were at play with high honors for the club prizes going to Mrs. Ed Bohmeyer and Dr. H. S. Murphy and high honors for the guest prizes going to Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Stange. G. L. Dutton, won the consolation prize.

B. Row and a reading by Georgia Stringham.

One of the most enjoyable affairs of the season took place last evening at the L. G. Terry home, when Master Elmo Terry entertained a number of friends with a delightful dancing party. Approximately thirty young people were in attendance and before the close of a very pleasantly spent evening of dancing delicious refreshments were served.

An unusually interesting meeting was held by the American Legion Auxiliary Wednesday evening. Delegates were elected for the Department Convention to be held at Portland in the near future, those chosen being Mrs. Clarence Hamplinger and Mrs. Glenn Campbell and Mrs. C. N. Palmer and Mrs. Walter Palmer as alternates. Party caps and medals were sent to the hospital and Relief Fund and money was being sent to the Gold Star Mothers for Mothers' Day.

Before the close of the evening delicious refreshments were served.

Word has been received recently through the Merrill Daily Herald, of Merrill, Wisconsin, of the presentation by Battery E, 129th Field Artillery, of the Wisconsin National Guard, of an electric table lamp, constructed of an army surplus shell, to Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Stange.

The lamp was constructed almost entirely by members of the battery. The form of an American doughnut with full peak ready for a hike is hand-tooled on one side of the lamp and on the other side the engraving work reads "Presented to The Hon. A. H. Stange by Battery E, Merrill, Wis." This hand-tooling was executed by Sergeant Carl Moe and is very creditably done.

The presentation of the lamp was made at the Badger Club room, the members of the battery present being Captain Harold Morgan, First Sergeant George Holt, and Sergeant Carl Moe and Leonard Fechtner. Captain Morgan presented the lamp giving an excellent address and in acceptance Mr. Stange expressed his appreciation of the beautiful gift.

The Westminster Guild will meet Monday evening, May 12 at 8 o'clock at the country home of Mrs. Lee Reynolds. Members not having a way to go should notify the president of the Guild immediately.

Mrs. E. Halley will be hostess to the Parkdale Club Wednesday afternoon, May 14, at her farm home.

Fashion Notes

Fannel becomes "Class." Paris—If this season does nothing else—and it will do several things—it has established the aristocracy of fannel. Today there is nothing more chic, nor more soft and beautifully colored, especially the new plaids, checks and intricate striplings.

Long Sleeve Sometimes. Paris—Though this is a go-as-you-please era in regard to gloves, the fairly long glove is seen today on many hot weather frocks. Often, however, a concession is made to the thermometer in the tooseness of the cuff and the three-quarter length of the sleeve itself.

Head Scarf Fashionable. London—The windy weather and the waxed coiffure have combined to make the head scarf fashionable. Many women who go to Berkeley, the Savoy or Claridge's for a dance after the theatre are wearing head scarves of very fine silk net, with an embroidered pattern at each end and in the front.

Cloche at Whittines. New York—The cloche remains as much in vogue today that at a recent fashionable wedding the bridesmaids wore the cloche instead of the customary wide-brimmed picture hat. In this instance the cloche was of organdy in many ruffles, the color being down pink and each cloche was provided with wide, long ribbon of orchid.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

(By Ella Anneson)
Monday morning the seniors had a class meeting. The weather had been so bad that someone had suggested that the picnic be postponed. Of course they would never have thought of such a thing, but luckily the weather was cleared up a bit by Monday morning. However the roads were so bad to Indian Creek that a new place had to be decided upon. After a great deal of deliberation it was decided that they would go out past Sumnerville and up near the summit of Mt. Emily, making camp on one of the creeks.

Tuesday morning at about 5:20 the whole class met at the high school and rode from there out to the destination decided upon. The morning was spent in various ways. Some fished, but no fish were caught, others played baseball while some spent the morning in exploring and hiking. At about 12:00 o'clock lunch was announced. This turned out to be quite an event; each person had to be his own cook and it seems there were a great many "hamburger" that were not done while many more were overdone. However, the sheriff at the end of the meal seemed to save the day and every one finished feeling happy. In the afternoon everyone seemed to have even more pep than in the morning, when the evening meal was prepared and eaten everyone regretted that the picnic was about over. The ride home in the evening was enjoyed by all, and so ended the Senior Picnic. Wednesday afternoon assembly was called to tell the students about the three one-act plays that are to be given Saturday evening at 8 o'clock, in the "Wonder Hat" Garnet Bakery, Maurice Moore, Vincent McGowan, James Collier and Francis Shortness are the characters and there must be something seriously wrong with any one who does not get a good laugh out of it. The ending is really unusual and no one can help enjoying it.

The parts in "His Who Pass While the Lentils Fall" are taken by Ruby Baltzman, Fern Wells, Edna Sharpe, Jack Coolidge, Ken Linsland, Tom Linsland, Sheldon Brownson, Flora Coolidge, Virgil Walsinger, Marion Healdy, and Merton Childers. In this play a beautiful queen is about to be beheaded for a breach of etiquette and a little boy—but come and see it. The story of the play is good and each member of the cast seems to have been intended for his part as well they do it.

The third one is a selection from "Bran Nank" and it is called "The Bear of Bath." The lighting and costuming in it are especially beautiful. La Nina Goodill, Howard Beatty, and Ronald Coolidge take their parts in remarkably good style. Jack Blatt has been acting as coach for this play. These plays are given by the dramatic classes under the direction of Mrs. Bennett. Selma Whittenburg has charge of the make up, Helen Kerka and Debra Kiefer of the costumes.

Every spring just before the summer vacation the home economics department has given an exhibit. This Friday afternoon at two o'clock an exceptionally good exhibit was put on. Dresses, aprons, dainty collar and cuff muffs, children's clothes, hats, home-made linens, including beautifully patterned lawn shades were shown by the domestic art classes, while the domestic science classes had table linens set with their own cooking and sewing.

This year the English and Commercial departments have also put on exhibits, and although the idea is new here it is quite certain to be received favorably. In the commercial exhibit were bookkeeping books, letters transcribed in shorthand, designs made on the typewriter and medals and certificates that the typing students have received.

The English exhibit proved to be interesting. There were plays, stories, essays, newspapers, books illustrating classic that had been studied, medals and certificates received for prize winning essays and a minute which is always put out by the English department.

A great many people came to these various exhibits and they all seemed to find the unusual variety interesting. Friday afternoon a pep assembly was called for the Eastern Oregon track meet on Saturday. Mr. Towler talked to the students and told them that since this was the last track meet of the season it would be the last assembly of that kind the seniors would attend at L. G. S. and urged the other classes to help make the last track meet a successful one by getting some way to attend it. After this the meeting was turned over to Ralph Webb vice-president of the student body and he also brought out the fact that it was the last assembly of that kind we would have. Then he called on a number of the track men and after a few pep yells, after which everyone felt certain that as far as La Grande High was concerned there could be only one outcome to the track meet Saturday. We must win.

The members of the commercial classes who will take part in the shorthand and typing contest have met at the high school at about nine o'clock so they will get over to Union in time to have the contestants in the morning. There will be about two cars of them. One car will take a few of the contestants, the coach and the typewriters, and the other car will take the rest of the contestants.

The seniors' cards and announcements are ready now and the seniors are really beginning to realize that high school for them is just about a thing of the past. This is the last week of ordinary lessons as next week will be devoted to review for final exams. The seniors will take their exams on Friday of next week, but the other classes will not take theirs until the week after that.

CHURCH NEWS

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH—Mothers' Day should be church day in every home in our city this coming Sunday. What a heritage to leave the children if they should be trained in Christian principles. The church assists the home in training the children in just this ideal. Our Sunday School at 9:45 will afford every home an opportunity in the several classes and departments with consecrated teachers and splendid equipment. Our morning hour of worship at 11 will hear the quartette render the anthem: "The King of Love My Shepherd Is" by Schneider, and Mr. L. J. Lindsey will play the factory on his violin. The minister will bring the message. The Christian Endeavor at 8:15 will close the day's opportunities. Plan to make the first day in the newly dedicated church a home-coming day with particular emphasis upon the honor we owe to mother. Now that our church building is practically completed we desire to be of increasing service to the community so that our services are at your disposal.

W. M. CROSBY ROSS, Minister.

We must get the individual responsibility to make the greatest possible program this year and all the years.

Mrs. F. S. Jester, director of music, will be well supported by singers for both services. The pastor will soon go to another field and will be glad to invest as many as possible at the church at those last few services. ALBERT ROSS SITTON, Pastor.
