"The Love Pirate" Is An Unusually Interesting Picture.
 In the annals of police courts it is seldom found that a criminal has voluntarily accused himself of a crime, especially if that crime happens to be murder. In "The Love Pirate" the Richard Thomas production, showing at Star's theater today only, a situation is logically evolved in which three people, two women and a man, accuse themselves of killing Steve Corman, notorious owner of the Blackbird Cabaret.
 Corman, in the picture, is that type of villain that audiences love to hate and, as this note is portrayed by Melbourne McDowell, it is a foregone conclusion that it will be invested with all the art that goes to make up a first class screen villain.
 The events leading up to his death, the self-accusation of the three, the establishing of their innocence, the discovery of the guilty one are only just a few of the events that keep this picture traveling at a mile-a-minute speed and, judging by reports from cities that have already played the production, making of it one of the most interesting mystery dramas that have come to the screen for a long, long time.
 A remarkable cast was chosen by Producer Richard Thomas for the delineation of the various roles. This cast, headed by Carmen Myers, includes such well-known screen favorites as Kathryn McGuire, Melbourne McDowell, Clyde Gilmore, John Tomkes, Carol Hallows, Edward W. Borman and Spottiswoode Alken.
 An our Ganz comedy is also being shown.

Tom Mix Outdares Himself in "North of Hudson Bay" at Star.

An abundance of excitement is offered at the Star theatre today where Tom Mix through "North of Hudson Bay," a William Fox production, has a motor. The first thing which strikes one's attention about this production is the total absence of draped in "shells." This, we think, is the reason that the excitement offered is doubly effective.
 The picture concerns the adventures of Michael Kane, played by Tom Mix, who is made a duke of the passions of more worldly men. He runs from one adventure to another, from the murder of his brother, his conviction for aiding the murderer, his escape to the mountains in company with the daughter of the duke.
 At no portion of this film does the action slow up—it's what is known as a speed picture—and it's a speed picture plus some. In instances of speed and during this production see Tom Mix surpass all his former efforts.
 From every point of view this is an unusual film. Tom Mix is surrounded by a cast of great quality. Kathryn Gray, Eugene Forster, Will Wallace, Frank Camp, Fred Koller and Frank Clark interpret the principal characters.

"Uninvited Guest" At Sherrys Is Done in Colors.
 With the appearance of "The Uninvited Guest," a new Jerry motion picture, produced by J. E. Williamson of the Submarine Film Corporation, colored motion picture photography reaches the highest point of an amazing development that long ago gave promise of revolutionizing the making of movies.
 The natural color scenes in "The Uninvited Guest," Williamson's recent production for Metro, that show the striking beauty of the Bahamas Islands, where the picture was made, and the strange corner of equatorial life, filmed by the Technicolor Motion Picture Corporation.
 Dr. Daniel P. Comstock, inventor of the bicolor process and Dr. Herbert E. Eastman, who has since been in charge of its technical development, experimented seven years before obtaining the success in colored pictures that was first seen in an Astor Technicolor picture, "The Toll of the Sea," several years ago. It was the year. Dealing in a frank way with the problems which confront every young woman and girl, it points to the dangers which beset those who would ignore the conventions for a life of unrestraint.

 An unusually talented cast interpreted the several roles, including Gailson Moore, Milton Sills, Elliott Lester, Myrtle Stedman, Sylvia Brimmer, Betty Francisco, Phillip Scratley, Walter McGrath, Ben Lyon and others.
 The picture will be shown at the Arcadia theatre starting tomorrow, for three days.

"Flaming Youth" One of Sensations of Year, at Arcade.
 "Flaming Youth" is written around the reckless youth of today. The author of the 1923 National Screen version, which is to be shown at the Arcadia theatre, blames the present of today for the recklessness of the youth and modern times.
 "It is true we are all lovers of pleasure," Valdez states, "and it is natural that our young men and women seek every source of pleasure that they can get. But restrained pleasure is superior to unbridled pleasure. The picture is a warning to the youth of today to stay within the bounds of moderation and moderation is the key to a happy life."
 As a photograph "Flaming Youth" stands out as one of the most striking and sensational films of
