A band of pirates 200 strong is in the late year of Tut Kam. The have, however, promised American and foreign representatives and the Cairo government that they will mark the expeditions "out of bounds." Assurances also have been received from chieftains of the pirate clans inhabiting the islands that they, too, will caution their expeditions to strike and at businesses other than those of the losers.

Letters received by Mr. Pamper from Dr. W. W. Chesney of Philadelphia, and S. D. Spencer, Jr., reporting their experiences in motoring to the island in a Chevrolet to inspect the site of the proposed leprosarium, tell of a hair breadth with the pirates. After the first encounter the Americans were invited to tea in the camp and, the caravan looking good and well — armed had a look, having boarded the Americans' junk in it crawled about all sizes of small boats quickly to discuss opportunities for a close friendly business with the pirates. After the tea ceremony the Americans were allowed to depart.

The island site was purchased by Wu Ting-fang, the Chinese statesman, and the American mission has undertaken the conversion of 15 Buddhists, to cost $50,000, as the first unit of a unit of settlement which later will be expanded to 200 structures. Because native conditions for the project are greatly favorable to early success, Dr. Pamper declares the Americans are superintending the work, which is patronized by Chinese.

It is proposed by John Lake, who is assigned with Dr. Chesney of the Southern Baptist division in founding the leprosarium, to erect first a guard house and Christian soldiers to be supplied by the provincial governor, Dudrow to afford protection from the pirates who infest the surrounding areas."

Next will come the hospital, the kitchen with dispensary and laundry, the church and administration offices, and finally the dormitories and housing of patients, which will complete the first unit.

TO ERECT BIG LEPROSORIUM

NEW YORK, (AP)—The Chinese mission board of Tai Kam, in the province of Canton and an archipelago which for centuries has been the rendezvous of Chinese pirates, is about to be converted into the largest leprosarium in China.

Plans for housing 2,000 lepers on the islet were outlined today by W.W. Cuthbert, general secretary of the American mission in Canton, which, during finance, and prosecuted such cases throughout the world.

A band of pirates 200 strong is in the late year of Tut Kam. The have, however, promised American and foreign representatives and the Cairo government that they will mark the expeditions "out of bounds." TO ORGANIZE POTATO BODY

A meeting of the farmers and the chamber of commerce agricultural committee was held in Imbler last evening. Preliminary steps were taken toward the organization of a potato seed growers association to raise certified seed potatoes to supply the Washington Irving and California markets. It is claimed that the Grande Ronde valley is one of the few places in this section of the country where certified potatoes can be successfully grown.

Tentative plans for another meeting to be held next week were made last evening although the actual date is dependent upon the time Mr. Jackman of the O. A. C. extension service arrives. Dr. Pamphrey of the agricultural committee, H. G. Avery, county agent and Harley Smith were the main speakers last evening. Practically unanimous assent in favor of organization was voted by the agriculturists present at the meeting.

Preacher Proves Moonshine Is Poison

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP)—Rev. W. G. Schaeffer, pastor of the United Brethren church here is giving a series of lectures against illegal liquor, accompanying them with inflammable demonstrations of the physical dangers that lurk in the moon-made "booze."

Several hundred members of his congregation were allowed to see and smell moonshine stills confiscated by officers, and also were permitted to sniff the finished product.

The exhibits, placed upon a platform in the church, included evil-smelling stills made out of old milk cans, with a scum of fusel oil on the bottom and decayed material clinging to the sides, and vial samples of the "beers" as it is presented for sale.

Rev. Schaeffer declared, after his first lecture and demonstration that it probably was one of the most successful services ever held in his church.

"I believe there were many skeptics with the idea that moonshine might be all right, if they wanted to drink it," he said, "but they were apparently immediately converted to the belief that it is and always will be the rankest kind of poison."

and started for Summerville by automobile. It was then that the officers learned that the Kendall brothers had been manufacturing liquor for some time and upon arrival, the men were stationed about the place and the "fun" began.

Better Homes exhibition which is about 12:30 o'clock officers MacKenzie and Holbrook broke in on the house and after finding two gallons of liquor inside, promptly placed the Kendalls under arrest. The brothers, who were handcuffed immediately, had nothing to say except they were eager to find out who was the complaining person. Sheriff Warnick told them that he was not free to say on the Kendall complaint signed.

Liquor Destroyed.

The officers found a total of 45 gallons of finished moonshine, ready for disposal, 600 gallons of mash, eight sacks of sugar, 10 gallons of yeast, four pounds of hops and a large still, with a capacity of 50 gallons. At the time the still was not in operation although the evidences of the still, taken by Officer MacKenzie, a fingerprint expert, showed that the Kendalls had been running it, according to the raiders.

The 45 gallons of liquor, discovered by Officer Warden, and the mash, found by Sheriff Warnick, were destroyed and the remainder of the confiscated ingredients and the still, were brought to La Grande this morning.

The Kendall brothers are about 30 to 32 years of age.

The moonshine plant was located behind the barn after considerable search and the other ingredients were also kept in places not easily found.

Officers believe that, with the evidence and the fingerprints, they will have little trouble in convicting the two men. Charges of bootlegging and possession will probably be placed against them.

PAGEANT WILL BE FEATURED

UNION, Ore., (special to The Observer)—Marked progress is reported making the evening entertainment of the live stock show in June a feature which will draw residents of all sections of Eastern Oregon to the 1924 event is reported for the past week by Dr. W. T. Pay, according to the Union Weekly Republican.

A pageant, "Friends of Mankind," has been chosen and will be presented every member of the show on the stock show grounds. The show will be particularly successful, believes Dr. Pay, in that it is entirely different from the pageants which are being staged at Walla Walla and Wenatchee, Wash., and in other equal cities and should for that reason draw spectators from a wide radius. It has appealed to those who have heard it for the further reason that it is at one time dignified yet amusing, simple yet impressive and that it typifies the spirit of the live stock show.

Miss Josephine Dillon, of Portland, will direct the production of "Friends of Mankind." Miss Dillon has had much experience doing this kind of work and will come to Union the first of May to devote an entire month to training members of the cast. She has spent the last two weeks in this city studying with members of the stock entertainment committee, confering with local business men from whom all properties of the pageant will be purchased, addressing the high school and upper grades. When she returned to Portland Monday night she was highly enthusiastic over the cooperation which was her on all sides and over the entertainment material she found in Union.

Union residents who are serving on the executive committee with Dr. Pay are Mrs. George Baird, Mrs. Walter Cole, James Hutchinson, C. L. Caswell and Frank Sewell. Heads of several committees have already been appointed and as soon as all are chosen they will be announced.

ducted and exciting through the business section of La Grande, let by the "Sick Nerd" which has made quite a hit in the past. Following that the crowd retired to the high school and let "pleasure seize mastertons—!" during the remainder of the evening.

The entire proceeds of the carnival will be used for improvements on the high school athletic field and with the money going to a worthy purpose, local citizens feel that they are doubly repaid—they not only saw a good, snappy show but they also knew that their shekels were being used to aid both the high school and the community.

newspapermen of the northwest who have had national and international recognition. For reason in national politics the office of minister to Siam seems to hover around the state of Oregon, and republicans met up with success Editor Brodie raised his lightning rod for the appointment and "I was given him. He says he likes Siam very well, but that he is a much better American for having gone over to the foreign country. By comparison he insists America as so much better than most of are home folk realize that it is both beautiful and sacred to feel the presence of the American flag when in a foreign land.

Baby Peggy's Rag Doll Hid Gem Treasure In "Darling" Show.

There is probably no more subtle influence in the childhood of a girl than that of her dolly.

When [illegible] she is always consulting to be found in the dumb understanding of a young girlhood's favorite companion.

A China doll or a rag doll, it is all the same when the doll is the object of a child's affection.

A street waif will cling with the same tenacity to a rag doll that the petted daughter of a millionaire will cling to a golden-haired doll that can walk and say "Mamma."

One of the big dramatic punches in "The Darling of New York" the Universal-Jewel production starring Baby Peggy at the Star Theatre today, is furnished by this childish tendency to hang on to a favorite toy.

The baby film star enacts the role of a waif who became stranded with a bunch of crooks in the New York Ghetto through the carelessness of a nurse maid. Throughout the play the child carries with her an old rag doll. The audience is let in on the secret of the doll's importance in the play when the gem smuggler who abducts the child places a fortune in smuggled diamonds in the stuffing of the doll.

One of the distinctive hits of this act is the Aztec Indian spectacular revue finishing with a lively jazz number.

The honors on this meritorious bill will be shared by Dayton and Palmer presenting a conversational comedy, "It Is To Laugh."

Phil Goode in the "Speaker from Sissinnutti," a wholesale breezy nonsense on up-to-date topics of the day.

Morlen and Doran in Surprises," in a musical offering of selections on the violin and piano accordion together with comedy and dancing.

"Judgment of the Storm" Featured at Sherrys, Sunday, Monday

At last a picture that is absolutely different! Wonderful thrills! Tremendous drama! Beautiful romance! And a climax that will literally lift you out of your seat with excitement! It is more than a great picture—it is a slice of life vibrant with realism, brought to the screen!

The Motion Picture News said: "'Judgment of the Storm' has every quality that goes into making a fine production—filled with dramatic T. N. T.—more entertainment than in pictures that cost a million—a punch in each reel big enough for the climax of several ordinary photoplays—scenes that will hold you in a vise-like grip—wonderful cast—an example of how good a picture can be."

This is one picture that you absolutely must see! It is to be shown Sunday and Monday at Sherrys.

Comedy, "Hero at Zero."

"Wild Oranges" at Sherrys Last Time Today.

Not a rub in the whole film! Not one minute's lull! Not a single dull!

Pat, an Irish boy, every little thing he touches carries a mailing that keeps the eye glued to the silver sheet. It starts off with a spectacular railway smash-up and ends with the world-cruising yacht of a man who tells the girl he loves that wherever you are sailing in Florida's little lagoon when the long expected comes a girl is sure because the [illegible] can [illegible] to the shore [illegible] and her life, and the life of her old father, and the life of the handy half-caste half-child [illegible] house if to these you add a grouper, another life in the [illegible] jungles of the South.

Mystery, suspense, heart interest scenes—there's all in this fine picture from the golden story by Rex Beach director, Rex Ingram. Critics and public hailed his "Three Who Paid" as one of the best pictures ever made. "Wild Oranges" eclipses "Three Who Paid" in every way—and that's saying a theatre-full. This picture is showing at Sherrys for the last time tonight.

Comedy showing, "Exit Caesar."
