Big Question Answered in "When A Man's a Man."

This question, "When is a man a man?" is answered in one of the most thrilling photo productions of the year. The presentation is Harold Bell Wright's famous story of the cattle lands of Arizona, "When a Man's a Man," and the Star Theater has the pleasure of offering this super-dramatic film classic to its patrons.

"When a Man's a Man" is one of the best known books that have been written by Harold Bell Wright. It was selected as the first of the entire Wright series to be given the silver award. Its credits cannot be classed by the thousands, but by the millions.

The production boasts a cast of stellar players, headed by John Baxter, Marguerite de La Motte, Robert Frazer, June Marlowe, Forrest Robinson, George Backus, Fred Blanton, Charles Mailes, Edward Henne, and many others of equal importance.

Last Showing at Sherrys Tonight of "Blow Your Own Horn."

There are several reasons why you should not miss "Blow Your Own Horn," which opened at the Sherry Theater yesterday.

The entertainment value is due to the snappy lines and humorous action of which it is check.

Glenn Hunter Scores In "West of the Water Tower."

Glenn Hunter, the famous young stage star, made his debut as a star in Paramount pictures under the most favorable auspices in "West of the Water Tower" at the Arena Theater. Both the star and picture caught on nicely, the result being screen entertainment which will be talked about for many a day.

The story of "West of the Water Tower" was written by Homer Croy. The novel appeared early this year and scored a literary sensation. It is a story which deals with small town folk in a masterly manner. Mr. Hunter, as Guy Plummer, son of a richly orthodox minister portrayed by Ernest Torrence, meets and loves Bee Chew, played by May McAvoy, daughter of a wealthy atheist, the latter role being in the capable hands of George Fawcett. The young couple are secretly wed and this incident provokes a near tragedy which has its influence on many lives. But happiness comes at last after a series of breath-taking sequences, all of which will thrill even the most blasé picture fan.

The picture is one that will live long in the memory of all who see it. Glenn Hunter, as the other part in the story, is admirable as are also all in the cast. Paramount is to be congratulated upon the beauty and charm of this delightful photoplay.

Girl Problem Dealt With in "Foolish Mothers."

"Foolish Mothers," the seven-reel feature written by Myrtle A. Hill, which opens at the Star next Monday deals with the girl problem in a frank and convincing manner. The girl of an adventurous nature who likes to dare the devil and who replies to kindly advice, "Don't worry about me; I am perfectly able to take care of myself," and who is not conscious of the many pitfalls that are laid for her, is typified in the child of Eve who is made to suffer for the sins of the first woman.

The cast couldn't be improved upon. Doreya Perdue, the beautiful brunette who created a sensation in "Daytime Wives," plays the leading feminine part. Opposite her is Warren Baxter, the handsome dark-haired actor who originated the role of the "vermilion king" in "Lombard, Ltd."

Portland Woman Fined. Auto Upset Hurts Two.

SALEM, Ore.—Judge Kuntz of the justice court here declined to make public the amount of fines levied upon Mrs. R. Holtzman and Mrs. Julia Egens of Portland who entered pleas of guilty to possession of intoxicating liquor. The women were taken by local police upon the tip that they were bringing a load of liquor from Portland. Only two pints were found in the automobile. D. E. Duffy, driver, was not held after he convinced the police that he knew nothing about the liquor.

EUGENE, Ore.—Casper Wilcox, salesman for an oil company in Portland, was badly hurt when his car skidded off the pavement of the Pacific highway two miles south of Cottage Grove, pinning him and his wife beneath it as it turned over.

In attempting to stop his car as another car in front of him stopped, Wilcox applied the brakes too suddenly, causing the skid. Passing motorists lifted the wrecked car off of Wilcox and his wife. The latter was not badly hurt. They were brought to a local hospital.
