Social news must be in the hands of the society editor by 5:30 o'clock. Due to the fact that the social page is made up before noon, it is practically impossible to insert stories after that hour. Hereafter, items, no matter how important they are, that are delayed beyond that hour, will not be printed until the following day—News Editor's Note.

Members of the Thursday Athletic Bridge club spent a delightful afternoon Thursday, when they met for the last time this summer at the home of Mrs. P. S. Richardson. The club was the feature of the afternoon with Mrs. C. P. Newlin winning high honors.

The home was artistically decorated with beautiful sweet peas and before adjournment a delicious luncheon was served by the charming hostess.

The club will resume its meetings again in the fall.

The W. W. G. of the Baptist church will hold their regular monthly meeting Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the church. Following the regular business meeting a social time will be spent, with the losing side in a membership contest which closed yesterday, acting as hostesses.

The American Legion Auxiliary will hold a business meeting at the home of Mrs. Harley Richardson Wednesday evening, July 9, at 8:00 o'clock.

Cove. (Special) — A delightful family party was held at the home of Oscar Lund July Fourth, honoring their son, Herman, who has been in Arizona for the past ten months. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Towle, Mr. and Mrs. J. Towle, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. William Johnson and son and Mrs. Nelson and daughter.

One of the largest social functions which the Grande Ronde valley has known in several months will be held at the Hot Lake Sanatorium Thursday evening of this week. Dr. W. T. Phyl, executive chairman of "Friends of Mankind," will then be host to all who worked in any capacity on this Union pageant and to their friends.

The evening will be devoted to a reception with a short program and to dancing. Loney's orchestra will furnish the music while the program will include short talks by Frank McKennon, of this city, and Prof. Roy Conklin, of Union, a selection by the La Grande quartet and a feature dance.

Dr. Phyl has sent out no formal invitations to the Thursday affair, for he fears that some one who contributed to the success of the pageant might be overlooked. It is expected, however, that more than 400 will respond to his well known hospitality.

feathers decorate almost everything now. They are seen on parasols, lace, frocks, wristbags, and even in the form of rosettes on shoes.

Philippine Lingerie.
New York.—Philippine lingerie is much favored this season. Night gowns, chemises and step-ins of fine linen or batiste, decorated with characteristic Philippine embroidery, depend for any colorful effect on knots of gray ribbon with fluttering ends.

Shoes Spotted or Striped.
New York.—You may have your shoes spotted like the zebra or spotted like the leopard at present. Leopard skin shoes look well with a top coat that has leopard kitten fur on it.

For Summer Travel.
New York.—For summer travel the designers have created a number of tailored negligees or dressing gowns in suitably dark colors. One of these is black, shading into midnight blue. Of messaline, it is light in weight and sheds the dust admirably.

Trace of Haunted Town Discovered in Germany

COBLENZ, (AP) — Traces of what was known 400 years ago as the haunted village of Weinfeld have been unearthed recently in the Weinfelder Moor of the Eifel district north of the Moselle river, which was a part of the territory occupied by American troops immediately after the armistice.

Walls of what had once been a stone house were revealed by a peasant's plow in the center of a great field, and scientific investigators have been flocking to the Weinfelder district to take a peep at the find with the view of continuing research work to uncover the forgotten village.

According to history, Weinfeld in 1512 was a town of some 1400 inhabitants. There was an epidemic of smallpox which removed all excepting a few of the population. Afterward the town was visited by a fire which destroyed everything excepting the stones which formed the walls of the houses. Later there were wars and armies swept through these parts and in time the site of the village was covered with earth and shrubbery and trees.

Some years ago the forest was cut down and peasants began tilling the fields over the city of the old village, which is supposed to have had the curse of an evil spirit cast upon it because of outrages committed upon neighbors by some of the robber villagers who made their headquarters in Weinfeld.

Monocles and Horn Glasses No Longer the German Vogue

BERLIN, (AP) — Fashion's decree for German men this summer condemns the smooth shaven face so much in vogue since the war, when then upturned Kaiser mustaches went out. Now the Berliner of mode must wear the light military toothbrush bunch of hair on his upper lip, and also abandon the monocle. With the single eye glasses the horn rimmed spectacle is banned, and gentlemen are supposed to wear the conventional and unobtrusive gold or rimless glasses.

They also are warned to wear four-in-hand ties fully exposed and not to tuck them in between the second and third shirt buttons as of old. The colored silk handkerchief is tailored and white linen is required. But with these conforming to the conservative fashions of the west, comes a vogue among ultra set for high heeled shoes of the old Cuban style.

German Snakes Slept While Thieves Stole Bronze Brother

HAMBURG, (AP) — The largest bronze snake in Germany, which occupied a prominent place in Carl Hagenbeck's animal farm near Hamburg, was stolen recently by thieves who, the police said, would probably sell the statue for old metal. The bronze snake stood on a pedestal in the center of the snake yard, which is a kind of jungle, so that the inhabitants might be reminded of their native haunts and feel perfectly at home.

The management believed that the snakes were better than watch dogs to guard the valuable piece of statuary, but the thieves apparently had no fear of the thousands of reptiles within the enclosure, and escaped with their loot without anything more than being hissed at.

Oregon Girl Injured.
PENDLETON, Ore.—Miss Anita Studnick, an Oregon girl well known in Pendleton by reason of several appearances here in the Pendleton Round-up, was injured in the International Rodeo in London, recently, according to information received here by friends. She was hurt when the horse she was about to ride kicked her.

Among the Pendleton Round-up performers who finished in the money in the week-day part of the show were the following: Roy Kivett, first in relay riding; Vera McGinniss, first in girl's relay riding; Riley Burgess, Ed McCarty and Lloyd Saunders, winners respectively of first, second and third in steer roping; and Buck Lucas, first, and Phil Yoder, third in the wild horse race.

The turban and the bag here photographed are of figured silk in brilliant shades of red, green and black, and they make a startling outfit when coupled with the white chape de chine frock as cordons played in the fine pleats so popular this season. This is in line with the policy fashion has lately decreed that the accessories are much more important than the frock.

hibition purposes for the first time. The set was made by the Imperial jeweler, M. G. Biennais, after designs by Percier, who was a leading Parisian designer and architect of the period 1800-1805. Its owner says, it bears the coat of arms of the Borghese family.

Institute officials declare the Roman influence is strongly marked in the service, as under the first empire Napoleon adhered to the classic style. Although the classic style in France was originally revived by Louis XVII through the discoveries made in Pompeii, under Napoleon's rule the style was carried to the extremes and designs of ornate embellishments appeared, which was in keeping with the aspirations of the first empire.

Biblical Scenes Reproduced in British Empire Exhibition

LONDON (AP) — The Temple of Solomon, the Tabernacle and many of the other shrines of the Holy Land familiar to readers of the Old Testament are reproduced in miniature in the Palestine exhibit at the British Empire Exhibition. One is shown the holy of holies which the high priest alone could enter, and then but once a year for an annual sacrifice. The palace where Solomon kept his queen and the apartments that sheltered his sumptuous assortment of wives and concubines are faithfully reproduced.
