A quiet wedding was solemnized at the home of Rev. P. F. W. Greene, 212 East Fourth street, Aberdeen, Washington, June 12, 1924, at 2 p. m. when Gertrude Halley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Halley of this city became the bride of Arthur J. Odommelt, of Duluth, Minnesota. Only a few of the intimates were present at the ceremony. The bride wore a traveling suit of navy charmesse and a carriage bouquet of roses and lilies of the valley. The artistic decorations were very appropriate and received much favorable comment. After the ceremony a delicious luncheon was served by Mrs. P. F. W. Greene, who acted as hostess. ### Mate of Windjammer Puts in Stirring Year

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — Monday on the high seas, typhoons and Chinese pirates were among the experiences which the last year allotted Fred N. Troup, first officer of the five-masted schooner "Taeng Tai" which, flying the flag of the Chinese republic, has been docked here loading lumber.

Troup, whose home is at Baylup, Wash., near Seattle, signed last summer an first officer on the American schooner, "Levi W. Ostrander." When her name was changed to "Taeng Tai" and Chinese took over the vessel, Troup became master. On a voyage from Shanghai to Poochow the schooner ran into a typhoon, which sent her floating for safety under bare masts.

On a second voyage to Foochow, the schooner touched at the port of Quanton. While it was lying at anchor Chinese bandits appeared. "The Danish chief mate and I were the only white men aboard," recalled Troup. "Each of us had an automatic. I fired 22 times. Some fell; I couldn't count how many. My Chinese crew of 28 were caught in their quarters and these were slain. We managed to get in a motor boat and escape." Later they regained their ship, which the pirates had deserted after removing everything portable.

The "Taeng Tai" was refitted and held under the admiralty courts while salvage claims were contented. Under a new ownership Troup went to Puget Sound with her as first officer. On the way the crew mutinied, but the trouble was quelled and the men responsible for it put in irons to be delivered to the police at Vancouver, B. C.

On the basis of favor shown during this period of jockeying will come the final showdown.

In addition to the "bosses" and the major candidates involved, the men who will have a hand in shaping the final decision, and who will command enough strength to make their decision stick include:

Cordell Hull, president national chairman; Homer Cummings, former chairman; George White, who managed the Cox campaign; Senator Pat Harrison, keynote speaker; Senator Joe Robinson, Democratic Senate leader; E.
