THUS SAITH THE LORD, Call unto me, and I will answer thee, and show thee great and mighty things which thou knowest not. Behold, I will bring it health and cure, and I will cure them, and will reveal unto them the abundance of peace and truth.—Jeremiah 33:2, 3, 6.

Losing A Good Minister

La Grande people who are personally acquainted with Rev. A. R. Sitton regret very much that he has decided his work in the great vineyard has been closed here and that he can do more good in a new field. When Mr. Sitton makes up his mind there is no appeal, which was proven in this case, for a number of business and professional men pleaded with him to reconsider his decision and stay within our gates.

He has done good work here—the kind of work that a good, sincere Missouri Baptist can do when he sets about his Father's affairs. All through the war Rev. Sitton was ever present to do the things that needed doing. In church work his loyalty to the meek and lowly Nazarene never faltered, while in civic work, in patriotic undertakings he was ever faithful, basing his every act on an abiding faith in the good book and in the knowledge that God is good.

The Baptist church in this city has witnessed many joyful events during his administration. He has built it up and instilled a new life in the work, all having been done through a fine personality reflecting a soul that is clean and a heart that beats for his fellowman.

We are losing a good man in Rev. Sitton, and while his place will probably be filled in a satisfactory manner to his church, yet this community will for some time to come feel the vacancy caused by the removal of this fine character who has consecrated his life to his Maker and who lives the daily life of the man whose thoughts are focused upon the spiritual life and the good that he can do while on this earth.

That Death Ray

Fritz Kreisler, world-famous violinist, has appealed to the world from mid-ocean to buy and destroy the formula for the "death ray" for which its inventor claims terrifying powers of death and destruction. The Austrian violinist implores the inventor and the public to make impossible the employment in war of any such fiendish instrument as the "death ray."

Doubly significant is the appeal of Kreisler because of his Austrian nativity. Germany and her Austrian ally have been blamed for the World war. The conversion of Austria to peace would be a notable advance toward perpetual world peace and Kreisler has often spoken for and from his people.

Much mystery still surrounds the formula for the "death ray" and as yet the world has been offered no proof of the powers claimed for it. Whether this demonic ray will strike death to all that comes within its light is not as vitally important to humanity as its application. The discovery and its discoverer will be acclaimed boons to civilization if the ray is employed in easing the burden of mankind, but civilization should never forgive the inventor of the "death ray" if it is found that he has sold his formula to those bent on human destruction.

A ray with the supernatural powers claimed for the "death ray" would be of inestimable value in agriculture for the extermination of insects and for other air fumigation purposes. Scientific research should not be retarded by the threat of war. Humanity can prevent war just as it can prevent the production of a "death ray" if it so saw fit. Peace and war have ever been rival suitors for the hand of science. Let the people bind peace and science in eternal wedlock, for war once divorced from science will not endure.

They have found white Indians down in the Canal zone, says the dispatches. Can't be. It would be as impossible as the old story of the good Indian.

The Jap who committed suicide outside the American embassy in Tokio because of the exclusion law will not enter any further protest.

Apparently the only thing they can't get on a record is the voice of the people.

All's not fair in love. Some are brunettes.

The most charming woman is the one who can create the greatest amount of wonder with the fewest words.

This is the period of the year when small boys with unburned backs dare not invoke mother's wrath.

"How many did you take on that last hole?" asked the porter. "Five," responded the second. "You must get the hotel from association with your last," muttered the first one. "I noticed it was lying back there on the green."

So that's the reason they find the poor fish, eh?

Sheikat proposed last night! And this is what he meowed: "Junius, I love you with a love that is greater than a mouse's adoration for cheese. If you will say yes I'll never covet my neighbor's wife and I will always wipe the milk from my whiskers and I will buy you catnip by the ton. What say you?"

She said: "Don't paw over me, you cheap skink, until you buy me an engagement ring, Valentino!" And today Sheikat is running wild trying to figure out whether he should get a ring for her nose, a ring for her tail, an ear ring or a ringing bell.

We suggested that he buy her a two-inch white band for her neck with the following words inscribed thereupon: "Keep off the back porch."

The modern flapper's axiom is: "Where singleness is bliss, 'tis folly to be wive."

Income Tax Repeat Asked. PENDING. Ore. — Several initiated petitions have been filed with the county clerk during the last few days. One asks that the state income tax law be repealed. Another would repeal the law creating the public service commission, and a third would make compulsory the workmen's compensation law in practically all hazardous occupations.
