

NEWS of SOCIETY

A charming affair took place last evening when Dr. and Mrs. J. L. Ingie entertained the Clio club at the Country club. The evening was very enjoyably spent at eleven tables of bridge, with high score for the club prize going to Mrs. F. L. Babin and Norman Press, and high score for the guest prize going to Mrs. C. D. Putnam and A. J. Shupe.

The club rooms were tastefully decorated with beautiful spring flowers and with such a spirit prevailing everyone spent a most delightful evening, after which a delicious two course luncheon was served.

The Greenwood Parent-Teachers' association will give an entertaining in the high school auditorium on Friday evening, March 28 at 8:00 o'clock. There will be two plays, one a two act comedy entitled "Mrs. Oakley's Telephone," and another entitled "For Distinguished Service." Readings, piano solo, comic songs and orchestra selections will also be featured.

The proceeds of this delightful entertainment are to go into the Greenwood Parent-Teachers' association treasury, the money to make up the hot lunch deficit and start a fund to buy a "movie" machine to be used in teaching history and geography.

Many laughs and thrills are assured all who attend and a large crowd is desired.

The Parent-Teachers' association of Central school will hold their regular meeting Friday afternoon, March 28, at 2:45 o'clock, in the high school auditorium, with the Riveria Parent-Teachers' association as guests. An interesting program has been arranged which will be followed by the serving of refreshments and a delightful social hour.

Anyone desiring to become a member of the association is requested to pay their dues at this meeting as dues must be sent to the State association by March 31.

The birthday anniversary of Mrs. Oltes Harnden was the inspiration of a delightful surprise party last evening at her home on V avenue. The evening was pleasantly spent at cards after which a delicious luncheon was served.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Oltes Harnden, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Lane, Mr. and Mrs. James O'Neal, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Riley, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. McCure, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Heaney, Mrs. A. B. Shannon, William and Elmer Harnden, Doris Shannon, Helen May Lane and Ethel and George Harnden.

The W. B. A. met yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Oltes Harnden and a delightful afternoon was spent. One very interesting feature of the afternoon was a guessing contest in which Mrs. C. L. Mackey won high honors. Mrs. D. Norris also won the prize in another guessing contest.

Mrs. Harnden's home was beautifully decorated in accordance with the occasion and before adjournment a delicious luncheon was served. Those assisting as hostess were Mrs. W. L. Lane, Mrs. Walter Pehrman, Mrs. Bayliff, Mrs. Ralph Potter, Mrs. Sam Harris and Mrs. Marvin Heaney.

Those present were Mrs. Flora Stuart, Mrs. Hickey, Mrs. A. B. Shannon, Mrs. J. D. O'Neal, Mrs. Catherine Erickson, Deputy Superintendent Commander from Portland, Mrs. Vera Murelhon, Mrs. C. L. Mackey, Mrs. Ethel Jack, Mrs. Grace Strauss, Mrs. Roe Buchanan, Mrs. Bernice Bramwell, Mrs. Mae Riley, Mrs. Fay Blanchard, Mrs.

Pink

The use of the wide cape on the thin summer frock is novel indeed, and charming, too, as you can easily see. Embroidery in pink is combined with flax lace to trim this lingerie frock which is of the finest white tulle.

Eggs (Special)—The Ladies Aid of the Methodist church spent a delightful social afternoon recently at the home of Mrs. E. C. Hug. They spent the afternoon work hours in tying a comfort and later a very pleasing program was carried out and delicious refreshments were served.

Medical Springs (Special)—Mr. and Mrs. Lee Whelan entertained with an excellent dinner recently. Covers were laid for eight and following the serving of a delicious dinner the evening was pleasantly spent socially.

The Garden

THE TENANTS' FLORAL STANDBY

Annals are the flowers for tenants to attempt. A few peonies of seed sown in the spring will give him a may display all summer and if he decides to move the next year he is not nothing and only repeat on the next lot he occupies. May 1, moving day, gives ample opportunity to get a garden going in time to have a lavish display from July until killing frost.

While a center would hesitate to expend any large sums of money on perennials and bulbs which he could not move, he may very easily get as much display from plants that complete their life cycle in one season. Thick and front porches may be veiled from the hot summer sun with morning glories, scarlet runner, wild cucumber, hyacinth-beans, and the brilliant cardinal climber. Unightly back fences may be screened with those same vines all from a first or May start. For in these perennials of the country annals may be planted up to the middle of the month and even into June with certainty of a fine return in bloom.

Supplementing the summer annals are some of the summer bulbs such as gladiolus and tuberose, which are taken up in the fall and are as movable as any of the household utensils or a bag of onions.

A beautiful garden is as easy a proposition for a temporary dweller as it is for a home owner. There is a remarkable variety of annals for all purposes, tall and dwarf,

NEWLYWEDS TO GO NORTH

Two Years to Be Spent on An Island in the Frozen Northland, Is Report.

NEW YORK (INS)—There was a woman who went to South Africa as a bride and enjoyed a perfectly delightful honeymoon. Telling a bride to the South Sea Islands or the Riviera, or some such impossible place, has become more or less customary to those who are not limited to Niagara Falls—but here's a man who is going to take his bride on a honeymoon in the Arctic. And it's going to last two years at that!

He is Captain Harold Noise, his bride, who was Miss Frances Allison, once spent a brief time in Nome, Alaska; but she has enjoyed or endured, as the case may be, no other much colder weather than she has experienced in her home on Englewood Cliff, N. J., or in the Adirondacks.

Captain Noise is an explorer, from love and from experience. He returned from Wrangell island only recently, after he had headed a relief expedition there that arrived just a bit too late to serve its purpose. Mrs. Noise is a musician of ability and also is well known in society.

She is keen about this honeymoon idea. The prospect of spending two years with her husband, sharing him with no one or nothing but a few scattered Eskimos, is delightful to her. He, too, is keen on the same grounds. And the Eskimos, who have had nothing whatever to say about it, also are probably certain to be keen, because Captain Noise expects to benefit them in many ways.

First White Woman—The honeymooners are going to live on an island. A bit of a place it is, hardly more than a blot on the map which shows the northern coast of North America many times magnified from the usual map. It is called King William Island, and it is just at the edge of the Northwest Passage.

Speaking of the Northwest Passage recalls, too, that Mrs. Noise, when she goes north, will have an added distinction. More than being the first white woman to spend a honeymoon on King William Island, she will be the first white woman ever to go there and she also will be the first white woman ever to attempt to negotiate the Northwest Passage—useful no harmless outdoor sport.

They will leave New York in a trifling sort of schooner which is called the Frances for obvious reasons. They will ramble south along the coast and go through the Panama Canal. Then they will go north along Vancouver and the Canadian shore to the Behring Straits, through Coronation Gulf, passing Victoria Land, to King William Island. They plan to arrive in summer so as to get settled before the real rough weather comes along.

Crew of Eight—Thus weeks have been spent preparing for the voyage. The Frances has been completely overhauled; food and stores of all kinds have been taken aboard. Nearly 20,000 pounds of hard tack have been stored aboard to provide for a crew of eight to last two years.

As unusual and unique as the voyage is, it will also be one of great importance, for Captain Noise and his wife expect to record Eskimo life as it really is.

Discussing his plans, he said: "The Eskimos cling closer to the Stone Age than any other race, but their numbers are decreasing and as the hand of civilization reaches out toward them their life slowly begins to change.

Fast Vanishing Race—"This is a last chance to reproduce the old life and record the primitive existence of a strange race. It has been said that in one sense the Eskimos have no history, but I have faith in their tradition.

"It is largely with a view of recording their history, or collecting relics of their past, that we set forth on this expedition. Already the evil influence of so-called civilization has reached toward them. Trappers of the Hudson Bay company are beginning to invade this territory, and soon the Canadian Mounted Police and white settlers will appear, and gradually the Eskimo race will disappear, like that of the American Indian. Much of their past is lost in obscurity, and it is the mystery of this we hope to solve."

Captain Noise called attention to the Eskimo clothing. On gala occasions the men wear a jacket closely resembling our frock coat. This garment was in vogue among the Eskimos hundreds of years before it was a part of our wardrobe. It is probably 1000 years old. It is a loose-fitting coat, but tightly fitting at the waist; it has a hood and a lengthy tail reaching to the heels.

The Eskimo tailor never takes a single measurement; he has a wonderful eye and can so scrutinize a figure as to be able to turn out a well-fitting suit of skins without so much as a single "try-on."

Mrs. Noise intends to make a special study of the primitive music and native songs of the Eskimo. They have a rudo drum and a monotonous chant, consisting only of the fundamental note and minor third, but there is an appealing quality to their music which is practically unknown to the civilized world.

Cutlery of Late Czar Now Used in Obscure London Restaurant—LONDON (AP)—Cutlery which was once the property of the late czar and which adorned the tables of the royal palace, is now in public use in an obscure restaurant in one of the slum districts of London.

There are 600 knives at the establishment each bearing the royal arms engraved upon the blade. Some of them have the device filled in with gold, but these the proprietor is not using in the restaurant.

The history of the knives since they left the Russian court is not known, but when they came into the hands of the previous owner of the restaurant they all had massive handles of solid gold. These were replaced, however, by more conventional and less tempting ones, and although the cutlery is used daily by customers it is offered to the gods.

A Little Surprise.—The patter of tiny feet was heard upstairs. Mrs. K. raised her hand. "Hush," she said. "The children are going to deliver their good-night message. It always gives me a feeling of reverence to hear them—they are much nearer to the Creator than we are. Listen! There was a moment of tense stillness when the children were offering to the gods.

Ancient Ring Found in Norway.—CHRISTIANIA (AP)—A massive neck ring of solid gold, believed by experts to date back to 1200 B. C., was found recently on a farm in Norway. The ring, of artistic though barbarian design, has been placed in the museum of Christiania University. It is believed to have been buried as an offering to the gods.

Rub Rheumatic Pain, Soreness, Stiffness—Rub Pain right out with small trial bottle of old "St. Jacobs Oil"

What's Rheumatism? Pain only. Stop drugging! Not one case in fifty requires internal treatment. Rub soothing, penetrating "St. Jacobs Oil" directly upon the "tender spot" and relief comes instantly. "St. Jacobs Oil" is a harmless rheumatism and sciatica liniment, which never disappoints and cannot burn the skin.

Lumber up! Quit complaining! Get a small trial bottle from your druggist, and in just a moment you'll be free from rheumatic and sciatic pain, soreness, stiffness and swelling. Don't suffer! Relief awaits you. Old, honest "St. Jacobs Oil" has relieved millions of rheumatism sufferers in the last half century, and is just as good for sciatica, neuralgia, lumbago, backache, sprains and swellings.
