Social news must be in the hands of the society editor by 9:30 o'clock. Due to the fact that the social page is made up before noon, it is practically impossible to insert stories after that hour. Hereafter, items, no matter how important they are, that are delayed beyond that hour, will not be printed until the following day—News Editor's Note.

Dance Revue Given By Mrs. Wells

There was a large crowd at the school auditorium last evening, when Mrs. Fred Wells presented her pupils in a Dance Revue. Approximately twenty-five girls took part in the program all doing excellent work. Miss June Wells was especially good in her "Spring Sonata," but showed great ability in her other three numbers. ## Simple Lines

The line of this frock is very simple though the effect is stunning. It is merely a waisted bodice joined to a skirt and a shaped collar about the neck falling on the shoulders so as to give the effect of a shawl. The bodice is hand-blocked pussy white with graduated dots of white on a navy blue surface.

Miss Constance Lewis, of Baker, who is a guest at the H. J. Kitchen home, was the inspiration for a charming dancing party at the home of C. J. Newlin, Monday evening. Six couples were in attendance and after a very enjoyable time dancing, dainty refreshments were served.

The W. W. G.'s of the Baptist church gave a delightful surprise party last evening at the home of Misses Edna and Mildred Mulholland, honoring Miss Mildred Snyder, who will leave in a short time to make her home in western Oregon. Approximately twenty-five girls were in attendance and an enjoyable time was spent at games and other social entertainment. One pleasing feature of the evening's entertainment was a handkerchief shower given Miss Snyder.

The home was decorated with roses and before adjournment a delicious two course luncheon was served.

WORLD COURT GIVEN SENATE

The report said, "the committee has taken affirmative and favorable action upon the recommendations of President Harding and President Coolidge—that we should adhere to the court but not to the league of nations."

"The resolution accepts the court as an established institution and confirms the tenure of the present judges. Under its terms the United States, without reservations and without the least interference with the business of the court, will align itself with 48 other states in maintaining and perpetrating this important international tribunal.

Free From League
On the other hand, the United States will remain in that event wholly free from any legal relation to the league of nations. Not only will this be true as to the United States but the existing legal relations between the court and the league will be severed for all states so that the United States will occupy no anomalous or peculiar position, but will stand upon the same footing as all the rest."

In two important particulars the report said, the resolution "goes beyond the proposal of President Harding and embodies two ideas which President Coolidge has emphasized.

"One of these," it added, "is the American idea of a court to which not only league members but all states may adhere—the idea, that is, of a true world court, the other is the idea of a world law for a world court to interpret and apply. Without such a body of law made for it we may call the tribunal a court of law, but it will necessarily become either a mere tribunal or arbitration, or else an international law maker."

The idea of a world court can be attained under the resolution because it proposes to allow adherence to the court by any state recognized by any signatory power."

Fashion Notes

Modifying Hats.
Paris.—Upon many hats one sees today the edging of tulle, which gives a soft, halo effect. A modification of the tricorne often has this tulle edge and the severe outlines are further mitigated by a big, floppy ribbon bow.

Hand-Embroidered Sweaters.
Paris.—Sweaters are not only knitted in fanciful patterns now, but they are also hand-embroidered. A sweater in blue, done in several kinds of stitches, has an embroidered medallion in deep blue just below the V neck.

Black Velvet and Pearls.
London.—It is odd that the black velvet gown should be so much in vogue today. Though certainly more appropriate for cool weather, black velvet and pearls form a smart combination at present.

Fanciful Lingerie.
New York.—Lingerie brought from abroad and displayed in the exclusive shops today is fancifully trimmed with colored lace medallions. In tints of maize and pale blue and salmon, the underthings are trimmed with cream lace into which are set motifs in lace dyed to match the garment.

Newest Pumps.
New York.—Pumps made up entirely of narrow leather stripes, through which the stockings show as through a Venetian blind now come in a delightful shade of dark brown for street wear. They are cut on sandal lines.

Export Bill Supported.
PENDLETON.—A telegram has been sent by the Pendleton Commercial association to Representatives Longworth urging him to lend his support to passage of the McNary-Haugen bill. The telegram was as follows: "May we urge your favorable action in behalf of the McNary-Haugen bill for the relief of the critical conditions existing in the agricultural districts. The results of the Oregon primary elections supporting Senator McNary and Representative Sinnott denote the attitude of the people of this state regarding this bill and shows their appreciation of support given this legislation by these gentlemen. Existing conditions warrant the passage of a temporary measure of this nature in order that these districts may survive."
