 Many sufferers from Piles or Hemorrhoids have become dependent because they have been led to believe that their cure lay in the world to help them. To these people we say, "Go to your druggist and get an original box of MOAYA SUPPOSITORIES." One of these inserted into the rectum according to directions will be found to give immediate relief. They reach the source of the trouble and by their soothing, healing, antiseptic action first stop the pain and soreness and then by direct contact with the diseased and inflamed tissue, heal up and disappear forever. It's simply wonderful how speedily they act. Blood relieves often comes in two days. Even in cases that have steadily resisted all known treatments, marvelous results have been obtained. All druggists dispense MOAYA SUPPOSITORIES in the original box or get it for you on short notice.—Adv.

Picture Reveals Harsh Penalty for Illicit Love Tangle.

Callous as the world may seem in its apathy towards the individual affairs of mere mortals, it will pause in its whirl long enough to condemn those who defy its conventionalities. "You Can't Get Away With It." Guy Gibson Mirra, writer of best sellers, has done the theme justice in a remarkable story, which William Fox has produced for the screen, under that significant title. The story deals with the daughter of a wealthy family who finds herself suddenly left destitute. Work in a department store sweeps her into a mesh from which she emerges the companion of her employer, without the formality of a wedding ceremony.

Betty Marmont, who played the remarkable role of Mark Sabor, in "If Winter Comes," appears at the wealthy lover in "You Can't Get Away With It." Betty Bouton, petite little brunette, is the girl who found you can't, after all. Others in principal parts are Malcolm McGeever, Barbara Tennant, Grace Morse, Charisse Selwyn and Charles Cruz.

The picture was directed by Rowland V. Lee, from a scenario by Robert N. Lee. Now playing at the Grande.

"Reno" Showing For Last Time at Sherrys Tonight.

Forty-eight states have forty-eight different divorce laws. Men can marry 12-year-old girls in some states. Divorced men can marry, move to another state and become bigamists. There are tangles of law, galore—and Rupert Hughes uses them to help tell the remarkable story of "Reno," showing for the last time at Sherry's today.

The action of the unusual story centers around two young couples who hoped to end their matrimonial troubles through the divorce courts. A prim maiden aunt, some children with four sets of fathers and mothers, and complications which resulted when the laws began to conflict, carry the action of the story into a romantic cross-country chase that runs the gamut from grim drama to hilarity.

Rupert Hughes himself wrote the brilliant, exhumate title which spiced the picture, and directed the story which he wrote in his best romantic vein.

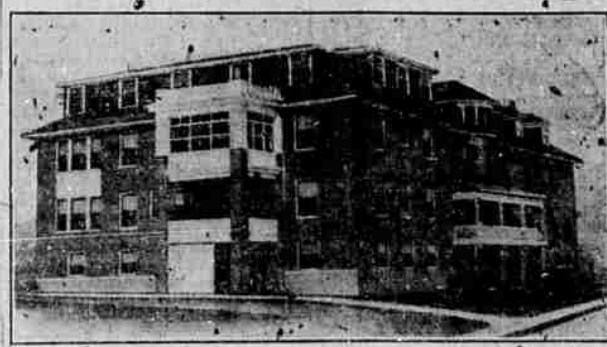

The parts are played by some of screenland's most popular in-

Just A Little Common Sense

We deal in tires. We buy the best we can buy regardless of price. We believe in quality first—not price. There is no such thing as a bargain in cheap tires. Not even the slightest chance to get more than you pay for. By the time you run a good tube, buy two and then blow out both, put in a few hours on the dusty road, lose your temper, call the manufacturer everything possible, all on account of a cheaply constructed tire, what have you gained?

Gates and Jack Tires are built in the west for western roads. Come look them over—the tires speak for themselves.
