Social news must be in the hands of the society editor by 12:30 o'clock. Due to the fact that the social page is made up before noon, it is practically impossible to insert stories after that hour. Hereafter, items, no matter how important they are, that are delayed beyond that hour, will not be printed until the following day—News-Editor's Note.

Meeting in the home of Mrs. J. C. Gilling yesterday afternoon, the Thursday Auction club devoted the regular hour to cards with Mrs. Fred Kibbler winning high honors. A two-course luncheon was served to the ladies.

The rooms presented a very attractive night decorated in beautiful spring flowers.

The district meeting of the Episcopalian ladies at Union today and tomorrow, is now underway. This evening the La Grande team will visit the neighboring city and assist in the initiation.

Colonel and Mrs. E. S. Ives have returned tonight for Portland where they will be gone for a week or ten days. Mr. Ives recently returned from the east where he attended the Republican National convention.

Miss Margaret Anson, Mrs. Turner Oliver and George Macdonald recently spent an unusually enjoyable ten days at various places in the Willamette valley.

Mrs. Oliver visited in Eugene with the Perry Oliver family. They are residing on their farm nine miles from the city and like farm life very much. The Perry Olivers are well known here and have many friends in this vicinity who will be glad to hear that they are all in good health.

While in Portland Miss Anson was the guest of the Dan J. Maloney family. Mr. and Mrs. Maloney had just returned from a trip to Europe.

Mr. Macdonald stopped in Corvallis to be present at the commencement exercises and to learn swap stories with old college friends.

This graceful frock of flared crepe is an excellent model for the short woman since there is nothing to break the long lines that are accentuated by the long tassels. The neckline is very smart and is edged as the sleeves are with a band of plain crepe. It is shirred slightly at the hips to simulate a waistline.

Huskies Elect Captain.

DOUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y. (AP)—Lying ill in Vassar hospital with typhoid fever, Max Luft, 25, of Brentwood, Wash., Wednesday was elected captain of the Washington varsity crew for 1923. In spite of the fact that Luft was unable to row in his position at No. 4 in Tuesday's regatta, his fellow oarsmen bestowed the honor upon him for his conscientious and untiring work in the boat for two seasons. The Washington men left the city Wednesday afternoon for New York where the squad will break up.

TIMBER DEAL END IS NEAR

THE PARK (Special)—Pat Powers, manager of the Medical Springs, made a call at the "Big Log Cabin" while angling for trout Sunday. He reports a favorable outlook for the completion of the final closing of the large timber deal that has been in progress for the last year. It is so arranged that in the opinion of Mr. Powers, the deal must be completed one way or the other this year. Mr. Powers' opinion in this respect is highly probable and should be appreciated by those interested. He has conducted large contracts in the past, having recently been made manager of a $400,000 building which was built last winter in the east. He has a large amount of intimate friends among those in authority to speak. He is a close friend to Mr. Middleton, one of the main men of the Blue Mountain Lumber company. Therefore it puts Mr. Powers in a position to know much about the proceedings of this deal.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Wilson of La Grande made a jolly visit with the "folks at the Forks." Besides a spread of good things to eat by mixing their city lunch with the mountain home made foods, they also enjoyed a chase after salmon in the creek. They were accompanied by Mr. Wilson's brother, Charles Wilson, and Miss Franka E. Hunter, all of La Grande. Tom Wilson is blacksmith at the Bowman & Hicks Lumber company. Charles Wilson is employed by the Nate Zweifel Plumbing company. They had a most delightful trip by auto in the early morning of Sunday last, returning home in the evening.

J. A. Shiro, a farmer near La Grande, and C. L. Berry, of the Pyramid Land company, made a short stop at the "Big Log Cabin" on their return from an angling trip in the South Fork. After a pleasant chat they returned home to La Grande Sunday evening.

Lester Miller of Big Creek, and Marvin Losely, accompanied Pat Powers on his trip up Catherine Creek Sunday. They report having caught two salmon below the Forks. Mr. Miller had dinner with the folks at the cabin.

John Allen crossed his band of sheep above the Forks Sunday forenoon. When Deberty, the camp outfit, was along with the sheep helped and the sheep crossed the sheep bridge in fine shape. Only a very few took to the water getting wet. The pasture on the South Fork is much better than on the north side. Mr. Allen has a fine appearing band of clean and fat sheep. Especially the lambs are showing fine. Mr. Allen is about the oldest and best sheep man in the country. He owns a bunch of sheep which are leased, while he manages this band for Mr. S. E. Miller of Union. Mr. Deberty has been absent for two years. His friends here are delighted to see him again at his old stand as camp tender. He reports from the John Day country where he has been located for some time, that the country is very dry and a fall crop of crops is a sure thing in that part of the country. He states that Union country is good enough for him.

John R. Hunter, of the "Big Log Cabin" was pleasantly surprised in meeting his old friend Tom Wilson. Mr. Wilson was blacksmith for the O. W. R. & N. shops at Hunting in 1917, while Mr. Hunter was the carpenter. Sunday they enjoyed a bright prospects for a large attendance and a splendid session. Teachers are arriving on every train and coming from all parts of the state and some from other states. President Landers and a splendid corps of teachers are busy at work arranging for the summer school. It is estimated that 1000 or more teachers will be in attendance. The reception committee is busy sending newcomers to boarding and rooming houses.
