BEARS EASY 'MEAT' FOR LA GRANDE (Continued from page 1)

most question in the minds of most was "how did Walla Walla win those six games before they met La Grande?"

After all, the game or field meet yesterday was merely a case of a late team facing an excellent, well rounded team with the result as was to be expected, Walla Walla simply couldn't fathom Charley Bench's delivery and on the other hand when they did touch him up, one of his team mates was right on top of the ball and Walla Walla was out of luck.

Bears' Pitchers Easy. The three twirlers that the Bears used gave the Pirates a lot of good batting practice, and that's about all. Fourteen hits sparked from the home boys bats at other times, when some Pirate connected with a weaker hit, the Bears managed to stuff it about until first base was safe under the feet of the batter.

The first pitcher for Walla Walla looked fairly good in the first inning but in the second, the Pirates discovered that "this is Paris" and celebrated. Bench ended the official jamboree in that inning when he clouted out a homer over the fence. Paris went to outfield and White took his place.

Bench Allowed 5 Hits. Bench allowed five hits, one a homer, but he could have held them to two or three had he been forced. After the first two innings, Bench didn't have to pitch much to beat the visitors but at that he struck out eight men. Incidentally, Bench went to bat five times and made three safe hits, one a circuit drive with men on.

Helms a Whirlwind. But La Grande didn't ease up in the infield. No. Spud Helms gathered in everything in his territory like a big-leaguer, and Knight, Davis and Peckham held up their end. Peckham's work was brilliant and heady. And, to make the day a complete success, a nice double play—Helms to Peckham to Peckham, ended the Bears' last trip to the ball.

Bears Scored First. The opening inning found neither team able to push any runs over but in the second, due to Knight's error and a couple of singles, Walla Walla scored.
