King Sells Farm to Please Villagers

PLOVDIV, Bulgaria (AP)—A quarrel between the royal house of Bulgaria and the villagers of Metchuk, near this city, has been settled after a quarter of a century, and King Boris has been persuaded to sell the farm to the villagers. The king's father, acquired it by purchase and used it first as a game preserve and later as a model farm. It is about a square mile in area.

The villagers never have reconciled themselves to ownership of the island by the king. When Boris ascended the throne after the abdication of Ferdinand at the end of the world war, they approached him with a proposal that he sell it to their commune.

The last phase of the negotiations was reached, the other day when the king fixed the price on a purely nominal basis, and the deed was transferred to the mayor and village council.

It is understood that the villagers will maintain the island as a model farm.
