 This company was formed in New York and left on a special train for St. Paul, where the opening scenes were made. From that time on, until the company reached Glacier Park, where the concluding scenes were shot, the company lived out of doors and worked out of doors for a period of more than eleven weeks. Some of the scenes in the picture were taken at an altitude of more than 10,000 feet above sea level, and on one occasion the company was caught in a blinding snowstorm. By morning the ground was covered with more than ten inches of snow and the actors were obliged to postpone outside work for more than a week.

Western Pioneer Tells Interesting Experience

Frank Rikert, Who Left Illinois for California in Covered Wagon in 1864, Wouldn't Take $1.00 for Bottle of Tanlac.

"I believe Tanlac really saved my life when I took it after the flu about a year ago," continued Mr. Rikert, "for the attack left me so weak that I could not get up. I was unable to take any food without assistance. I tell you, I thought my time had surely come."
 "But, thank God, my wife insisted I keep on taking Tanlac until I was able to do all my work again, and I've been feeling years younger ever since. I'm always telling my friends about Tanlac and can't say too much for it."
 Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 40 million bottles sold.

Barthelmess in Role Of Youth at Arcade Theater

Richard Barthelmess returns to a modern role in "Twenty-One," the first National picture, which comes to the Arcade Theatre today, after almost a year in which he has played nothing but costume character parts.
 "Twenty-One," with its bathing parties, taxi bunnies and its strong modern theme, which have widespread appeal to those fans who wish to see Barthelmess in the costume of 1922.
 Barthelmess himself executes a jump from the heavy character role in "The Fighting Blade," to a typical youth of today, which, according to previous reports on "Twenty-One," he plays with an ease that is a tribute to his versatility. The picture is said to be replete with human touches and comedy and presents a powerful climax revolving about one of the great problems of the younger generation.
 Dorothy Mackall plays her second role opposite Barthelmess in "Twenty-One" and again takes a long step forward in her development as a motion picture actress. Van Simpson, Joe King, Dorothy Cumming, Nellie Parker Spaulding, Bradley Barker and Elsie Lawson and a large cast of flappers and society belles play in support of Mr. Barthelmess.

Banker's Friends Elated

"Twelve years ago I became afflicted with stomach trouble, which steadily became worse, frequently became prostrated with colic attacks and vomiting. My doctor wanted to operate for gall stones. I wanted to avoid an operation and on advice of a friend tried May's Wonderful Remedy with excellent results. I am now taking it about 2 years ago my trouble has entirely disappeared." It removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract, and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded at all druggists.—Adv.

La Grande Theatres

Denny Stars in Big Auto Racing Film Showing at Star.

Probably every picture-goer has experienced this feeling, that there's a great picture and it's slipping up to something more than a big and tremendous and powerful, some smashing climax that will hit me off my seat; then had his illusions shattered when the climax fell short of his hopes.
 There's little more disheartening than to see a film that carries along with rattling action, suspenseful at all times that this is good, but there's better coming teasing you, holding you, promising you that all the entertainment features are merely "fox" tags, that soon you're to be knocked dizzy with the real thing—and then makes good.
 "Sporting Youth," starring Richard Denny who plays a youthful part, which opens today at the Star Theatre, does just this.
 "Free Air" is aptly titled—At Sherrys Today.
 Speaking of appropriate names for motion pictures, the Hedden son released feature, "Free Air," showing at Sherrys for the last time today is one of the most appropriate named pictures of which this newspaper has any knowledge.
 "Free Air" is a picture adapted from the Sinclair Lewis story of the same name. Every scene of the picture, from the opening scene to the final fade-out, was made in the "free air" of Mon-
