Jackie Coogan at His Best in Photoplay At Sherrys.

Jackie Coogan as a little Belgian boy with baggy trousers, funny little cap, great, clumsy, clattering wooden shoes and patched jacket with large buttons of assorted shapes and sizes—Jackie Coogan as little Nello, the immortal hero of Gaidia's story, came to the Sherry Theatre last night, and when he disappeared he had the hearts of the audience with him. Jackie's medium in this is "A Boy of Flanders," adapted from Diederik's story, "A Dog of Flanders," and the adaptation has been made with the greatest skill. The story is reproduced on the screen with a fidelity rarely to be observed and not a single episode of significance, drama, comedy, pathos or thrill is missing. When the climax in the snowstorm that sweeps over Flanders fields and buries the cathedral steps at Antwerp in a deep cover is one of the most poignant and appealing that has ever been screened. Never has Jackie appeared more effectively, and it is safe to say that in "A Boy of Flanders" he touches tragic heights never before revealed in any Jackie Coogan picture, while the comedy touches and humor of which his art is capable, are abundantly provided throughout the entire story. His audience last night moved through strata of smiles and tears, laughter and thrills
