NO REPEATABLE CHANGE IN TIMBER MARKET

No repeatable change has occurred in the timber market during the last week, demand remaining depressed and prices unimproved says the American Lumberman, Chicago. The betterment that began a fortnight ago is still making itself felt, however. The point has apparently been reached where an upward reaction can be expected, and the industry is taking a more cheerful view of the immediate future. While the horizon has not exactly a roseate hue, the clouds upon it have at least a tinge of silver in their dining.

While retail dealers admit that their stocks have become reduced to a minimum and that restocking would be desirable from more than one point of view, they are still extremely cautious in all their buying transactions, ordering only timber they must have to fill contracts. The transportation situation favors them in this policy, as they find it possible to sell a bill of material, order the timber and receive shipment of it in ample time to deliver it when needed. The stock situation at the mills is only fair, however, and should there be a moderate increase in demand it would soon become impossible to give all orders the present prompt attention, in which case retailers would find it imperative to buy ahead for longer periods. In industrial demand in spots, factory buyers also making hand-to-mouth buying their policy, especially at this time when the general business outlook is rather obscured.

Lumber prices may be said to be stabilized. While concessions have been granted in cases where a manufacturer has found it necessary to meet his immediate needs or because of a surplus of certain items on hand, the general disposition is to hold more firmly to lists in the belief that the fundamental situation does not justify such sacrificing as further price declines would entail.

A decided curtailment of production has been effected in the Pacific northwest, where night runs are being abandoned, some mills closing down and logging camps restricting their output.

Many Squirrels Poisoned

Squirrel poisoning in the Klamath country is succeeding big this year, reports C. A. Henderson, county agent. Some 5000 pounds of oats poisoned by the government formula were prepared for distribution. A short time after the 40 acre fair ground tract was treated with some of this bait 137 dead squirrels were picked up in a 500 foot ditch. Property owners failing to clean out the rodents on their holdings will have that attended to for them by a county rodent inspector appointed for that purpose.

them. Quite a number of German colonies are springing up, especially in north Argentina, and these create a natural trade with their homeland. Also they give plenty of scope for expansion to the German steamship lines, who also have been lately specializing in what may be termed second class or one class passenger steamers. German vessels today bring the greater proportion of north European passengers to Argentina.

Wagner Charges Anti-German Propaganda Against Heyreuth

MANILA, Luzon (AP) — Senator Wagner, who has just returned from a tour of America to raise money for the perpetuation of the Wagner festivals at Heyreuth, has delivered a lecture in which he expressed satisfaction with his American trip. He said the amount of money he obtained for the festival will make the revival of the summer opera season possible, but will not suffice for long.

Wagner made the statement that the French propaganda in the United States against Germany and Germans hindered his work. But there was also anti-Heyreuth propaganda, which charged that he was only collecting money for his own purse. But above all the Washington flag incident was the worst blow he had to face in his American tour.

Wagner expressed much satisfaction with the artistic success of his American visit, and was enthusiastic about the hospitable treatment accorded to him and his wife by Americans.

DISCRIMINATION IN PHILIPPINES LAID TO JAPAN

MANILA (AP) — Race prejudice arising from competition between Japanese and Filipino laborers, artisans and chauffeurs in the province of Davao may result in serious trouble, according to a report made by H. Cruz, director of the bureau of labor, to the secretary of commerce and communications.

The trait of "protectionism" practiced by Japanese nationals, Director Cruz declared, is largely responsible for the threatened trouble, as in virtually every industrial activity in Davao, of which a great portion is in the hands of the Japanese, the Japanese laborers are given preference over Filipinos.

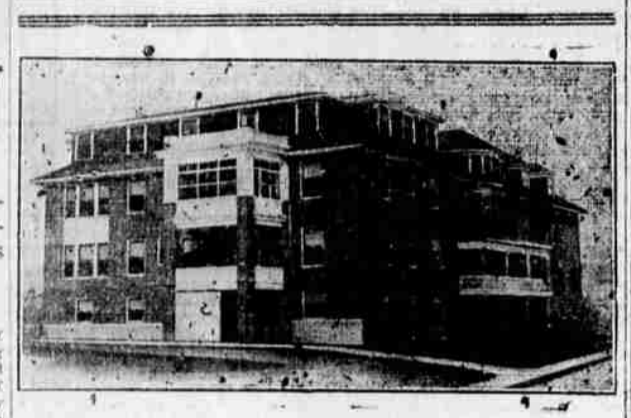

Nearly one-half of the Japanese in the Philippine Islands live in the province of Davao.

Among other complaints received was one from the chauffeurs' union of the city of Davao which alleged that Japanese residents refuse to use automobiles driven by Filipinos.

With the complaint of the chauffeurs came a recommendation that the law be changed limiting the issuance of licenses to Filipino and Americans only.

Director Cruz has laid the complaints before Governor General Wood with his own comment regarding the racial feeling existing in Davao.

Rotary Convention Draws Men From Ends of World

TORONTO, (AP) — When the 16,000 Rotarians assemble here for their fifteenth annual convention, June 16 to 20, there will be men present from Europe, Asia, Africa, Australia, South and Central America, Cuba, the Philippines, and all parts of Canada and the United States.

Rotary has grown from one club in one city to approximately 1500 clubs in 27 countries with an approximate membership of 100,000 in the brief space of 19 years. One hundred and fifty British clubs will be represented at the convention.

Guy Gundaker of Philadelphia, international president of Rotary, who will preside at all sessions of the convention, has just completed an official visit to the Rotary clubs of ten countries of Europe. All Canada is enlisted in the program of entertainment. While the United States has the largest number of Rotarians, the British empire stands second on the list with more than 25,000 Rotarians organized in about 250 Rotary clubs in England, Scotland, Wales, Ireland, Canada, Australia, New Zealand, Tasmania, South Africa, India and Bermuda.
