Visiting Baker

J. A. Russell, of La Grande, was a business visitor in Baker yesterday.

CAN WE USE YOUR LIBRARY TABLE AS A SHOW CASE?

Most things look different in your own home but we are such strong believers in our clothing and in our values that your own surroundings won't dismantle their attractiveness.

We shall, upon word from you, be glad to send to your home a nice selection of Michael's-Stern Spring Suits, and instead of talking to clothing salesmen you can talk the matter over with your own family.

You can decide on the model right there in front of your own hearth—you can decide on the material sitting on your own davenport—and if you want to compare values—there is no fairer sentence for having some suits on approval from other stores at the same time.

Michael's-Stern Value First Suits go home to make friends $25.00 to $57.50 See our display at the Auto Show place there will soon be permanent ones erected.

The remainder of yesterday's lunch hour was devoted to listening to Andrew C. Miller, of the Bankers' association, who explained the McNary-Haugen wheel export bill now before congress. Mr. Miller gave quite a lengthy prologue to his talk describing conditions in wheat growing sections, each of which is reflected in the every day life of Grande people, and his descriptions of poor business conditions among the farmers was already legend to many of the chamber of commerce members. His remedy is the McNary-Haugen bill which has been discussed many times at length in the Evening Observer during the past few weeks.

necessity of securing aid for the wheat growers and farmers are more and more certain that the measure can become law. The action of the senate in voting down the McNary-Haugen bill leaves the field clear for this measure which will enable the sale of the exportable surplus of wheat and other commodities.

"Good bankers and economists who have studied the problem of the farmer and the need of definite and immediate relief for the food producer are more and more inclined to unite on this measure as one that will do more than any other suggested remedy, and we are greatly encouraged in the probability of a successful end to the fight which Senator McNary is making to get this legislation to President Coolidge for his signature."

HUNT'S LETTER

ate, approved of some of the matter to be developed in the Department investigation, sought to ease their fears for the party by getting Daugherty out of the cabinet. The party seems were being applied to the White House to force Daugherty out when Adams intervened.

He saved the day for Daugherty—at least until Daugherty has had his day in court. Whether by saving Daugherty he also saved the party is yet to be seen. But at least he blocked what might later have been shown as a hasty, undisciplined and damaging maneuver.

A pink-cheeked, gray-haired, unassuming little man of 62 in Adams, who for 42 years has been engaged in making deers and windows, such out in Dubuque, Iowa. Thousands of families all through the middle west look at life through window-shades built by Adams. He likes to think of his life's work in terms of the vistas revealed through his window-shades.

This sentimental, meditative trait is also revealed in his conversation. The quietest, softest-spoken man one will find in Washington, outside the Department of Justice. As he sits in his job as chairman of the Republican committee is not to protect first the candidates of individuals holding or seeking to hold office under the party. It is to maintain intact the machinery of the party organization itself.

Certain offices lost, even certain campaigns lost, are preferable to loss of organization discipline and control. Keep calm. Keep cool. Don't lose morale. Never admit error. Speak softly—but fight hard.

posed of G. L. Dutton, Elmer Stoddard, George Blinn and Sherwood Williams put out some of the best harmony ever heard locally and are always covered a number of times at every appearance.

What might be said to be the most "musical" skill on the program will be that given by the Pumpkin Center Rube orchestra in their interpretation of some modern American music. The members of this group prefer to remain incognito but are all well known La Grande people.

clever whistling act is undoubtedly one of the ordinary run. Mr. Combs appeared recently at an entertainment given by the M. T. A. and received a quantity of applause.

Andrew Loney, director of the La Grande municipal band, and one of the premiere cornetists in the state and Frank Robinson, trombonist, will render several duets of classical numbers. These two have played together in musical engagements for the past 16 years and have worked up some new pieces for this occasion, which are sure to be exceptionally good.

Miss Kathleen Campbell, soprano, has sung so often before La Grande audiences the past few months that she needs scarcely any introduction. Her many admirers will be glad to hear her again.

Walter Bennett Gives Additional Evidence

Stomach Trouble of 5 Years Standing Is Overcome by Tanlac—Feels Fine Now.

"I can take a dose of Tanlac before meals and eat all I want without fear of it hurting me," says Walter Bennett, 602 W. Adams St., Oregon City, Oregon, a member of the Chamber of Commerce here.

"Off and on for five years I had suffered more or less from indigestion. Finally, about a year ago, my stomach got in such a fix that for two months straight I could scarcely keep down anything I would eat. The gas on my stomach would almost cut off my breath. I lost weight continually, and got so run-down and miserable that I felt dependent and discouraged.

"I tried nearly everything, only to meet with disappointment until I got Tanlac. Right before my eyes Tanlac did me of every sign of my trouble and built me up to my right pounds. That means, I am feeling fine and Tanlac gets all the credit."

"Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitutes. Over 40 million bottles sold."
