchardist," said Professor Lovett. "Apparently all the aphid are coming out quite uniformly, indicating better than average success with the delayed dormant spray of nicotine sulfate."

CELLAR IS NOT FOR ATHLETICS

Writer Believes There is Something in Mack's Claim of Having a Good Team.

(By David Walsh)

NEW YORK, (INS)—Hold your hats, place both feet firmly upon the ground, pin back your ears, look at the man for your nearest neighbor, do not run.

Connie Mack has announced that he will have a real ball club this year. You love that?

It is hard to believe with all the evidence of the past few years that the old man from the South, street cleaner, becomes aware of the fact that all these have gutters, bathing tubs, and a claim that he has a good team.

Spring here, Connie has made it official.

At this time it begins to look as though he might not be so far wrong, after ten years of empty promises. With the stars he has called from the minor league fields, this is a more or less plausible reason from the 1922 team. The Athletics appear to have something in the nine uniforms and the right to cut at the regular hour.

Mack's last season's feat was they can place eight men in the field with a team batting average of .295. This represents the first evidence of real pinch the Athletics have numbered since their championship days of long ago.

Definitely, the club is a good one. If there is a fine young first baseman, Max Baer, the pitcher of the minor leagues, is at second, Chick Galloway is a first-class shortstop, and Simmons, Strand and Miller form a real outfield on paper. Simmons and Strand were the hitting stars of the American Association and the Coast League, respectively, last season, but have not to get by on the big time. Baer declares they will.

Perhaps behind the bat, needs only the background of a first division club to be recognized as the leading pitcher of the American League. The pitchers — Rummel, Mast, Harris, Helms and Naylor — lacked consistency in other years, but are able to find themselves pronto. They are really major league men and all.

First question? There appears to be a unanimity of opinion that the 1924 Athletics will reach this goal. Perhaps they even will go so far as to make good Connie Mack's annual prediction at last and furnish a real dominant contender.

About the only thing the rich and poor have in common for breakfast is a grout.

JACK DEMESSEY GIVEN THREE MAJOR OFFERS

NEW YORK (By the Associated Press)—Jack Demessey has a million dollar motion picture offer and two championship fight bids from which to select in accepting his 1924 program of action.

This was disclosed Monday by the heavyweight titleholder's manager, Jack Kearns, who said he would leave Tuesday for Los Angeles for a final conference with motion picture interests and also with James J. Corbett, California promoter, who has renewed his bid to Demessey for a title bout with Larry Williams, champion of the world.

The motion picture offer came from Carl Laemmle, head of a large producing company, Keenan said.

The other bids, but was made by Tex Rickard for a title match in or near New York in September with the "best available contender." Rickard indicated he preferred to stage a return bout between Demessey and Lou Brock, but if the Argentine hold to his present intention to retire, the promoter would seek an opponent from other contenders, including Wills, Jack Remond, Quinto Romero-Rojas of Chile, and Ermino Pallas, European.

$1,500 purse for the winning jockey.

While there will be a number of jockeys right up to the eye of the race, eagerly looked forward to by the classic of the far-western turf, the railbirds are already beginning to select their favorites. All morning there is a steady hand-to-hand of "placers" at the track boxes, examining the steppers in their trial spins.

In stable and grandstand mood of the talk is about the big race, and many a track follower, jockey, trainer and owner will stake a whole season's winnings on his judgment in making the victor of the mile-and-a-quarter struggle.

Haines to Celebrate July 4

HAINES, Ore.—The first steps toward the celebration of the 4th of July were taken in Haines when about 50 citizens met at the city hall to consider plans for the celebration. It was the unanimous opinion that the celebration will be in the nature of a three-day outdoor entertainment, which may include the annual wild west features of the Haines Stampede, which has been staged formerly at a much earlier date. A committee will meet with the city council at the next regular meeting of that body to outline further plans for the celebration and exhibition.
